27 Die In Fiery Crash Of British Airliner

Plane Strikes Beacon Pylon While Landing

Belfast Airport Scene Of Tragedy

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Jan. 5 (AP)—A twin-engined British airliner crashed and burst into flames while landing near here tonight, killing at least 27 of the 35 persons aboard and injuring seven.

Only one of those aboard — Steward Jack Young, 26, of Belfast —escaped apparently unhurt. He was hurled from the tail of the plane as it broke up. All other crew members were killed.

Most of the passengers were British. One of those killed was a small baby.

The airliner, a 36-seater Viking on a routine flight from London, hit a beacon pylon as it came in to land at nearby Nutts Corner, Belfast's airport. The plane caromed off the pylon and bounced against the airport's radio control building before smacking into a runway close to where officials and relatives of the passengers were waiting to welcome the arrivals.

Girl Runs From Wreckage

Flames enshrouded the wreckage as one girl passenger ran screaming from the airliner, bleeding profusely and with her clothes ablaze. She was taken to a hospital.

The British-European Airways, owner of the wrecked plane, withheld identifications of the victims until next of kin had been informed.

Young, undergoing treatment for shock at a hospital, said "everything was normal" as the plane approached for a landing.

"The passengers had fastened their safety belts when suddenly there was a terrific crash like a bomb in a blitz," Young said. "The next thing I knew I was lying in a muddy ditch."

Long Safety Record Broken

BEA, one of Britain's two nationalized airlines gave the casualties as 27 dead and seven injured. However, unofficial sources put the toll at 29 dead and five injured.

The other government-owned line is the British Overseas Airways Corp.

The crash occurred only about 100 yards from the end of the runway.

One of the engines hurtled 40 yards through the air, and a propellor was found in an adjoining field.

The wreck broke BEA's and BOAC's long safety record. Up to tonight they had gone well over a year without a death or injury.

Sabres Bag First Red MIG Of 1953

SEOUL, Tuesday, Jan. 6 (AP)—The first Communist MIG jet of 1953 was shot down in flames over Northwest Korea Monday by U. S. Sabres in an air battle fought almost seven miles high, the Fifth Air Force reported.

On the frozen ground, infantrymen on patrol encountered Chinese wearing new black and white spotted winter uniforms—apparently designed to camouflage them in night forays over the snowy front.

The bitter cold cut ground contacts to scattered clashes. No major action developed along the front, the Eighth Army communique reported. Temperatures dropped as low as 11 degrees above zero.

AP Correspondent Forrest Edwards on the Central Front said Chinese soldiers wearing the new cotton padded camouflage uniforms appeared in no man's land during the night.

Congress Gets Truman Message Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The White House said today that President Truman will send his state of the union message to Congress around noon (EST) Wednesday.

The message, one of the longest of its kind ever drafted by a president, may run anywhere from 12,000 to 15,000 words. It is expected to sum up Truman's version of Democratic achievements during his years in office and set forth party policy.

Today's Chuckle

Stop worrying. Pretty soon today will seem like a long time ago.

Judge Stays A-Spies' Execution To Permit Appeal To President

Pickets March At White House

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP) — The sentencing judge all but reprieved the Rosenberg atom spy team today until the White House decides whether they must die for treason.

Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman, keeping an earlier promise, said the execution of Julius Rosenberg and his wife, Ethel, will be stayed automatically if they apply for presidential clemency by Saturday — four days before their scheduled Jan. 14 electrocution in Sing Sing Prison.

His stay would hold until five days after President Truman or President-elect Eisenhower makes a decision. Eisenhower takes office Jan. 20 and Truman may prefer to leave the decision to him.

White House Picketed

The White House seems the only recourse now for the husband-wife traitor team. Further court appeals are in the works but have little chance of success.

Meanwhile, to the constant drumbeat of Communist propaganda, pickets by the hundreds marched in 24-hour vigil across from the White House in Washington. They demanded mercy for the Rosenbergs.

Fanned by the Communists, world protests mounted over the pending execution, first of its kind in American history.

The Rosenbergs were convicted March 29, 1951, of conspiring to turn America's A-bomb secrets over to Soviet Russia. Only last week, in denying them his personal clemency, Judge Kaufman called their crime worse than murder.

Maintain Innocence

The Rosenbergs, in Sing Sing's death house since the spring of 1951, have steadfastly maintained their innocence as the sands of their lives drained away.

A confession and their naming of names in the wartime treason plot would almost certainly win them a prison sentence instead of death.

A group headed by Al Kaplan, Los Angeles, submitted a plea for clemency to the State Department in Washington late today. It was based on the contention that the execution of the Rosenbergs would harm American foreign policy and that the sentence was unduly severe.

Kaplan, a representative of Local 26, International Longshoreman's Union, said the Rosenbergs were "accused of aiding an ally." He said their execution would raise anti-American sentiment abroad like that which followed the Sacco-Vanzetti case in the twenties.

Truman Defends His Immigration Act Study Group

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—President Truman hit back today at critics of a special presidential commission set up to study the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act.

Truman said attacks on the commission, which recommended opening America's gates to 250,000 aliens annually, were unwarranted and "politically motivated."

Sen. McCarran (D-Nev), co-author of the controversial legislation, previously had denounced opponents of the act as including "out-and-out Reds, "Pinks" and "demagogues who would auction the interests of America for alleged minority block votes."

Act Limits Immigrants

As it stands on the statute books the act would set a limit of 154,657 on the number of immigrants permitted to enter this country each year.

Truman staunchly defended the commission in a statement issued when the group called at the White House and formally presented its report, made public last Thursday.

The report recommended top-to bottom devision of the act. It described the legislation, passed over Truman's veto at the last session of Congress, as "an arrogant, brazen instrument of discrimination based on race, creed, color and national origin."

In his statement today, Truman declared:

Attacks "Unwarranted"

"It is to be regretted that persons who disagree with the findings of the commission have resorted to personal vituperation and slander of its members and its executive director.

"Such politically motiviated attacks have, unfortunately, become all too common in controversies over isues of great public importance. In this case, these attacks are particularly unwarranted and reprehensible.

"This is a commission of distinguished citizens, noted for their experience with the subject under inquiry—as churchmen, laymen or public officials. They have freely given months of devoted, patriotic and able service in the interests of finding solutions for some of the most important questions that affect our country."

Cold Front Bears Down On Midwest

[By The Associated Press]

Winter's most extensive cold snap bore down on the Midwest from Canada Monday and zero temperatures were in prospect as far south as Chicago.

Another cold front passed over most of Florida and many dwellers in Miami suburbs had to scrape frost and ice off their windshields before driving to work.

The surge of cold from Canada plunged the mercury to 26 degrees below zero at Big Falls, Minn. International Falls, Minn., had a low of -21 and Duluth -13.

A high pressure area over Canada sent cold flowing into the United States as far south as Kentucky, Tennessee and Oklahoma.

Mother Of Judy Garland Found Dead In Parking Lot

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Jan. 5 (AP) — Judy Garland's mother, Mrs. Ethel Milne Gilmore, who helped her daughter along the path to film fame, but was more recently reported estranged from her, died today. She succumbed in the parking lot of an aircraft factory where she worked.

Mrs. Gilmore, 56, was found on her hands and knees between two cars on the Douglas Aircraft Company lot nearly four hours after she was due to report for work. The coroner's office said she apparently died of natural causes.

She had a $60-a-week clerk's job and was assigned to copy-reading purchase orders. She had worked at the factory a year.

In recent years Mrs. Gilmore was reported estranged from her famous daughter. She was not present, for example, when Judy married her business manager and third husband, Sid Luft, last June on a ranch near Hollister, Calif.

But Atty, Harry Rabwin, who says he has known the family since their days in Grand Rapids, Minn., doesn't wholly agree.

"From the mother's standpoint there was no estrangement," he said after learning of her death.

GOP Leaders Seek Balanced Budget, TaxCut

Tally Of Electoral Votes Set Today

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Republican leaders in the House, where appropriations and tax bills start, set their sights tonight on simultaneously balancing the budget and trimming taxes.

"I think we can do it," said House Majority Leader Halleck (R-Ind). "Not right away, of course, but later on as we see what we can do with appropriations."

Some senators, though, aren't so sure about that.

Actually, the new Republican Congress can't do much of anything right away about drafting new laws or revamping old ones. Committees through which legislation flows aren't set up for business yet and won't be for a week or so.

Electoral Vote Tally Set

But there will be other things to occupy the lawmakers: The counting of electoral ballots from the November election, a Senate scrap over the filibuster, three messages from outgoing President Truman.

First major project is a combined meeting of Senate and House in the House chamber tomorrow afternoon to tally electoral votes and officially pronounce Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the winner of the presidential election. This is one ballot whose outcome can be predicted with some confidence —442 for Eisenhower, 89 for Democratic nominee Adlai E. Stevenson.

By the same margin, it will be former Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California over Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama for the vice presidency.

Filibuster Fight To Resume

After that, it's back to the other end of the Capitol for the senators to fight it out over the filibuster issue. The decision is expected to come sometime Wednesday, and there isn't much doubt about what will happen.

After a few hours' debate, the Senate is expected to stick by its old rules. These require votes of two-thirds of the senators, 64 out of 96, to throttle a filibuster.

The filibuster device of unceasing debate has been the weapon Southern Democrats have used through the years to block such civil rights measures as fair employment practices, anti-lynching and anti-poll tax bills.

These Southerners, and Republicans who don't want to change the rules, have the votes to torpedo efforts of a bipartisan band of 19 senators to put into effect a rule giving a bare majority of 49 members authority to halt a filibuster.

"Mystery Man" Indicted Again

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald, whose name has popped up frequently in various congressional inquiries, was reindicted today on 31 charges of contempt of Congress.

The new indictment accuses Washington's "mystery man" of refusing to answer almost all questions put to him by House tax scandal investigators last year and also refusing to produce documents the congressmen demanded.

The grand jury adds nine new charges to a previous indictment. And it reinstates three counts dismissed by the U. S. District Court here because the other indictment failed to specify that records called for were pertinent to the inquiry.

Conviction on contempt charges could make Grunewald liable to a year's imprisonment and a $1,000 fine on each count.

His silence was so tenacious before the congressional group that Chairman King (D-Calif) said "He even refused at one session to acknowledge the fact that members were speaking to him."

"He sat in mute contempt of our processes," King said, adding that Grunewald made no claim of privilege against self-incrimination.

King's ways and means subcommittee was attempting to ask Grunewald about his relations with high officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Cost Of Campaign

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Republican National Committee reported to the House today that it spent $2,937,549 last year. The Democratic National Committee reported expenditures of $1,602,651.

Three Old Cronies Get Together

M'Keldin Reports Maryland Budget Hike Unavoidable

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said tonight government spending will increase again in Maryland this year but he hasn't given up hope of some day reducing taxes.

He claimed credit for cuts made two years ago in the sales tax and declared a foreseeable rise in the state real estate levy is due solely to an enlarged state debt.

"And the debt depends on the necessity for construction and expansion of the state plant," he said.

Appears On TV Show

Appearing on a question-and-answer television show just two nights before the opening of a General Assembly session, McKeldin said "there is no big problem" confronting the Legislature.

"The Legislature and the people have been kept informed of my program and proposals," he added in a prepared text. "I have no surprises to offer. If any big problem develops, it will be created by the Legislature itself."

He asserted Maryland is "in good condition — financially and otherwise."

Budget Will Increase

The governor said "of course" the state budget, which now stands at $176,500,000, has gone up each year—"and it shall increase again in the next fiscal year.

"Whose budget has not? All costs continue to rise and government is affected just as an individual or a private corporation is."

McKeldin has not yet disclosed how much he will recommend in appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Indications are they could mount as high as 190 millions, including money over which the Legislature has yielded control.

The governor explained tonight much of the budget increase will be automatic, as for public schools.

Rubenstein To Remain Free Pending Hearing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals ruled today that Serge Rubinstein may remain at liberty until a lower court passes on the government's proceedings to deport him.

Rubinstein, a New York financier who was born in Russia 45 years ago, has been fighting deportation off and on for the last 10 years.

The latest move to get him out of the country is based on a 1947 conviction for draft dodging. The government claims the conviction proved that Rubinstein is guilty of moral turpitude, one of the principal grounds for deportation.

Rubinstein's lawyers disagree. They assert that Rubinstein paid his debt to society by serving a prison term, and that no moral turpitude is involved.

Olsen Of Comedy Team Seriously Hurt In Car Crash

GREENVILLE, Ill., Jan. 5 (AP) — John S. Olsen, 60, member of the well known comedy team of Olsen and Johnson, was injured seriously late today in an auto-truck crash a mile southeast of Greenville.

Olsen, of Malverne, N. Y., was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, Highland, Ill., where officials said the full extent of his injuries had not been determined.

Also injured was Miss Patricia Basso, 25, of New York City, and their chauffeur.

Illinois state police said a milk transport truck had turned into U. S. Highway 40 from State Route 127 and was struck by the car in which Olsen and Miss Basso were riding.

Shaver Admits Accepting Fees

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP) — Charles E. Shaver, former general counsel of the Senate Small Business Committee, admitted in court today that he accepted three payments of $500 each from firms seeking Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans.

Leonard H. Cooper, a Miami, Fla., businessman, pleaded guilty also to a charge of inducing Shaver to accept the money and attempt to influence the RFC to make the loans.

The court dismissed charges against Jerome H. Weinkle of Miami and Raymond W. Loptka of Chicago in connection with the case.

After Shaver and Cooper entered their guilty pleas, U. S. District Judge Charles S. McLaughlin permitted them to remain free on bond until their sentencing. No date was set for that.

The maximum penalty facing both men, according to Asst. U. S. Atty. Frederick Smithson, is a fine of $10,000, two years in prison, or both on each of the three counts. The statutes forbid any government employe to accept fees for services related to their official duties.

Rayburn Sees Minority Role Reuniting Demos

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sam Rayburn of Texas, dean of all Democrats in Congress, believes his party will be more united, now that it is a minority, than during the almost 20 years it ruled the government.

Rayburn, starting his 21st consecutive term in Congress, is minority leader of the new House. He yielded the speakership to Republican Joseph W. Martin, Jr. of Massachusetts last Saturday after having held that office longer than any other man.

End To Coalition Seen

Rayburn said in an interview he believes the present Congress will see the end of the coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans that dominated Capitol Hill even when the Democrats nominally were the majority party.

"I think we are going to be more united than ever before," he said.

His reason for believing that, he said, is that Southern Democrats won't have to be fighting Democratic administration proposals that waved a red flag in the face of the "rebels."

Civil Rights Issue

One of the major causes of the split in Democratic ranks in recent years, Rayburn said, was the championship of civil rights programs by President Harry S. Truman and the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

That cause was removed with the election of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as president. Rayburn expects Eisenhower to propose some sort of civil rights program.

"Some Democrats who hated Presidents Roosevelt and Truman because of their civil rights proposals will now start hating President Eisenhower for the same reason," Rayburn said.

Investigation Of Alleged Red Activity At Colleges Opened

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (INS) — Chairman Velde of the House Un-American Activities Committee revealed today that investigations are underway at 25 colleges and universities, including some of the foremost educational institutions in the nation.

The Illinois Republican said his committee is seeking to determine whether subversive influences exist among faculty members and students.

Velde said committee investigators are visiting campuses throughout the nation in a probe which was aparently initiated during the last congress.

The congressman revealed that among the institutions being investigated are Harvard University, Columbia University, the University of Chicago, University of Michigan, and Smith and Wellesley Colleges.

Velde said other institutions under investigation are Northwestern University, University of Wisconsin, University of Minnesota, Hunter College, College of the City of New York, Brooklyn College, New York University, Queens College, Howard University, Roosevelt College, University of California at Berkeley, Johns Hopkins University, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

No Statement Issued After Get-Together

Old Friends Meet At Baruch's Home

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP) — Old friends Dwight D. Eisenhower and Winston Churchill got together for dinner tonight after an earlier conference at which they had an opportunity to discuss world affairs.

There wasn't the slightest hint afterward of what they said to each other at the conference, and no word was expected from either participant.

The U. S. President-elect and the prime minister of Great Britain were guests at the apartment of Elder Statesman Bernard Baruch, just off Fifth Avenue on East 66th Street.

No Formal Agenda Arranged

Eisenhower and Churchill, who arrived from England this morning aboard the liner Queen Mary with an assertion that Allied action in Korea has given the world a hope for peace, met twice at Baruch's residence.

The first session lasted about an hour and 40 minutes.

Then Eisenhower continued his interrupted journey fro mhis Commodore Hotel headquarters to his residence at Columbia University, changed into a dinner jacket, and returned to Baruch's home for dinner with the prime minister and a few close friends.

Eisenhower's headquarters said no formal agenda had been arranged, but possible subjects for discussion with Churchill included Eisenhower's recent trip to Korea, Soviet Premier Josef Stalin's recent statement indicating willingness to meet with the President-elect, and Britain's economic difficulties.

On Eisenhower's arrival for dinner at Baruch's residence, an anti-British organization known as the Irish-American Minute Men was picketing the house.

Secrecy Surrounds Talks

They took comfortable seats in front of the living room fireplace for what had been billed in advance as mere informal talks with no particular subject specified.

However, as Churchill arrived early today on the liner Queen Mary, he spoke on numerous world topics at a shipboard news conference.

Among other things, he said that Allied action in Korea has given the world a "hopeful future" for peace, but that he opposes any extension of that war.

He also asserted that the danger of another world war has receded. He credited resistance to Soviet aggression in Korea as the main season for that.

Nevertheless, he warned against widening the fighting there, declaring that the "center of gravity" for peace "lies along the frontiers of the Iron Curtain in Europe"—not in Korea.

Widow Weeps At Murder Trial

TOKYO, Tuesday, Jan. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Krueger Smith went on trial Monday before a U. S. Army court-martial board, charged with murdering her officer husband. She lost her composure in a flood of tears when a witness testified she exclaimed "I'm so glad I did it" the night Col. Aubrey D. Smith was stabbed to death.

The witness was Shigeko Tani, 28, a Japanese housemaid employed by the attractive, 40-year-old defendant and her husband. Smith was stabbed fatally last Oct. 3.

Miss Tani, speaking in Japanese, disclosed that she took a 12-inch Okinawa hunting knife away from Mrs. Smith after the stabbing but later found her brandishing a kitchen knife over her dying husband. The maid said she took that knife away from Mrs. Smith, too.

The gray-eyed mother of two children and daughter of retired Gen. Walter Krueger wept frequently Monday as the trial opened before a nine-member court martial board.

She entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of premeditated murder, which carried a maximum penalty of death.

335 Million Fish Catch

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—America's commercial fishermen hauled in 4,300,000,000 pounds of fish and shellfish last year, the Fish and Wildlife Service estimated today.

The value of the catch off the coasts of the United States and Alaska was put at 335 million dollars.

But there will be other things to occupy the lawmakers: The counting of electoral ballots from the November election, a Senate scrap over the filibuster, three messages from outgoing President Truman.

First major project is a combined meeting of Senate and House in the House chamber tomorrow afternoon to tally electoral votes and officially pronounce Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the winner of the presidential election. This is one ballot whose outcome can be predicted with some confidence —442 for Eisenhower, 89 for Democratic nominee Adlai E. Stevenson.

By the same margin, it will be former Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California over Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama for the vice presidency.

Filibuster Fight To Resume

After that, it's back to the other end of the Capitol for the senators to fight it out over the filibuster issue. The decision is expected to come sometime Wednesday, and there isn't much doubt about what will happen.

After a few hours' debate, the Senate is expected to stick by its old rules. These require votes of two-thirds of the senators, 64 out of 96, to throttle a filibuster.

The filibuster device of unceasing debate has been the weapon Southern Democrats have used through the years to block such civil rights measures as fair employment practices, anti-lynching and anti-poll tax bills.

These Southerners, and Republicans who don't want to change the rules, have the votes to torpedo efforts of a bipartisan band of 19 senators to put into effect a rule giving a bare majority of 49 members authority to halt a filibuster.

"Mystery Man" Indicted Again

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald, whose name has popped up frequently in various congressional inquiries, was reindicted today on 31 charges of contempt of Congress.

The new indictment accuses Washington's "mystery man" of refusing to answer almost all questions put to him by House tax scandal investigators last year and also refusing to produce documents the congressmen demanded.

The grand jury adds nine new charges to a previous indictment. And it reinstates three counts dismissed by the U. S. District Court here because the other indictment failed to specify that records called for were pertinent to the inquiry.

Conviction on contempt charges could make Grunewald liable to a year's imprisonment and a $1,000 fine on each count.

His silence was so tenacious before the congressional group that Chairman King (D-Calif) said "He even refused at one session to acknowledge the fact that members were speaking to him."

"He sat in mute contempt of our processes," King said, adding that Grunewald made no claim of privilege against self-incrimination.

King's ways and means subcommittee was attempting to ask Grunewald about his relations with high officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Cost Of Campaign

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Republican National Committee reported to the House today that it spent $2,937,549 last year. The Democratic National Committee reported expenditures of $1,602,651.

Three Old Cronies Get Together

M'Keldin Reports Maryland Budget Hike Unavoidable

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said tonight government spending will increase again in Maryland this year but he hasn't given up hope of some day reducing taxes.

He claimed credit for cuts made two years ago in the sales tax and declared a foreseeable rise in the state real estate levy is due solely to an enlarged state debt.

"And the debt depends on the necessity for construction and expansion of the state plant," he said.

Appears On TV Show

Appearing on a question-and-answer television show just two nights before the opening of a General Assembly session, McKeldin said "there is no big problem" confronting the Legislature.

"The Legislature and the people have been kept informed of my program and proposals," he added in a prepared text. "I have no surprises to offer. If any big problem develops, it will be created by the Legislature itself."

He asserted Maryland is "in good condition — financially and otherwise."

Budget Will Increase

The governor said "of course" the state budget, which now stands at $176,500,000, has gone up each year—"and it shall increase again in the next fiscal year.

"Whose budget has not? All costs continue to rise and government is affected just as an individual or a private corporation is."

McKeldin has not yet disclosed how much he will recommend in appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Indications are they could mount as high as 190 millions, including money over which the Legislature has yielded control.

The governor explained tonight much of the budget increase will be automatic, as for public schools.

Rubenstein To Remain Free Pending Hearing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals ruled today that Serge Rubinstein may remain at liberty until a lower court passes on the government's proceedings to deport him.

Rubinstein, a New York financier who was born in Russia 45 years ago, has been fighting deportation off and on for the last 10 years.

The latest move to get him out of the country is based on a 1947 conviction for draft dodging. The government claims the conviction proved that Rubinstein is guilty of moral turpitude, one of the principal grounds for deportation.

Rubinstein's lawyers disagree. They assert that Rubinstein paid his debt to society by serving a prison term, and that no moral turpitude is involved.

Olsen Of Comedy Team Seriously Hurt In Car Crash

GREENVILLE, Ill., Jan. 5 (AP) — John S. Olsen, 60, member of the well known comedy team of Olsen and Johnson, was injured seriously late today in an auto-truck crash a mile southeast of Greenville.

Olsen, of Malverne, N. Y., was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, Highland, Ill., where officials said the full extent of his injuries had not been determined.

Also injured was Miss Patricia Basso, 25, of New York City, and their chauffeur.

Illinois state police said a milk transport truck had turned into U. S. Highway 40 from State Route 127 and was struck by the car in which Olsen and Miss Basso were riding.

Shaver Admits Accepting Fees

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP) — Charles E. Shaver, former general counsel of the Senate Small Business Committee, admitted in court today that he accepted three payments of $500 each from firms seeking Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans.

Leonard H. Cooper, a Miami, Fla., businessman, pleaded guilty also to a charge of inducing Shaver to accept the money and attempt to influence the RFC to make the loans.

The court dismissed charges against Jerome H. Weinkle of Miami and Raymond W. Loptka of Chicago in connection with the case.

After Shaver and Cooper entered their guilty pleas, U. S. District Judge Charles S. McLaughlin permitted them to remain free on bond until their sentencing. No date was set for that.

The maximum penalty facing both men, according to Asst. U. S. Atty. Frederick Smithson, is a fine of $10,000, two years in prison, or both on each of the three counts. The statutes forbid any government employe to accept fees for services related to their official duties.

Rayburn Sees Minority Role Reuniting Demos

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sam Rayburn of Texas, dean of all Democrats in Congress, believes his party will be more united, now that it is a minority, than during the almost 20 years it ruled the government.

Rayburn, starting his 21st consecutive term in Congress, is minority leader of the new House. He yielded the speakership to Republican Joseph W. Martin, Jr. of Massachusetts last Saturday after having held that office longer than any other man.

End To Coalition Seen

Rayburn said in an interview he believes the present Congress will see the end of the coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans that dominated Capitol Hill even when the Democrats nominally were the majority party.

"I think we are going to be more united than ever before," he said.

His reason for believing that, he said, is that Southern Democrats won't have to be fighting Democratic administration proposals that waved a red flag in the face of the "rebels."

Civil Rights Issue

One of the major causes of the split in Democratic ranks in recent years, Rayburn said, was the championship of civil rights programs by President Harry S. Truman and the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

That cause was removed with the election of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as president. Rayburn expects Eisenhower to propose some sort of civil rights program.

"Some Democrats who hated Presidents Roosevelt and Truman because of their civil rights proposals will now start hating President Eisenhower for the same reason," Rayburn said.

Investigation Of Alleged Red Activity At Colleges Opened

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (INS) — Chairman Velde of the House Un-American Activities Committee revealed today that investigations are underway at 25 colleges and universities, including some of the foremost educational institutions in the nation.

The Illinois Republican said his committee is seeking to determine whether subversive influences exist among faculty members and students.

Velde said committee investigators are visiting campuses throughout the nation in a probe which was aparently initiated during the last congress.

The congressman revealed that among the institutions being investigated are Harvard University, Columbia University, the University of Chicago, University of Michigan, and Smith and Wellesley Colleges.

Velde said other institutions under investigation are Northwestern University, University of Wisconsin, University of Minnesota, Hunter College, College of the City of New York, Brooklyn College, New York University, Queens College, Howard University, Roosevelt College, University of California at Berkeley, Johns Hopkins University, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

No Statement Issued After Get-Together

Old Friends Meet At Baruch's Home

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP) — Old friends Dwight D. Eisenhower and Winston Churchill got together for dinner tonight after an earlier conference at which they had an opportunity to discuss world affairs.

There wasn't the slightest hint afterward of what they said to each other at the conference, and no word was expected from either participant.

The U. S. President-elect and the prime minister of Great Britain were guests at the apartment of Elder Statesman Bernard Baruch, just off Fifth Avenue on East 66th Street.

No Formal Agenda Arranged

Eisenhower and Churchill, who arrived from England this morning aboard the liner Queen Mary with an assertion that Allied action in Korea has given the world a hope for peace, met twice at Baruch's residence.

The first session lasted about an hour and 40 minutes.

Then Eisenhower continued his interrupted journey fro mhis Commodore Hotel headquarters to his residence at Columbia University, changed into a dinner jacket, and returned to Baruch's home for dinner with the prime minister and a few close friends.

Eisenhower's headquarters said no formal agenda had been arranged, but possible subjects for discussion with Churchill included Eisenhower's recent trip to Korea, Soviet Premier Josef Stalin's recent statement indicating willingness to meet with the President-elect, and Britain's economic difficulties.

On Eisenhower's arrival for dinner at Baruch's residence, an anti-British organization known as the Irish-American Minute Men was picketing the house.

Secrecy Surrounds Talks

They took comfortable seats in front of the living room fireplace for what had been billed in advance as mere informal talks with no particular subject specified.

However, as Churchill arrived early today on the liner Queen Mary, he spoke on numerous world topics at a shipboard news conference.

Among other things, he said that Allied action in Korea has given the world a "hopeful future" for peace, but that he opposes any extension of that war.

He also asserted that the danger of another world war has receded. He credited resistance to Soviet aggression in Korea as the main season for that.

Nevertheless, he warned against widening the fighting there, declaring that the "center of gravity" for peace "lies along the frontiers of the Iron Curtain in Europe"—not in Korea.

Widow Weeps At Murder Trial

TOKYO, Tuesday, Jan. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Krueger Smith went on trial Monday before a U. S. Army court-martial board, charged with murdering her officer husband. She lost her composure in a flood of tears when a witness testified she exclaimed "I'm so glad I did it" the night Col. Aubrey D. Smith was stabbed to death.

The witness was Shigeko Tani, 28, a Japanese housemaid employed by the attractive, 40-year-old defendant and her husband. Smith was stabbed fatally last Oct. 3.

Miss Tani, speaking in Japanese, disclosed that she took a 12-inch Okinawa hunting knife away from Mrs. Smith after the stabbing but later found her brandishing a kitchen knife over her dying husband. The maid said she took that knife away from Mrs. Smith, too.

The gray-eyed mother of two children and daughter of retired Gen. Walter Krueger wept frequently Monday as the trial opened before a nine-member court martial board.

She entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of premeditated murder, which carried a maximum penalty of death.

335 Million Fish Catch

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—America's commercial fishermen hauled in 4,300,000,000 pounds of fish and shellfish last year, the Fish and Wildlife Service estimated today.

The value of the catch off the coasts of the United States and Alaska was put at 335 million dollars.

N. Y. Bus Strikers Hope For Subway Slowdown Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 5. (AP)—The CIO Transport Workers hoped for a subway slowdown tonight after the roaring trains handily took up the day's slack from a widely-heralded bus strike.

"We believe that due to crowding they will be slowed down," a TWU official said of the subway lines, even though the morning and evening rush hours both ended with traffic only slightly above normal.

The union, itself, he added, will pull no subway slowdown.

School children's hours were staggered and many workers paced themselves to and from work as the expected transit crisis was warded off.

The first full work day since the New Year's Eve strike began saw the city humming away at its usual clip despite the TWU strike against eight private bus firms in Manhattan, the Bronx and Queens.

"Business seems to be taking the bus strike in stride," was the word from the New York Board of Trade, although the union insisted bedlam was in the offing underground.

The TWU's strike for a 40-hour week for 8,200 private lines' drivers and maintenance men idled buses that normally haul 3,500,000 fares a day. It was feared these riders might swamp the already overtaxed subways.

But the Board of Transportation said "everything is normal."

New Offer Made Baltimore Strikers As Schools Close

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP) — City officials came up tonight with a two-year contract offer in an attempt to settle a strike which left Baltimore schools empty and garbage cans filled.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro submitted the proposal to representatives of more than 3,000 municipal employes, including school janitors and garbage collectors.

It calls for no general increase this year but a raise in 1954 to equal any rise in the cost of living, D'Alesandro said.

He disclosed the offer after a negotiating session with AFL Teamsters Union officials this afternoon.

D'Alesandro said the proposal included a 10-cent hourly differential for night and swing shift workers. A five-cent differential previously had been the city's only offer.

Other features of the new municipal bid were time and a half for work on Sundays or on regular days off, holiday pay to employes unable to work a holiday because of illness, and full pay starting the first, rather than the third, day after a disabling accident.

More than half the public schools closed today because the absence of janitors who had joined the walkout left the buildings without heat.

Students and teachers, returning to class for the first time since before Christmas, sat bundled in overcoats just long enough to get assignments, then went home.

Tomorrow, the school system will start instruction by radio and television to most of the city's 135,000 students forced to miss regular classes by the strike.

Warships Leave Norfolk For Training Exercises

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 5 (AP)—Headed by the battleship New Jersey and the escort carrier Block Island, a group of ships left Norfolk today for the Caribbean where they and a score of destroyers, submarines, tenders and other ships will train their crews in Operation Springboard.

The basic training exercises are designed to take the utmost advantage of favorable weather conditions. It will not be a fleet operation, as such, but will consider of a series of individual ship and group training exercises involving about 100 vessels of the Atlantic Fleet.

Frederick Man Dies In Automobile Crash

FREDERICK, Md., Jan. 5 (AP) — A 35-year-old man was killed and two other men were critically injured when two automobiles collided near here.

Sgt. W. W. Corbin of the State police identified the man as John C. Remsburg Jr., of Frederick, and the injured as Richard W. Flook, 38, of Middletown, Md., and Radie Evans, 39, of Rockville, Md.

Hill Murder Trial Hits Snag At Outset

BEL AIR, Md., Jan. 5 (AP)—The murder trial of John Thomas Hill, once on the FBI's list of "10 most wanted fugitives," hit a snag at the outset today because of difficulty in selecting a jury.

Hill, 49-year-old Negro from Chester, Md., is charged in the robbery - slaying of Winchester Smith, elderly Eastern Shore storekeeper.

The 72-year-old victim's body was found March 19, 1950, in his store at Willoughby. His cashbox had been rifled and he had been beaten to death with an axe.

Garrett Estate Decree Affirmed

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15 (AP) — The Pennsylvania Supreme Court today dismissed separately 14 appeals in the 22-year-old Garrett estate case, finally paving the way for distribution of the $17 million dollar snuff fortune.

The state's highest court affirmed a decree handed down in 1951 by the Philadelphia Orphans Court which awarded the money to the heirs or assignees of three late first cousins of the late Henrietta S. Garrett.

The appeals were taken by six family groups to the high court and were dismissed as such.

"The findings of the court below," the Supreme Court said in its decision, "satisfied everyone but 26,000 disappointed claimants."

Henrietta Garrett died 22 years ago leaving the estate which has become the center piece of nearly a quarter century of court litigation.

962 Died On Highways During Two Holidays

[By The Associated Press]

A record high number of 962 persons met violent death on the nation's streets and highways during the Christmas and New Year weekends.

A final tabulation by the Associated Press also showed a total of 1,335 persons died in accidents of all kinds during the two holidays.

Traffic deaths for the New Year weekend, from 6 p. m. local time Wednesday until Sunday midnight, reached 406. This was 31 above the previous holiday record high of 375, set the preceding year.

Another 57 persons perished in fires and 126 others met violent death from miscellaneous causes for an overall total of 591.

Kirk Succeeds Ike As Head Of Columbia

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP) — Dr. Grayson Kirk today was named president of Columbia University to succeed Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Dr. Kirk has been acting head of the university since Dec. 19, 1950.

The 49-year-old Kirk was named acting chief when Eisenhower took a leave of absence to become supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Kirk was named by the university's trustees after they accepted Eisenhower's resignation and made him university president emeritus.

Soil Meeting Set For Today

Soil Conservation District Supervisors from Allegany and Garrett Counties and employes of the United States Soil Conservation Service in the two counties are scheduled to leave early this morning for Baltimore to attend the annual meeting of the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

A feature of this annual meeting will be an address by Robert M. Salter, chief of the Soil Conservation Service.

Some of the Western Maryland representatives will return home tonight but others will remain in Baltimore tomorrow for the meeting of the Maryland Crop Improvement Association. That session will feature discussions on efficient use of legumes, pastures and grass silage in grassland farming.

Allegany County will be represented by R. W. Ferguson, Union Grove, chairman of the Soil Conservation District Supervisors here; Charles Harvey, Frostburg, another supervisor; Martin Gordon, soil conversationist, and Kenneth Stone, soil scientist, both with the Soil Conservation Service.

Representing Garrett County will be William W. Nace, Oakland, director of soil conservation work in the two counties; Foster Yates, Accident, chairman; Dorsey Guard, Friendsville, and Emerson Bishoff, Hoyes, Garrett County Soil Conservation District Supervisors.

Man Jailed On Fraud Complaint

A Bowling Green man was arrested yesterday on a complaint that he had represented himself as a solicitor for charitable work done by a local organization.

Detectives said Jacob Russell Shearer, Bowling Green, had obtained donations from several people by saying he represented the sick benefit fund of the Knights of Columbus.

Officers of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus last night said the organization does not solicit contributions to its fund, but depends on donations from members and friends.

No formal charge has been filed against Shearer, but detectives said he would be questioned further today.

Open New Restaurant

Mrs. Betty Rinker, wife of Addison Rinker, local commercial photographer, will open a new restaurant at 416 Virginia Avenue today. The restaurant will be known as Addison's Restaurant.

Rinker will continue his commercial photography studio on Baltimore Avenue.

Police Say

The Police spokesman said the department will, if granted the 40-hour week, agree to forego any requests for a wage increase for 18 months, or until July, 1954.

The subject was discussed by members of the Council yesterday.

Police Commissioner John J. Long told the Council he had heard policemen will ask an eight-hour day, 40-hour week and expressed the hope the council, would be granted the courtesy of seeing and studying the bill before a decision had to be made.

Will Require Study

He said the plan would require study since it involves hiring additional policemen and will increase the cost of running the department.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, street commissioner, asked if there were some way the Mayor and Council could learn about such legislation, when offered.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said he believed the chairman of the delegation should inform the Mayor and Council when the men appear.

Submit Requests

Early last summer, when city workers submitted requests for wage increases, the Police Department, at a meeting with the Mayor and Council, agreed to forego any wage increase if it were granted a 40-hour work week.

Only two departments work more, the Police Department and the Fire Department. Several years ago, the Mayor and Council cut the work week of other hourly paid workers from 45 hours to 40 hours, with no decrease in pay.

At that time, Police informed the Mayor and Council they were determined to have shorter hours but said they wanted to secure the shorter hours enjoyed by other workers with the blessing of the city, but would seek redress from the Legislature if they were turned down.

Firemen told the Delegation they want the wages frozen, bi-weekly paydays and 48 hours off after each shift change, cutting hours on the job from about 300 to about 250 a month.

Reds In The UN

Attorney General McGranery has assured the Chelf House Investigating Subcommittee of full cooperation in the group's investigation of alleged interference by the Justice Department with a New York federal grand jury's inquiry into U. S. Communists employed by the United Nations.

In its report of December 2, the grand jury accused the Justice Department of trying to get the jury's findings "toned down." Since the report was filed, the New York Herald Tribune reported on December 29, UN Secretary-General Lie has dismissed 27 American employes, after receiving adverse reports on them from the State Department. Lie has said he lacks sufficient information to act similarly in the cases of 13 others still on the UN payroll.

Meantime, on December 26, Senator McCarran (D. Nev.) said he would urge the Senate to "compel" the State Department to disclose the names of officials "supposed to warn the United Nations of the bad security risks in the secretariat."

The story of Red activity in the UN goes back at least to the 1949 case of Mrs. Mary J. Keeney, an American UN employe, who was accused by the House Un-American Activities Committee of having been a "Communist courier." Mrs. Keeney, who denied under oath the House group's charge, was later fired by Lie on the basis of "official and confidential information." She won damages of $169,465 from a UN tribunal on November 13, 1951. On May 26, 1952, Mrs. Keeney was indicted for contempt for refusing to tell the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee how she got her UN job.

Lie denied on June 6, 1952, that it was UN policy to "purge" his staff of U. S. Communists. On October 11 Lie said he had dismissed U. S. citizens for anti-U. S. activities on the basis of convincing information, but had refused to act on "mere suspicion or smears." The following day, he told UN employes subpoenaed by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that they had no immunity for "private activities" but were "not authorized to testify with regard to official (UN) activities."

When Abraham H. Feller, general counsel to the UN, plunged to his death on November 13, Lie said Feller had acted under the strain of defending UN employes "against indiscriminate smears and exaggerated charges." Lie had resigned as secretary-general three days earlier.

The dismissal of a Russian employe of the United Nations — one Nikolai Skvortsov — was disclosed on December 13. The U. S. State Department had notified Lie in October that Skvortsov, an alleged spy, had "violated a United States law." The State Department had instructed the U. S. embassy in Moscow to deny a visa to re-enter the United States to Skvortsov, who had returned to Russia. The technical ground for his dismissal was that he had failed to come back to his UN job.

Precious Manuscript

Literary treasures have a way of seeking a market in prosperous America. So it is with the original manuscript of what are conventionally known as Grimms' fairy tales. Entirely unheralded, the manuscript, owned by an ancient European monastery and insured for $100,000, a price refused before World War II, has been brought for sale to a New York dealer in autographs.

The manuscript contains 47 stories in closely written German script, of which 26 were penned by Jacob Grimm, 14 by his brother and alter ego, Wilhelm, and seven by a different hand. "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," "The Sleeping Beauty" and "Hansel and Gretel" are among them.

Millions of children have delighted in having read to them, and later in reading for themselves, these stories first published 140 years ago and subsequently expanded to 210. They could not know, and as adults most of them probably never learned, the place this book holds in world literature.

Actually Jacob Grimm, who was also a philologist and lexicographer, assisted by his brother, methodically searched out, sifted and classified the mythology of Germanic and other European peoples. He is widely credited with having founded the science of folklore.

These tales were published in 1812, the year before Jane Austen added to the stature of the English novel by "Pride and Prejudice." Not one purports to be the invention of the brothers Grimm. Each had been told for hundreds of years by many firesides, whereas the fairy tales that made the Dane, Hans Christian Andersen, famous 23 years later were charming, but purely invented fables.

This manuscript would be the joy of any bibliophile able to purchase it, and would grace any library, however famous. Once here, it ought to remain in the United States.

Democrat Presides Over GOP

When the 83rd Congress convenes on Saturday, the Senate will have a Republican majority but its presiding officer for two and a half weeks will be a Democrat, Vice President Barkley. Barkley is not replaced as vice president, and hence as presiding officer of the Senate—empowered to cast a vote only in case of a tie—by Richard M. Nixon until January 20.

The Republican House, on the other hand, will get a Republican presiding officer as soon as it organizes for business. The lower branch of Congress, also convening on January 3, has always chosen its own presiding officer from among its own membership. However, the Constitution says only that the House shall "choose their speaker," and this language would seem to permit the choice of some one not a representative.

Until the 20th Amendment became part of the Constitution on December 5, 1933, the terms of the Congress and of the new President and vice president began on the same day. Under the 20th Amendment, the terms of the Congress begin on January 3 and of the President and vice president on January 20 in the years following the election years. The 17-days difference was primarily to give the new House time to elect a president, in case no candidate had received a clear electoral majority, without a temporary vacancy in the office.

This will be the first time in 34 years that a vice president of one party has presided over a Senate controlled by the other party. (There was no vice president in 1947-48.) In the mid-term elections of 1918 the Republicans won enough seats from the Democrats to provide a narrow Republican majority in the 1919 Senate, with the term of Vice President Marshall, Democrat, not expiring until March 4, 1921.

The Center Of The Stage

When Johnny is convalescing from a trying illness he is likely to revert to infantile behavior such as baby talk and wanting to be held. This is particularly true when he is out of the woods and every one is unusually nice. The reversion affords a golden opportunity to become once more the ruler of the roost. A little of this attitude is normal but if it gets out of hand the parents must call a halt to prevent an otherwise innocent situation from deteriorating into genuine spoiling.

Dr. Edward A. Strecker of Philadelphia designates this process, "the childhood love of power." In Johnny's case it should be recognized and dealt with in a firm manner without being too severe or unreasonable. Tact and understanding are required which are not always feasible, for example, when a child of 4 returns to baby talk or cooing or even asks for a bottle.

I doubt if any of us remember our infancy but this period was one of the softest of our lives. The baby is helpless and the entire household does everything it can to keep the little tike happy and content. Furthermore, the child is the center of attraction and is able to dominate the scene wherever he goes. When ready to move on to the next stage of development he begins to appreciate the importance of his favored status. This is a crucial time because the youngster must choose between assuming the obligations that go with being a "big boy" and remaining the star attraction as a baby. Vacillation in this age group is normal to a certain extent so there is no need to become perturbed when Mary is a baby one day and a little girl the next. But when the behavior of the youngster is not appreciated or when he is not receiving his rightful place in the family he may revert in an attempt to give vent to this more infantile urge for attention and power. Unless this is recognized the family may unwittingly cooperate by becoming as solicitous as they were when he was a baby.

The friendly son of middle aged parents found himself in this predicament. According to Strecker, the lad came to the table one night and announced he was not going to eat dinner. Mother coaxed and even offered to change the menu and give him something special; and the father asked his son if he felt sick. For the moment he received more attention than he had obtained for a long time and it was only natural to repeat this behavior night after night until it became a nuisance. The mother broke into tears at the table and the father into profanity.

The situation was not relieved by nagging, anger, or forcing the child to eat. The parents finally sought counsel from the family physician and felt disappointed when they were told to do nothing if their offspring refused to eat. Several nights later the youngster, on coming to the table, announced, "I'm not going to eat." Nobody said anything. "Did you hear me, father? I'm not going to eat. Aren't you going to cuss." The father and mother explained to the boy that if he was not hungry it would not hurt to miss a meal. The lad looked startled, picked up his fork, and ate as a boy his age should.

SHAVING A MOLE

T. W. writes: Is it safe to use an electric razor over a mole?

REPLY

Yes, provided the lesion is not irritated by the razor.

SMALL STONES

F. D. writes: Do gallstones ever pass through the body by themselves?

REPLY

Yes, but they must be small enough to pass through the tiny biliary duct. This passageway is the diameter of a lead pencil. Larger stones cannot pass and surgery would be needed to remove them.

THYROID AND STERILITY

Mrs. L. writes: Could a minus 15 metabolism be responsible for sterility in a woman?

REPLY

This is a moot question although many barren women have conceived after receiving thyroid medication.

APPETITE SUPPRESSORS

Mrs. Q. writes: Are there any risks involved in taking tablets to kill the appetite in a reducing regimen?

REPLY

Yes, because the majority of such products are classified as stimulants. On the other hand, there also is a risk to remaining obese and in this respect the decision to use an appetite suppressor should be left to the family physician.

KIDNEY DISTURBANCE

F. T. writes: I heard of a boy in Korea who has lower nephron nephrosis. Can you tell me what this disorder is?

REPLY

A condition in which certain tubules in the kidneys degenerate. The abnormality usually follows shock after injury. It is in this disorder that the artificial kidney has been tried to tide the victim over the critical period.

Churchill Worried Over Proposed Use Of Chiang's Troops In Korea; Britain's Prime Minister Opposed To Any Blockade Of China Ports

WASHINGTON — British sources close to Winston Churchill say that while his initial reason for coming to see Eisenhower was the dynamite-laden situation in Iran, the prime minister has become equally steamed up over reports of Eisenhower's proposed strategy in Korea.

This strategy, as relayed to London by British observers, follows:

1, Send two divisions of Chiang Kai-shek's troops to Korea from Formosa.

2. Blockade the China ports.

3. Turn over a certain number of American naval vessels to South Korea and the Chinese Nationalists in order to form Korean and Chinese navies, which in turn would harass the coast of China.

4. Lift the present ban against Chiang Kai-shek's sending military expeditions to the Chinese mainland.

5. Possible use of atomic weapons in Korea.

6. Send three U. S. divisions to Japan, presumably to prepare for a Korean offensive next spring.

British Opposition

The first five of these cut squarely across British policy in the past —not only the policy of the Labor government, but of the Conservatives. In fact, ex-Prime Minister Clement Attlee rushed across the Atlantic on a somewhat similar mission when President Truman dropped an off-the-cuff remark about using the A-bomb in Korea.

Churchill is reported by friends to be particularly upset over Ike's reported plan to use Chiang Kai-shek's troops and also the reported plan to blockade the China coast. The British have long argued that Chiang Kai-shek is completely discredited, that he can never stage a comeback, and that using his troops either in Korea or on the Chinese mainland would be like a red flag to the Chinese. It might, they argue, prolong the war indefinitely.

The British also claim that any blockade of the China coast would be tantamount to an act of war. If U. S. warships should blockade Russian-held Dairen, for instance, it might easily provoke war.

Churchill's advisers say that since he and Eisenhower are old comrades from World War II during which they enjoyed an extremely close relationship, Winston may tactfully suggest that the new President should not move merely for the sake of movement, but that his moves be carefully thought out so as not to alienate this country's allies.

NOTE—It's interesting that while Eisenhower was aboard the U.S.S. Helena some of his advisers hashed over the prospect that Churchill might use his old friendship with Ike to influence policy. Churchill's hurry-up trip to New York had not been announced at that time. But even then, Ike-men worried over the intimate relationship between the two, and the persuasive influence of the prime minister.

NOTE 2—It was British hesitancy over Roosevelt's proposed naval blockade or "quarantine" in the Far East in 1936 which finally upset his attempt to stop Japanese aggression. It was also the lobbying of British and American oil companies which helped break up the League of Nations sanctions imposed on Mussolini when he invaded Ethiopia in 1935. Each postponement of a showdown, however, built up for a greater and more tragic eventual showdown with the Axis.

Farewell Luncheon

President Truman had a farewell luncheon with Democratic senators right after New Year's Day. There were moments of sadness and also moments of mirth as he said goodbye to colleagues with whom he had served and with whom he had sometimes differed.

Sen. Ernest McFarland, retiring not only as Democratic leader but as senator from Arizona, made a speech which touched his colleagues. Referring to the fact that he had been mentioned as ambassador to Mexico, McFarland said:

"I don't think the Republicans owe me anything, and I don't expect anything. I've battled them as hard as I could and have done the best job I know how. I'm going down with the team.

"When the team comes up again, I'll be there playing right guard —if they want me to."

President Truman also spoke, and got a laugh when he kidded new Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, whom Truman tried to have defeated in the Democratic primary there.

"I want to warn you, Stu," said the President, "that about 20 days from now I'll be one of your constituents. And you'd better watch out. I'm quite a letter-writer and I'm going to write you some letters."

The President also told about the Missouri senatorial race in which Symington defeated Republican Sen. James Kem, and the picture of a cow which Kem had circulated indicating that he understood farm problems.

"Kem doesn't know how to milk a cow," said the President. "The only thing he knows how to milk is a corporation."

Truman and Stalin

One piece of "unfinished business" Harry Truman may tackle after leaving the White House concerns Joe Stalin. While President of the United States, Truman cannot tee off on the Soviet dictator for Stalin's betrayal of the Potsdam agreement.

But as ex-President he is more free. And Harry is thinking seriously of taking off the protocol gloves and telling the world in general and Stalin in particular what he really thinks of him.

In a recent chat with his close friend, Joseph Keenan of the American Federation of Labor, Truman said he planned to "take it easy" for six months after leaving the White House, devote part of the vacation to a trip around the world; also promote the Truman Memorial Library in Independence.

After that, he told Keenan:

"I'm going to do some writing. I don't know how it will work out because writing isn't my long suit, but the American public hasn't been given a fair appraisal of my administration — there's still some confusion about certain matters, foreign and domestic—and I would like to get the record straight for future historians."

The President didn't elaborate, but in talks with advisers he has strongly indicated that, among other things, he would like to tell the whole, unvarnished story of the controversial Potsdam conference and Stalin's betrayal of trust. In addition, he would like to give his version of Washington "corruption" and how he was made a scapegoat by false friends.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—(INS)—More than 800 patents were granted last week by the U. S. Patent Office, including several interestings bits of flotsam and jetsam which washed up on fair Washington's beach in the wake of what must have been some pretty violent brainstorms.

Three of the items should come in handy during the installation of Ike Eisenhower and the festivities that follow. The first of these inaugural boons is a neck stretcher, a device which may sound like a hanging party but in fact is the legal inspiration of one Odette (where is thy sting?) Vaquette, of Paris. Mlle. Odette, whose patent was awarded the easily remembered number 2,623,518, claims her rack can also stretch spines.

Of the million or so who will attend the elevation of the first Republican to the White House since Hector, world's oldest mastiff was a pup, only a limited number will be able to see more than the tip of what may be the first top hat the general ever wore. January 20 will be a day that calls for stretched necks and well-spaced veterbrae in general from a great majority of the witnesses. If Mlle. Odette has her cozy rack in production by that time she'll be the richest Frenchwoman since the Statute of Liberty.

Other notable contributions to the inaugural scene, arriving none too soon at the Patent Office, are Nos. 2,623,368 and 2,623,369. At the risk of being obvious, 2,623,368 is a non-splashing cocktail glass, the work of a Mr. Edward F. Olsen of Hillman, Mich.

Mr. Olsen's turreted Martini receptacle features a dome-shaped cover. Access to the acid is obtained via a small spout, which recalls the testing method used by an uncle of mine who was a highly respected bootlegger in Washington during the noble experiment and specialized in bonded panther brewed in tea kettles.

Mr. Olsen may be a direct and devoted lineal descendant of Andrew Volstead for all I know, but his great invention — which may one day rate with Edison's incandescent—smacks of something born of bitter lessons learned at a Washington cocktail party.

A Washington cocktail party is a snarling gang fight badly policed by a frozen-smiled hostess or a singing host. It is fought at close quarters and waged as if in personal rebuke to the Marquis of Queensberry. Enough alcohol is spilled each night in the jostling parties of the District of Columbia to float the heaviest keeled hostess in town. The combined impact of toppled drinks, if properly focussed, could punch a gaping wound in the forward turret of the U. S. S. Missouri. Introduction of the sloshproof cocktail glass will certainly be fought by Washington cleaning establishments. But we predict turrets for topers are here to stay, and that the acceptance of the spouted "spot" will be so widespread in Washington that the next eight years will produce an army of puckered-lipped politicos in the glorious capital of the U.S.A.

Least but hardly last of the most recent fruits of the endless inventiveness of the American mind is 2,623,369. It is a saucer or plate that can't be pried loose from a table, or perhaps a knee, unless the person eating from it, or an accomplice, cranks a handle which comes attached to the suction saucer. The particulars of the Patent Office announcement bring out that the handle can be concealed from crank-minded children, many of whom (around our house, at least,) have accomplices. One need not dwell on what such a dish will mean to men whose wives trick them into going to buffet dinners, or to children who will have to come up with novel ways of spilling an entire table instead of just a dish.

Matter Of Fact

The Facts About The H-Bomb

WASHINGTON

No American high official has the faintest doubt that the Kremlin now knows the salient facts about the American hydrogen bomb. At this very moment, beyond question, the soviet strategists are recasting their war plans in the light of the existence of this weapon which blotted out an atoll. Equally certainly, they are also thinking of the next phase, which we should be thinking about too, when the Kremlin will have an H-bomb of its own.

In these circumstances it is ludicrous—it is downright shocking—that the facts about the H-bomb are being concealed from the American people. They can be, and have been, ascertained by the same nonsecret processes used by the Russian intelligence. And here they are.

The first point to note is that all expectations, both official and unofficial, were surpassed by the last explosion at Eniwetok. It was fairly well-known that the original aim was to build a one megaton bomb—or in other words, a bomb 50 times more powerful than the Hiroshima bomb, with an explosive power of one million tons of TNT.

There were widespread doubts that even this aim could be attained, because of the undreamed of complexity of the technical problems involved. Prior to the Eniwetok test, the official word was passed that the object to be exploded was not going to be a bomb at all.

It was going to be a mere "experimental mechanism" deriving most of its power from plutonium fusion, which is the power source of conventional atomic bombs. At best, it was only going to demonstrate the capabilities of hydrogen fusion, which is the quite different and infinitely more terrible power source of hydrogen bombs, as well as the source of the sun's heat that maintains life on earth.

Terrific Power

All this cautious preliminary damping-down has now turned out to be utterly misleading. As things turned out, the primitive hydrogen bomb tested at Eniwetok had an explosive force of between three and five megatons. It was between 150 and 250 times more powerful than the bomb that fell on Hiroshima. It was the equivalent of between three million and five million tons of TNT.

There is no adequate way to visualize such an explosion, in which Faustian man reproduced the very fire of life. But one can at least set down the probable effects on its target of a hydrogen bomb of this order. Let us strike an average, supposing that the bomb tested at Eniwetok had a force of four megatons. In that case, the effects of an urban target would be approximately as follows, according to expert estimates:

First, the bomb would send out lethal gamma rays, which would kill unprotected living organisms over an area of 10 square miles. But this would have no importance, since all living things so near to ground zero would be burned or blasted to death in any case.

Second, such a bomb would severely blast an area of 140 square miles, and moderately to severely blast an area of 260 square miles. In the area of severe blast, there would be total ruin. In the larger area of moderate-to-severe blast, destruction would be more capricious, with some structures totally ruined, others only moderately damaged.

Third, the fireball of the bomb would send out a heat flash sufficient to ignite combustible material, or to cause killing third degree burns on exposed skin, within an area of 300 square miles.

Primitive Model Tested

Fourth, such a bomb would certainly start one or more firestorms. These are the infernos of fire, which fan their own flames by creating their own draft, that civilized man first produced in Hamburg, and then in Hiroshima, in the last war. A fire storm destroys all living things in its path, by burning the oxygen in the air, and thus in effect strangling living organisms. The storm rages until the flames find no more fuel to feed them.

Fifth, such a bomb would contribute, in a small but quite measureable way, to rendering the earth's envelope of air noxious to the higher forms of life. This hideous process, which actually began with the Eniwetok test, must be the subject of a separate report.

It may be asked how such facts can be known without improper access to classified information. The truth is that ample data for crude but dependable calculations of the force of the Eniwetok bomb are freely available from the scientific amateurs who watch their own seismographs, possess Geiger-counters that recorded the bomb-cloud's passage around the earth in the upper air, and so on. The Soviet intelligence, with their far more formidable equipment, must know much not set forth here.

Remember, further, that this bomb tested at Eniwetok was only a primitive first model. After this test, we can no longer doubt that men can make what has been defined as "the absolute weapon"—the 10 megaton bomb, with a force of 10 million tons of TNT. Bombs larger than this, in fact, can probably be built if there is use for them. Thus the Eniwetok explosion in November radically changed the whole world we live in, and the personal situations of every one of us. And that is why the people have a right to know about these developments, although in almost every way they are too terrible, too fear-inspiring, to bear thinking about for long.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Charlie Chaplin

It was suggested to me that I go to see Charlie Chaplin's picture, "Limelight," but I could find no particular reason for adding to the little clown's fortune, even the mite that would pay for a ticket or two. The attorney general of the United States has made it clear that Chaplin will not be readmitted to the United States and, as it stands today, when he tries to come in, if he ever does, there will be a hearing and Chaplin will be asked many questions which maybe he can answer.

This fellow has been living in the United States 42 years. He came here a wandering actor and because of art, genius, ability, he has amassed many millions of dollars which he has managed to hold on to with a sort of rigor mortis.

Chaplin has lived here during two wars and a great depression and he has never shown a normal big-heartedness which is so characteristic of most rich men in this country in times of distress. In World War II, when actors and actresses risked their lives to entertain our troops, Charlie Chaplin sat it out.

I do not like what is in the record of his private life. I should not like any member of my family to imitate him. Therefore, I have instructed my children that I disapprove of him personally and that if they contribute to his wealth, it is against my principles.

Lest some smart-aleck British reporter say that to refuse to see Chaplin is to be anti-British, may I point to the fine Britishers on the American stage, such men as Bob Hope, Charles Laughton and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, who are the salt of the earth and have won the love and respect of Americans of all kinds. Bob Hope's contributions to USO will never be forgotten.

It does not matter if a Britisher wants to be loyal to his king or queen or whether he decides that, living in this country, he wishes to enter more fully into its life by becoming a citizen. Only an individual can decide that for himself. But this Chaplin has expresed contempt for the United States. He has built no record of support for American institutions but he has joined in support of pro-Russian activities.

For instance, it is difficult to find Chaplin's name in association with any American patriotic organizations because he says that he is an internationalist, but he presided as honorary chairman of the "Artists' Front to Win the War." Chaplin came to New York from Hollywood purposely to attend this meeting at Carnegie Hall, on October 16, 1942 — he who usually stayed away from meetings. He addressed the gathering as "Comrades!" He called for an immediate second front, which was Stalin's propaganda and for which we were not ready. The history of the second front propaganda is well known, I am sure, as one of the most shameless efforts of an ally to place its supporting country in an untenable position.

Chaplin praised Roosevelt not as a leader of the American people, but as "the man who released Browder," Communist leader, from prison. He praised Harry Bridges. He praised Communists as "ordinary people like ourselves, who love beauty, who love life." He added, "They say communism may spread out all over the world. And I say—so what?"

Many men and women in the motion picture industry have recognized that America is in danger and have toed the mark of loyalty under great emotional stress. Some have appeared before congressional committees to tell the truth as they knew it. Others have voluntarily given their records to the FBI. Several hundred have written letters to their employers explaining their errors. Recently such men as John Huston, Jose Ferrer, Elia Kazan, Garson Kanin and others have cleared themselves of charges and citations.

But not Charlie Chaplin. He continues his cynical course. He flouts the attorney general of the United States. His press agents give him a build-up in Europe to influence public opinion in America.

Why is he to be a privileged character? Is it because he is so rich? Is it because he is a better clown than other clowns? Surely Americans can survive without seeing any more of Charlie Chaplin.

Reds In The UN

Attorney General McGranery has assured the Chelf House Investigating Subcommittee of full cooperation in the group's investigation of alleged interference by the Justice Department with a New York federal grand jury's inquiry into U. S. Communists employed by the United Nations.

In its report of December 2, the grand jury accused the Justice Department of trying to get the jury's findings "toned down." Since the report was filed, the New York Herald Tribune reported on December 29, UN Secretary-General Lie has dismissed 27 American employes, after receiving adverse reports on them from the State Department. Lie has said he lacks sufficient information to act similarly in the cases of 13 others still on the UN payroll.

Meantime, on December 26, Senator McCarran (D. Nev.) said he would urge the Senate to "compel" the State Department to disclose the names of officials "supposed to warn the United Nations of the bad security risks in the secretariat."

The story of Red activity in the UN goes back at least to the 1949 case of Mrs. Mary J. Keeney, an American UN employe, who was accused by the House Un-American Activities Committee of having been a "Communist courier." Mrs. Keeney, who denied under oath the House group's charge, was later fired by Lie on the basis of "official and confidential information." She won damages of $169,465 from a UN tribunal on November 13, 1951. On May 26, 1952, Mrs. Keeney was indicted for contempt for refusing to tell the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee how she got her UN job.

Lie denied on June 6, 1952, that it was UN policy to "purge" his staff of U. S. Communists. On October 11 Lie said he had dismissed U. S. citizens for anti-U. S. activities on the basis of convincing information, but had refused to act on "mere suspicion or smears." The following day, he told UN employes subpoenaed by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that they had no immunity for "private activities" but were "not authorized to testify with regard to official (UN) activities."

When Abraham H. Feller, general counsel to the UN, plunged to his death on November 13, Lie said Feller had acted under the strain of defending UN employes "against indiscriminate smears and exaggerated charges." Lie had resigned as secretary-general three days earlier.

The dismissal of a Russian employe of the United Nations — one Nikolai Skvortsov — was disclosed on December 13. The U. S. State Department had notified Lie in October that Skvortsov, an alleged spy, had "violated a United States law." The State Department had instructed the U. S. embassy in Moscow to deny a visa to re-enter the United States to Skvortsov, who had returned to Russia. The technical ground for his dismissal was that he had failed to come back to his UN job.

Precious Manuscript

Literary treasures have a way of seeking a market in prosperous America. So it is with the original manuscript of what are conventionally known as Grimms' fairy tales. Entirely unheralded, the manuscript, owned by an ancient European monastery and insured for $100,000, a price refused before World War II, has been brought for sale to a New York dealer in autographs.

The manuscript contains 47 stories in closely written German script, of which 26 were penned by Jacob Grimm, 14 by his brother and alter ego, Wilhelm, and seven by a different hand. "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," "The Sleeping Beauty" and "Hansel and Gretel" are among them.

Millions of children have delighted in having read to them, and later in reading for themselves, these stories first published 140 years ago and subsequently expanded to 210. They could not know, and as adults most of them probably never learned, the place this book holds in world literature.

Actually Jacob Grimm, who was also a philologist and lexicographer, assisted by his brother, methodically searched out, sifted and classified the mythology of Germanic and other European peoples. He is widely credited with having founded the science of folklore.

These tales were published in 1812, the year before Jane Austen added to the stature of the English novel by "Pride and Prejudice." Not one purports to be the invention of the brothers Grimm. Each had been told for hundreds of years by many firesides, whereas the fairy tales that made the Dane, Hans Christian Andersen, famous 23 years later were charming, but purely invented fables.

This manuscript would be the joy of any bibliophile able to purchase it, and would grace any library, however famous. Once here, it ought to remain in the United States.

Democrat Presides Over GOP

When the 83rd Congress convenes on Saturday, the Senate will have a Republican majority but its presiding officer for two and a half weeks will be a Democrat, Vice President Barkley. Barkley is not replaced as vice president, and hence as presiding officer of the Senate—empowered to cast a vote only in case of a tie—by Richard M. Nixon until January 20.

The Republican House, on the other hand, will get a Republican presiding officer as soon as it organizes for business. The lower branch of Congress, also convening on January 3, has always chosen its own presiding officer from among its own membership. However, the Constitution says only that the House shall "choose their speaker," and this language would seem to permit the choice of some one not a representative.

Until the 20th Amendment became part of the Constitution on December 5, 1933, the terms of the Congress and of the new President and vice president began on the same day. Under the 20th Amendment, the terms of the Congress begin on January 3 and of the President and vice president on January 20 in the years following the election years. The 17-days difference was primarily to give the new House time to elect a president, in case no candidate had received a clear electoral majority, without a temporary vacancy in the office.

This will be the first time in 34 years that a vice president of one party has presided over a Senate controlled by the other party. (There was no vice president in 1947-48.) In the mid-term elections of 1918 the Republicans won enough seats from the Democrats to provide a narrow Republican majority in the 1919 Senate, with the term of Vice President Marshall, Democrat, not expiring until March 4, 1921.

The Center Of The Stage

When Johnny is convalescing from a trying illness he is likely to revert to infantile behavior such as baby talk and wanting to be held. This is particularly true when he is out of the woods and every one is unusually nice. The reversion affords a golden opportunity to become once more the ruler of the roost. A little of this attitude is normal but if it gets out of hand the parents must call a halt to prevent an otherwise innocent situation from deteriorating into genuine spoiling.

Dr. Edward A. Strecker of Philadelphia designates this process, "the childhood love of power." In Johnny's case it should be recognized and dealt with in a firm manner without being too severe or unreasonable. Tact and understanding are required which are not always feasible, for example, when a child of 4 returns to baby talk or cooing or even asks for a bottle.

I doubt if any of us remember our infancy but this period was one of the softest of our lives. The baby is helpless and the entire household does everything it can to keep the little tike happy and content. Furthermore, the child is the center of attraction and is able to dominate the scene wherever he goes. When ready to move on to the next stage of development he begins to appreciate the importance of his favored status. This is a crucial time because the youngster must choose between assuming the obligations that go with being a "big boy" and remaining the star attraction as a baby. Vacillation in this age group is normal to a certain extent so there is no need to become perturbed when Mary is a baby one day and a little girl the next. But when the behavior of the youngster is not appreciated or when he is not receiving his rightful place in the family he may revert in an attempt to give vent to this more infantile urge for attention and power. Unless this is recognized the family may unwittingly cooperate by becoming as solicitous as they were when he was a baby.

The friendly son of middle aged parents found himself in this predicament. According to Strecker, the lad came to the table one night and announced he was not going to eat dinner. Mother coaxed and even offered to change the menu and give him something special; and the father asked his son if he felt sick. For the moment he received more attention than he had obtained for a long time and it was only natural to repeat this behavior night after night until it became a nuisance. The mother broke into tears at the table and the father into profanity.

The situation was not relieved by nagging, anger, or forcing the child to eat. The parents finally sought counsel from the family physician and felt disappointed when they were told to do nothing if their offspring refused to eat. Several nights later the youngster, on coming to the table, announced, "I'm not going to eat." Nobody said anything. "Did you hear me, father? I'm not going to eat. Aren't you going to cuss." The father and mother explained to the boy that if he was not hungry it would not hurt to miss a meal. The lad looked startled, picked up his fork, and ate as a boy his age should.

SHAVING A MOLE

T. W. writes: Is it safe to use an electric razor over a mole?

REPLY

Yes, provided the lesion is not irritated by the razor.

SMALL STONES

F. D. writes: Do gallstones ever pass through the body by themselves?

REPLY

Yes, but they must be small enough to pass through the tiny biliary duct. This passageway is the diameters of a lead pencil. Larger stones cannot pass and surgery would be needed to remove them.

THYROID AND STERILITY

Mrs. L. writes: Could a minus 15 metabolism be responsible for sterility in a woman?

REPLY

This is a moot question although many barren women have conceived after receiving thyroid medication.

APPETITE SUPPRESSORS

Mrs. Q. writes: Are there any risks involved in taking tablets to kill the appetite in a reducing regimen?

REPLY

Yes, because the majority of such products are classified as stimulants. On the other hand, there also is a risk to remaining obese and in this respect the decision to use an appetite suppressor should be left to the family physician.

KIDNEY DISTURBANCE

F. T. writes: I heard of a boy in Korea who has lower nephron nephrosis. Can you tell me what this disorder is?

REPLY

A condition in which certain tubules in the kidneys degenerate. The abnormality usually follows shock after injury. It is in this disorder that the artificial kidney has been tried to tide the victim over the critical period.

Churchill Worried Over Proposed Use Of Chiang's Troops In Korea; Britain's Prime Minister Opposed To Any Blockade Of China Ports

WASHINGTON — British sources close to Winston Churchill say that while his initial reason for coming to see Eisenhower was the dynamite-laden situation in Iran, the prime minister has become equally steamed up over reports of Eisenhower's proposed strategy in Korea.

This strategy, as relayed to London by British observers, follows:

1, Send two divisions of Chiang Kai-shek's troops to Korea from Formosa.

2. Blockade the China ports.

3. Turn over a certain number of American naval vessels to South Korea and the Chinese Nationalists in order to form Korean and Chinese navies, which in turn would harass the coast of China.

4. Lift the present ban against Chiang Kai-shek's sending military expeditions to the Chinese mainland.

5. Possible use of atomic weapons in Korea.

6. Send three U. S. divisions to Japan, presumably to prepare for a Korean offensive next spring.

British Opposition

The first five of these cut squarely across British policy in the past —not only the policy of the Labor government, but of the Conservatives. In fact, ex-Prime Minister Clement Attlee rushed across the Atlantic on a somewhat similar mission when President Truman dropped an off-the-cuff remark about using the A-bomb in Korea.

Churchill is reported by friends to be particularly upset over Ike's reported plan to use Chiang Kai-shek's troops and also the reported plan to blockade the China coast. The British have long argued that Chiang Kai-shek is completely discredited, that he can never stage a comeback, and that using his troops either in Korea or on the Chinese mainland would be like a red flag to the Chinese. It might, they argue, prolong the war indefinitely.

The British also claim that any blockade of the China coast would be tantamount to an act of war. If U. S. warships should blockade Russian-held Dairen, for instance, it might easily provoke war.

Churchill's advisers say that since he and Eisenhower are old comrades from World War II during which they enjoyed an extremely close relationship, Winston may tactfully suggest that the new President should not move merely for the sake of movement, but that his moves be carefully thought out so as not to alienate this country's allies.

NOTE—It's interesting that while Eisenhower was aboard the U.S.S. Helena some of his advisers hashed over the prospect that Churchill might use his old friendship with Ike to influence policy. Churchill's hurry-up trip to New York had not been announced at that time. But even then, Ike-men worried over the intimate relationship between the two, and the persuasive influence of the prime minister.

NOTE 2—It was British hesitancy over Roosevelt's proposed naval blockade or "quarantine" in the Far East in 1936 which finally upset his attempt to stop Japanese aggression. It was also the lobbying of British and American oil companies which helped break up the League of Nations sanctions imposed on Mussolini when he invaded Ethiopia in 1935. Each postponement of a showdown, however, built up for a greater and more tragic eventual showdown with the Axis.

Farewell Luncheon

President Truman had a farewell luncheon with Democratic senators right after New Year's Day. There were moments of sadness and also moments of mirth as he said goodbye to colleagues with whom he had served and with whom he had sometimes differed.

Sen. Ernest McFarland, retiring not only as Democratic leader but as senator from Arizona, made a speech which touched his colleagues. Referring to the fact that he had been mentioned as ambassador to Mexico, McFarland said:

"I don't think the Republicans owe me anything, and I don't expect anything. I've battled them as hard as I could and have done the best job I know how. I'm going down with the team.

"When the team comes up again, I'll be there playing right guard —if they want me to."

President Truman also spoke, and got a laugh when he kidded new Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, whom Truman tried to have defeated in the Democratic primary there.

"I want to warn you, Stu," said the President, "that about 20 days from now I'll be one of your constituents. And you'd better watch out. I'm quite a letter-writer and I'm going to write you some letters."

The President also told about the Missouri senatorial race in which Symington defeated Republican Sen. James Kem, and the picture of a cow which Kem had circulated indicating that he understood farm problems.

"Kem doesn't know how to milk a cow," said the President. "The only thing he knows how to milk is a corporation."

Truman and Stalin

One piece of "unfinished business" Harry Truman may tackle after leaving the White House concerns Joe Stalin. While President of the United States, Truman cannot tee off on the Soviet dictator for Stalin's betrayal of the Potsdam agreement.

But as ex-President he is more free. And Harry is thinking seriously of taking off the protocol gloves and telling the world in general and Stalin in particular what he really thinks of him.

In a recent chat with his close friend, Joseph Keenan of the American Federation of Labor, Truman said he planned to "take it easy" for six months after leaving the White House, devote part of the vacation to a trip around the world; also promote the Truman Memorial Library in Independence.

After that, he told Keenan:

"I'm going to do some writing. I don't know how it will work out because writing isn't my long suit, but the American public hasn't been given a fair appraisal of my administration — there's still some confusion about certain matters, foreign and domestic—and I would like to get the record straight for future historians."

The President didn't elaborate, but in talks with advisers he has strongly indicated that, among other things, he would like to tell the whole, unvarnished story of the controversial Potsdam conference and Stalin's betrayal of trust. In addition, he would like to give his version of Washington "corruption" and how he was made a scapegoat by false friends.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—(INS)—More than 800 patents were granted last week by the U. S. Patent Office, including several interestings bits of flotsam and jetsam which washed up on fair Washington's beach in the wake of what must have been some pretty violent brainstorms.

Three of the items should come in handy during the installation of Ike Eisenhower and the festivities that follow. The first of these inaugural boons is a neck stretcher, a device which may sound like a hanging party but in fact is the legal inspiration of one Odette (where is thy sting?) Vaquette, of Paris. Mlle. Odette, whose patent was awarded the easily remembered number 2,623,518, claims her rack can also stretch spines.

Of the million or so who will attend the elevation of the first Republican to the White House since Hector, world's oldest mastiff was a pup, only a limited number will be able to see more than the tip of what may be the first top hat the general ever wore. January 20 will be a day that calls for stretched necks and well-spaced veterbrae in general from a great majority of the witnesses. If Mlle. Odette has her cozy rack in production by that time she'll be the richest Frenchwoman since the Statute of Liberty.

Other notable contributions to the inaugural scene, arriving none too soon at the Patent Office, are Nos. 2,623,368 and 2,623,369. At the risk of being obvious, 2,623,368 is a nonsplashing cocktail glass, the work of a Mr. Edward F. Olsen of Hillman, Mich.

Mr. Olsen's turreted Martini receptacle features a dome-shaped cover. Access to the acid is obtained via a small spout, which recalls the testing method used by an uncle of mine who was a highly respected bootlegger in Washington during the noble experiment and specialized in bonded panther brewed in tea kettles.

Mr. Olsen may be a direct and devoted lineal descendant of Andrew Volstead for all I know, but his great invention — which may one day rate with Edison's incandescent—smacks of something born of bitter lessons learned at a Washington cocktail party.

A Washington cocktail party is a snarling gang fight badly policed by a frozen-smiled hostess or a singing host. It is fought at close quarters and waged as if in personal rebuke to the Marquis of Queensberry. Enough alcohol is spilled each night in the jostling parties of the District of Columbia to float the heaviest keeled hostess in town. The combined impact of toppled drinks, if properly focussed, could punch a gaping wound in the forward turret of the U. S. S. Missouri. Introduction of the sloshproof cocktail glass will certainly be fought by Washington cleaning establishments. But we predict turrets for topers are here to stay, and that the acceptance of the spouted "spot" will be so widespread in Washington that the next eight years will produce an army of puckered-lipped politicos in the glorious capital of the U.S.A.

Least but hardly last of the most recent fruits of the endless inventiveness of the American mind is 2,623,369. It is a saucer or plate that can't be pried loose from a table, or perhaps a knee, unless the person eating from it, or an accomplice, cranks a handle which comes attached to the suction saucer. The particulars of the Patent Office announcement bring out that the handle can be concealed from crank-minded children, many of whom (around our house, at least,) have accomplices. One need not dwell on what such a dish will mean to men whose wives trick them into going to buffet dinners, or to children who will have to come up with novel ways of spilling an entire table instead of just a dish.

Matter Of Fact

WASHINGTON

No American high official has the faintest doubt that the Kremlin now knows the salient facts about the American hydrogen bomb. At this very moment, beyond question, the soviet strategists are recasting their war plans in the light of the existence of this weapon which blotted out an atoll. Equally certainly, they are also thinking of the next phase, which we should be thinking about too, when the Kremlin will have an H-bomb of its own.

In these circumstances it is ludicrous—it is downright shocking—that the facts about the H-bomb are being concealed from the American people. They can be, and have been, ascertained by the same nonsecret processes used by the Russian intelligence. And here they are.

The first point to note is that all expectations, both official and unofficial, were surpassed by the last explosion at Eniwetok. It was fairly well-known that the original aim was to build a one megaton bomb—or in other words, a bomb 50 times more powerful than the Hiroshima bomb, with an explosive power of one million tons of TNT.

There were widespread doubts that even this aim could be attained, because of the undreamed of complexity of 'the technical problems involved. Prior to the Eniwetok test, the official word was passed that the object to be exploded was not going to be a bomb at all.

It was going to be a mere "experimental mechanism" deriving most of its power from plutonium fusion, which is the power source of conventional atomic bombs. At best, it was only going to demonstrate the capabilities of hydrogen fusion, which is the quite different and infinitely more terrible power source of hydrogen bombs, as well as the source of the sun's heat that maintains life on earth.

Terrific Power

All this cautious preliminary damping-down has now turned out to be utterly misleading. As things turned out, the primitive hydrogen bomb tested at Eniwetok had an explosive force of between three and five megatons. It was between 150 and 250 times more powerful than the bomb that fell on Hiroshima. It was the equivalent of between three million and five million tons of TNT.

There is no adequate way to visualize such an explosion, in which Faustian man reproduced the very fire of life. But one can at least set down the probable effects on its target of a hydrogen bomb of this order. Let us strike an average, supposing that the bomb tested at Eniwetok had a force of four megatons. In that case, the effects of an urban target would be approximately as follows, according to expert estimates:

First, the bomb would send out lethal gamma rays, which would kill unprotected living organisms over an area of 10 square miles. But this would have no importance, since all living things so near to ground zero would be burned or blasted to death in any case.

Second, such a bomb would severely blast an area of 140 square miles, and moderately to severely blast an area of 260 square miles. In the area of severe blast, there would be total ruin. In the larger area of moderate-to-severe blast, destruction would be more capricious, with some structures totally ruined, others only moderately damaged.

Third, the fireball of the bomb would send out a heat flash sufficient to ignite combustible material, or to cause killing third degree burns on exposed skin, within an area of 300 square miles.

Primitive Model Tested

Fourth, such a bomb would certainly start one or more firestorms. These are the infernos of fire, which fan their own flames by creating their own draft, that civilized man first produced in Hamburg, and then in Hiroshima, in the last war. A fire storm destroys all living things in its path, by burning the oxygen in the air, and thus in effect strangling living organisms. The storm rages until the flames find no more fuel to feed them.

Fifth, such a bomb would contribute, in a small but quite measureable way, to rendering the earth's envelope of air noxious to the higher forms of life. This hideous process, which actually began with the Eniwetok test, must be the subject of a separate report.

It may be asked how such facts can be known without improper access to classified information. The truth is that ample data for crude but dependable calculations of the force of the Eniwetok bomb are freely available from the scientific amateurs who watch their own seismographs, possess Geiger-counters that recorded the bomb-cloud's passage around the earth in the upper air, and so on. The Soviet intelligence, with their far more formidable equipment, must know much not set forth here.

Remember, further, that this bomb tested at Eniwetok was only a primitive first model. After this test, we can no longer doubt that men can make what has been defined as "the absolute weapon"—the 10 megaton bomb, with a force of 10 million tons of TNT. Bombs larger than this, in fact, can probably be built if there is use for them. Thus the Eniwetok explosion in November radically changed the whole world we live in, and the personal situations of every one of us. And that is why the people have a right to know about these developments, although in almost every way they are too terrible, too fear-inspiring, to bear thinking about for long.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Charlie Chaplin

It was suggested to me that I go to see Charlie Chaplin's picture, "Limelight," but I could find no particular reason for adding to the little clown's fortune, even the mite that would pay for a ticket or two. The attorney general of the United States has made it clear that Chaplin will not be readmitted to the United States and, as it stands today, when he tries to come in, if he ever does, there will be a hearing and Chaplin will be asked many questions which maybe he can answer.

This fellow has been living in the United States 42 years. He came here a wandering actor and because of art, genius, ability, he has amassed many millions of dollars which he has managed to hold on to with a sort of rigor mortis.

Chaplin has lived here during two wars and a great depression and he has never shown a normal big-heartedness which is so characteristic of most rich men in this country in times of distress. In World War II, when actors and actresses risked their lives to entertain our troops, Charlie Chaplin sat it out.

I do not like what is in the record of his private life. I should not like any member of my family to imitate him. Therefore, I have instructed my children that I disapprove of him personally and that if they contribute to his wealth, it is against my principles.

Lest some smart-aleck British reporter say that to refuse to see Chaplin is to be anti-British, may I point to the fine Britishers on the American stage, such men as Bob Hope, Charles Laughton and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, who are the salt of the earth and have won the love and respect of Americans of all kinds. Bob Hope's contributions to USO will never be forgotten.

It does not matter if a Britisher wants to be loyal to his king or queen or whether he decides that, living in this country, he wishes to enter more fully into its life by becoming a citizen. Only an individual can decide that for himself. But this Chaplin has expresed contempt for the United States. He has built no record of support for American institutions but he has joined in support of pro-Russian activities.

For instance, it is difficult to find Chaplin's name in association with any American patriotic organizations because he says that he is an internationalist, but he presided as honorary chairman of the "Artists' Front to Win the War." Chaplin came to New York from Hollywood purposely to attend this meeting at Carnegie Hall, on October 16, 1942 — he who usually stayed away from meetings. He addressed the gathering as "Comrades!" He called for an immediate second front, which was Stalin's propaganda and for which we were not ready. The history of the second front propaganda is well known, I am sure, as one of the most shameless efforts of an ally to place its supporting country in an untenable position.

Chaplin praised Roosevelt not as a leader of the American people, but as "the man who released Browder," Communist leader, from prison. He praised Harry Bridges. He praised Communists as "ordinary people like ourselves, who love beauty, who love life." He added, "They say communism may spread out all over the world. And I say—so what?"

Many men and women in the motion picture industry have recognized that America is in danger and have toed the mark of loyalty under great emotional stress. Some have appeared before congressional committees to tell the truth as they knew it. Others have voluntarily given their records to the FBI. Several hundred have written letters to their employers explaining their errors. Recently such men as John Huston, Jose Ferrer, Elia Kazan, Garson Kanin and others have cleared themselves of charges and citations.

But not Charlie Chaplin. He continues his cynical course. He flouts the attorney general of the United States. His press agents give him a build-up in Europe to influence public opinion in America.

Why is he to be a privileged character? Is it because he is so rich? Is it because he is a better clown than other clowns? Surely Americans can survive without seeing any more of Charlie Chaplin.

Billiard Parlor Steward Fined

Charged with violating two city ordinances which ban gambling and gaming devices in poolrooms, William E. Coleman, 305 Virginia Avenue, was fined $70 yesterday in Police Court.

Coleman, who entered a nolo contendere plea through an attorney, was arrested December 26 by Officer Leo E. P. Law of the Detective Bureau.

The officer testified he went to a South End billiard parlor after receiving a complaint from an anonymous woman. Cards, poker chips and money were found on a table in the place and Coleman was taken into custody.

Written statements from participants in the card game were introduced as evidence. Law said the men were advised of their constitutional rights.

Coleman was described as a "steward" at the poolroom. He admitted being arrested "two or three years ago" on gaming charges.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason told police to return $2 confiscated in the raid. However, gaming paraphernalia was held.

Mrs. Cowherd Hurt

Mrs. Blanche Cowherd, 301 Decatur Street, was hurt last Wednesday in a two-car crash on Route 11, three miles north of Martinsburg. She suffered arm and leg fractures.

Authorities said Mrs. Cowherd was riding with her husband, Louis Q. Cowherd whose car was hit by another auto. Damage was estimated at $700.

Mrs. James Riley, Falling Waters, W. Va., a passenger in the machine driven by her daughter, sustained cuts and bruises. The Riley car skidded and hit Cowherd's vehicle.

Additional Suits Filed In Crash

Two more suits have been filed in Circuit Court in connection with the highway crash last August 31 between Rawlings and Cresaptown on the McMullen Highway in which five young men were fatally injured.

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., attorney for Anna Virginia Michael, widowed mother of one of the victims, Richard A. Michael, docketed the suits yesterday.

Defendants in both actions are Lewis Howard Allwine and Lewis Thomas Allwine, New Jersey, owner and driver respectively of a car which allegedly caused the crash.

The declaration states that Michael was riding in a car operated by Timothy Gilmore and that the Allwine machine was parked on the left side of the highway with its bright lights on. This confused Gilmore, it is alleged, and the crash resulted.

Mrs. Michael is asking $5,000 damages from the Allwines as the dependent mother of Richard Michael, and $1,500 for funeral expenses resulting from his death.

Willson Will Salute Times Tomorrow

Meredith Wilson will salute "The Cumberland Evening Times" on his NBC "Every Day" radio program tomorrow from 9:45 to 10 a. m. on Station WTBO.

The nationwide program originates in New York. The nature of the script has not been announced.

Mrs. Cowherd Hurt

Mrs. Blanche Cowherd, 301 Decatur Street, was hurt last Wednesday in a two-car crash on Route 11, three miles north of Martinsburg. She suffered arm and leg fractures.

Authorities said Mrs. Cowherd was riding with her husband, Louis Q. Cowherd whose car was hit by another auto. Damage was estimated at $700.

Mrs. James Riley, Falling Waters, W. Va., a passenger in the machine driven by her daughter, sustained cuts and bruises. The Riley car skidded and hit Cowherd's vehicle.

Additional Suits Filed In Crash

Two more suits have been filed in Circuit Court in connection with the highway crash last August 31 between Rawlings and Cresaptown on the McMullen Highway in which five young men were fatally injured.

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., attorney for Anna Virginia Michael, widowed mother of one of the victims, Richard A. Michael, docketed the suits yesterday.

Defendants in both actions are Lewis Howard Allwine and Lewis Thomas Allwine, New Jersey, owner and driver respectively of a car which allegedly caused the crash.

The declaration states that Michael was riding in a car operated by Timothy Gilmore and that the Allwine machine was parked on the left side of the highway with its bright lights on. This confused Gilmore, it is alleged, and the crash resulted.

Mrs. Michael is asking $5,000 damages from the Allwines as the dependent mother of Richard Michael, and $1,500 for funeral expenses resulting from his death.

Information On Gas Co. Boost Will Be Sought

KEYSER — Representatives of the engineering firm of Blundon, Snyder and Small are in Pittsburgh this week getting information to contest the claim of the Cumberland & Allegheny Gas Company, that it needs the temporary increase it has asked the West Virginia Public Service Commission for in West Virginia.

The company recently filed a claim for a temporary rate increase from consumers and the engineers seek additional information that they think will enable them to show that the company statements will not hold up.

The additional information that the engineers gather will be presented to the Public Service Commission at a special meeting set for the hearing of the rate increase request at Charleston on Friday, January 23, at which time the citizens of this area will be represented not only by the engineers, but by the following attorneys: Arnold, Crawford and Hyre, Elkins, and James H. Swadley Jr., Keyser.

In the meantime, there will be a meeting in Keyser on Monday, January 12, at which citizens are asked to attend to aid in preparing their case against the gas company. The protestants are urged by those working on the case to attend, announced Mayor Chester J. Compton yesterday.

The mayor added that in view of the fact that insufficient funds were raised in the recent fund campaign, another fund drive will be started. The mayor said that other communities in the area have been active and successful in raising funds to carry their part of the necessary expenses.

Homemaker Club At Frostburg Seats Officers

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Homemakers Club held its annual Christmas party recently in the day room of State Teachers College. Mrs. Adam Baer read a poem, "Chimneys of Peace," followed by the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Harry Morgan installed the following new officers for 1953, Mrs. John Logue, secretary, and Mrs. LaVern Kerr, vice president. Mrs. Maurice Nelson was appointed publicity chairman.

The entertainment was under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Workman, who carried out the "International Relations," theme. Mrs. George Aldom told about Christmas in France, and Mrs. Kenneth Babcock told of Christmas in New Zealand, China, Mexico, Holland, Germany and Norway. Mrs. George Griffith led carol singing and told the history of each carol.

Games were played under direction of Mrs. Walter Minnick. Mrs. Grace Mont impersonated Santa Claus and distributed jingle gifts.

Mrs. Mabel Shumaker announced that a rug hooking class will be held at Beall High School, commencing January 19. A "Home Nursing Class," will be conducted by Mrs. Noel Cook this month.

Guests present at the meeting were Mrs. Harold Jenkins, Mrs. David Jenkins, Mrs. Walter Hayes, Mrs. Edward Lavin and Mrs. Ronald Atkinson.

The January meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Allen Hager, Civilian Defense Chairman. Hostesses for the January meeting will be Mrs. Kenneth Babcock, chairman, Miss Elizabeth Workman, Mrs. Henry Yates, Mrs. Althea Yenshaw, Mrs. George Aldom, Mrs. Reford Aldridge, Mrs. Daniel Arnold, and Mrs. Adam Baer.

Engineers To Discuss Routing Of Highway

KEYSER—Engineers of the Keyser office of the West Virginia Road Commission will meet with Mayor Chester J. Compton and members of City Council today at 1 p. m., in the council chamber to reach a conclusion on the matter of the routing of the proposed U. S. Route 220 through south Keyser.

The matter has been before the two organizations at various times but they have been unable to agree on a definite plan. There is some hope that the two bodies may reach an agreement at this meeting so that preliminary work may be started as early in the spring on the preliminary work on the highway.

Apple Service Heads Testify In Price Fix

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Jan. 5 (AP)—Two directors of Appalachian Apple Service testified today they knew of no price fixing in the apple industry.

They were called as witnesses at a Federal Trade Commission hearing into charges of price fixing against Appalachian, a trade association, and five apple processing firms.

The witnesses were Richard C. McDonald, Shippensburg, a fruit grower, who is also a director of Knouse Foods Cooperative, Inc., Peach Glen, Pa., a processing firm, and Frederic E. Griest, Floradale, Adams County, a grower.

McDonald testified he was a member of a six-man growers' committee which met with a similar processors' committee in Martinsburg, W. Va., on Aug. 26, 1950. He said the growers committee presented a statement that they needed $3.50 a hundred pounds for processing apples.

"We got absolutely nothing definite out of the meeting," McDonald testified.

Griest gave similar testimony regarding the Martinsburg meeting.

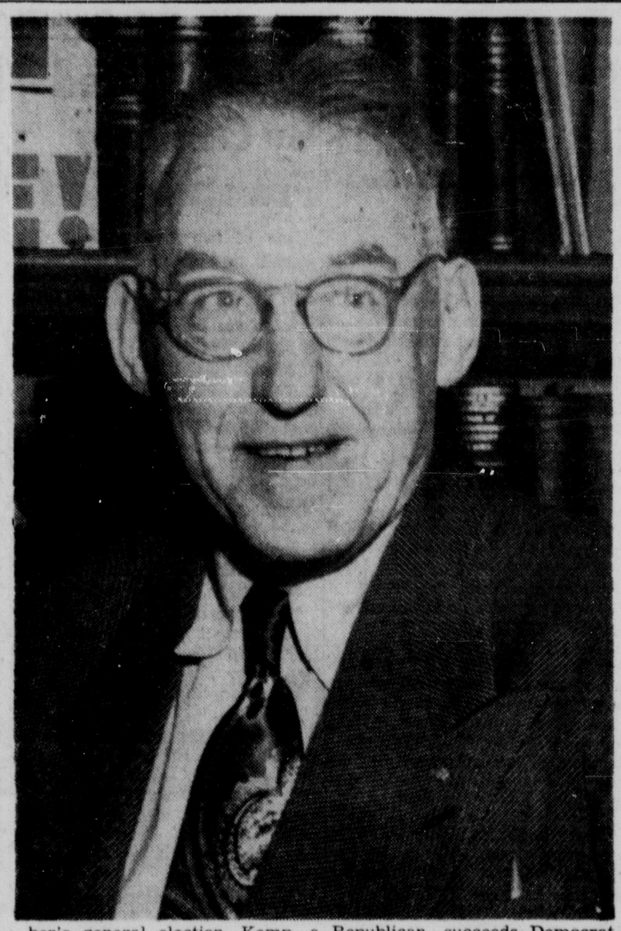

Griest was questioned about a later meeting in October of growers and processors called by Wilkie Hunt, president of the National Fruit Products Co. Winchester, Va. National Fruit also was named in the complaint.

Griest said the meeting was called because National Fruit was getting more apples then than it could handle. He said Hunt acted as a good citizen in calling the meeting in an effort to help growers merchandise their apples.

Others named in the price fixing complaint are the C. H. Mussleman Co., Biglerville, Pa.; Shenandoah Valley Apple Cider and Vinegar Corp., Winchester, Va., and Bowman Apple Products Co., Inc., Mount Jackson, Va. Applachian has headquarters in Martinsburg, W. Va.

$2,204,686 Is Spent By SRC On Pendleton County Roads

FRANKLIN — The State Road commission spent $2,204,868 on roads and highways of Pendleton County from January 1, 1949, to June 30, 1952.

Of this amount, $1,694,328 was state funds and the remaining $510,540 was Federal funds appropriated by the Bureau of Public Roads.

Secondary roads received the bulk of the funds, with the state furnishing $1,031,868 and the Federal government's share being $368,568, for a total of $1,400,436.

The primary road figures are $662,460 state funds and $141,972 of Federal grants, which amounted to $804,432.

Projects, which included snow removal and ice control, regular secondary and primary maintenance and plans, surveys and soil mechanics involving right-of-way, totaled some 55.

Costliest project was the Sugar Grove to Virginia line program, which ran to $211,421, of which the state furnished $20,000. The North Mill creek bridge and approaches cost $152,001, the Federal government helping to the tune of $141,972.

Davis Completes 12 Years As Mineral County Sheriff

KEYSER.—F. G. "Ginger" Davis retired as sheriff of Mineral County at midnight New Year's Eve after completing 12 years in office, a record equalled by only one other former sheriff.

Only Charles E. Nethken, now head of the West Virginia Public Service Commission, ever served three terms as sheriff in this county before Davis' tenure began.

Davis said, in discussing the time he has spent in the sheriff's office that it required 25 years to complete the job. He won the majority of votes in the county for the office three times when he was a candidate. Elected the first time, he served his four year tenure, and then, stepped aside for another man, because the state law does not permit a sheriff to succeed himself in the position.

After being out of office for four years he became a candidate again and was elected, and again he served four years, followed by four years out of the office, and then became a candidate for the post again. That was four years ago, and he was elected for his third term, and is now a private citizen again.

He is now on his second "furlough" of four years out of the office after 25 years of being an "in" and an "out." This time, he said, it is for good. He says he is too old to consider another campaign and will take it easy for awhile.

"I am proud," he said, "of the record I made while in the office of being able to have all state reports made up and dispatched to Charleston on time in all of the 12 years I held the office. I never had to be prodded in doing the work. I considered it a duty and I did it promptly."

At the November meeting of the Mayor and City Council, an ordinance was passed prohibiting parking on Main Street from High to Grant and Broadway Street from College Avenue to Main, during the hours of 2 to 6 a. m. The ordinance was passed in order that the snow plow will be able to clear the streets during the early morning hours.

Limestone Man Fined For Destroying Lights

KEYSER — Robert Martin, 22, Limestone, was fined $5 and costs, by Justice of the Peace Madelyn Bazzle Saturday evening, for destruction of Christmas lights on tree decorations in front of local business houses. The destruction is said to have been made after Christmas. Martin expressed his regret when arraigned and pled guilty and paid $3.40 in addition to his fine, for the loss of the light bulbs. The charge was made by the Retail Bureau of the Keyser-Mineral County Chamber of Commerce.

Robert "Tex" Lewis, 19, another young man was with Martin at the time of the breakage, but he claimed he had nothing to do with the destruction, and his case was continued to give time to get additional information.

Many other lights were destroyed, but no arrests have been made although investigations are pending.

Backing Urged In Campaign Against Polio

KEYSER — Solid backing of the 1953 March of Dimes was urged yesterday by several prominent Mineral County citizens, who stressed the huge amounts of money needed in carrying on the fight against the sharply rising threat of infantile paralysis.

Chester J. Compton, mayor of the city of Keyser, in discussing the campaign, said:

"I have been a supporter of the March of Dimes fight against infantile paralysis for a long time."

"The disastrous impact of the 1952 epidemic is still being felt throughout the nation. Only by solid support of the current March of Dimes campaign can we be assured that this fight against polio will be carried on to the fullest."

Richard E. Romig, local druggist, and president of the Keyser-Mineral County Chamber of Commerce, said:

"That March of Dimes slogan, 'You Can Help Too!' is a reminder that should not be necessary to the people of Keyser and Mineral County. Many of our boys and girls, our young men and women, have been stricken by infantile paralysis. We owe it to help and help again by contributing to the March of Dimes."

Lawrence Idleman, president of the Mineral County Farm Bureau, in endorsing the 1953 drive, said:

"Our nation has just experienced the worst polio epidemic in its history. It is ironic that just when science is making its greatest progress against the disease we are faced with an unprecedented number of cases. I urge all to join in making the March of Dimes equal to the task."

WSCS Of Barton To Meet Jan. 28

BARTON—The monthly meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service was held January 1 in the church with 15 members present.

Mrs. Leona Metz presided at the devotions and the business meeting.

Information On Gas Co. Boost Will Be Sought

KEYSER — Representatives of the engineering firm of Blundon, Snyder and Small are in Pittsburgh this week getting information to contest the claim of the Cumberland & Allegheny Gas Company, that it needs the temporary increase it has asked the West Virginia Public Service Commission for in West Virginia.

The company recently filed a claim for a temporary rate increase from consumers and the engineers seek additional information that they think will enable them to show that the company statements will not hold up.

The additional information that the engineers gather will be presented to the Public Service Commission at a special meeting set for the hearing of the rate increase request at Charleston on Friday, January 23, at which time the citizens of this area will be represented not only by the engineers, but by the following attorneys: Arnold, Crawford and Hyre, Elkins, and James H. Swadley Jr., Keyser.

In the meantime, there will be a meeting in Keyser on Monday, January 12, at which citizens are asked to attend to aid in preparing their case against the gas company. The protestants are urged by those working on the case to attend, announced Mayor Chester J. Compton yesterday.

The mayor added that in view of the fact that insufficient funds were raised in the recent fund campaign, another fund drive will be started. The mayor said that other communities in the area have been active and successful in raising funds to carry their part of the necessary expenses.

Homemaker Club At Frostburg Seats Officers

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Homemakers Club held its annual Christmas party recently in the day room of State Teachers College. Mrs. Adam Baer read a poem, "Chimneys of Peace," followed by the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Harry Morgan installed the following new officers for 1953, Mrs. John Logue, secretary, and Mrs. LaVern Kerr, vice president. Mrs. Maurice Nelson was appointed publicity chairman.

The entertainment was under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Workman, who carried out the "International Relations," theme. Mrs. George Aldom told about Christmas in France, and Mrs. Kenneth Babcock told of Christmas in New Zealand, China, Mexico, Holland, Germany and Norway. Mrs. George Griffith led carol singing and told the history of each carol.

Games were played under direction of Mrs. Walter Minnick. Mrs. Grace Mont impersonated Santa Claus and distributed jingle gifts.

Mrs. Mabel Shumaker announced that a rug hooking class will be held at Beall High School, commencing January 19. A "Home Nursing Class," will be conducted by Mrs. Noel Cook this month.

Guests present at the meeting were Mrs. Harold Jenkins, Mrs. David Jenkins, Mrs. Walter Hayes, Mrs. Edward Lavin and Mrs. Ronald Atkinson.

The January meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Allen Hager, Civilian Defense Chairman. Hostesses for the January meeting will be Mrs. Kenneth Babcock, chairman, Miss Elizabeth Workman, Mrs. Henry Yates, Mrs. Althea Yenshaw, Mrs. George Aldom, Mrs. Reford Aldridge, Mrs. Daniel Arnold, and Mrs. Adam Baer.

Engineers To Discuss Routing Of Highway

KEYSER—Engineers of the Keyser office of the West Virginia Road Commission will meet with Mayor Chester J. Compton and members of City Council today at 1 p. m., in the council chamber to reach a conclusion on the matter of the routing of the proposed U. S. Route 220 through south Keyser.

The matter has been before the two organizations at various times but they have been unable to agree on a definite plan. There is some hope that the two bodies may reach an agreement at this meeting so that preliminary work may be started as early in the spring on the preliminary work on the highway.

Apple Service Heads Testify In Price Fix

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Jan. 5 (AP)—Two directors of Appalachian Apple Service testified today they knew of no price fixing in the apple industry.

They were called as witnesses at a Federal Trade Commission hearing into charges of price fixing against Appalachian, a trade association, and five apple processing firms.

The witnesses were Richard C. McDonald, Shippensburg, a fruit grower, who is also a director of Knouse Foods Cooperative, Inc., Peach Glen, Pa., a processing firm, and Frederic E. Griest, Floradale, Adams County, a grower.

McDonald testified he was a member of a six-man growers' committee which met with a similar processors' committee in Martinsburg, W. Va., on Aug. 26, 1950. He said the growers committee presented a statement that they needed $3.50 a hundred pounds for processing apples.

"We got absolutely nothing definite out of the meeting," McDonald testified.

Griest gave similar testimony regarding the Martinsburg meeting.

Griest was questioned about a later meeting in October of growers and processors called by Wilkie Hunt, president of the National Fruit Products Co. Winchester, Va. National Fruit also was named in the complaint.

Griest said the meeting was called because National Fruit was getting more apples then than it could handle. He said Hunt acted as a good citizen in calling the meeting in an effort to help growers merchandise their apples.

Others named in the price fixing complaint are the C. H. Mussleman Co., Biglerville, Pa.; Shenandoah Valley Apple Cider and Vinegar Corp., Winchester, Va., and Bowman Apple Products Co., Inc., Mount Jackson, Va. Applachian has headquarters in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Davis Completes 12 Years As Mineral County Sheriff

KEYSER.—F. G. "Ginger" Davis retired as sheriff of Mineral County at midnight New Year's Eve after completing 12 years in office, a record equalled by only one other former sheriff.

Only Charles E. Nethken, now head of the West Virginia Public Service Commission, ever served three terms as sheriff in this county before Davis' tenure began.

Davis said, in discussing the time he has spent in the sheriff's office that it required 25 years to complete the job. He won the majority of votes in the county for the office three times when he was a candidate. Elected the first time, he served his four year tenure, and then, stepped aside for another man, because the state law does not permit a sheriff to succeed himself in the position.

After being out of office for four years he became a candidate again and was elected, and again he served four years, followed by four years out of the office, and then became a candidate for the post again. That was four years ago, and he was elected for his third term, and is now a private citizen again.

He is now on his second "furlough" of four years out of the office after 25 years of being an "in" and an "out." This time, he said, it is for good. He says he is too old to consider another campaign and will take it easy for awhile.

"I am proud," he said, "of the record I made while in the office of being able to have all state reports made up and dispatched to Charleston on time in all of the 12 years I held the office. I never had to be prodded in doing the work. I considered it a duty and I did it promptly."

$2,204,686 Is Spent By SRC On Pendleton County Roads

FRANKLIN — The State Road commission spent $2,204,868 on roads and highways of Pendleton County from January 1, 1949, to June 30, 1952.

Of this amount, $1,694,328 was state funds and the remaining $510,540 was Federal funds appropriated by the Bureau of Public Roads.

Secondary roads received the bulk of the funds, with the state furnishing $1,031,868 and the Federal government's share being $368,568, for a total of $1,400,436.

The primary road figures are $662,460 state funds and $141,972 of Federal grants, which amounted to $804,432.

Projects, which included snow removal and ice control, regular secondary and primary maintenance and plans, surveys and soil mechanics involving right-of-way, totaled some 55.

Costliest project was the Sugar Grove to Virginia line program, which ran to $211,421, of which the state furnished $20,000. The North Mill creek bridge and approaches cost $152,001, the Federal government helping to the tune of $141,972.

FROSTBURG — Police Commissioner Perry W. Meyers announced that in the case of a deep snow, the new city parking ordinance will be enforced.

At the November meeting of the Mayor and City Council, an ordinance was passed prohibiting parking on Main Street from High to Grant and Broadway Street from College Avenue to Main, during the hours of 2 to 6 a. m. The ordinance was passed in order that the snow plow will be able to clear the streets during the early morning hours.

Limestone Man Fined For Destroying Lights

KEYSER — Robert Martin, 22, Limestone, was fined $5 and costs, by Justice of the Peace Madelyn Bazzle Saturday evening, for destruction of Christmas lights on tree decorations in front of local business houses. The destruction is said to have been made after Christmas. Martin expressed his regret when arraigned and pled guilty and paid $3.40 in addition to his fine, for the loss of the light bulbs. The charge was made by the Retail Bureau of the Keyser-Mineral County Chamber of Commerce.

Robert "Tex" Lewis, 19, another young man was with Martin at the time of the breakage, but he claimed he had nothing to do with the destruction, and his case was continued to give time to get additional information.

Many other lights were destroyed, but no arrests have been made although investigations are pending.

Backing Urged In Campaign Against Polio

KEYSER — Solid backing of the 1953 March of Dimes was urged yesterday by several prominent Mineral County citizens, who stressed the huge amounts of money needed in carrying on the fight against the sharply rising threat of infantile paralysis.

Chester J. Compton, mayor of the city of Keyser, in discussing the campaign, said:

"I have been a supporter of the March of Dimes fight against infantile paralysis for a long time."

"The disastrous impact of the 1952 epidemic is still being felt throughout the nation. Only by solid support of the current March of Dimes campaign can we be assured that this fight against polio will be carried on to the fullest."

Richard E. Romig, local druggist, and president of the Keyser-Mineral County Chamber of Commerce, said:

"That March of Dimes slogan, 'You Can Help Too!' is a reminder that should not be necessary to the people of Keyser and Mineral County. Many of our boys and girls, our young men and women, have been stricken by infantile paralysis. We owe it to help and help again by contributing to the March of Dimes."

Lawrence Idleman, president of the Mineral County Farm Bureau, in endorsing the 1953 drive, said:

"Our nation has just experienced the worst polio epidemic in its history. It is ironic that just when science is making its greatest progress against the disease we are faced with an unprecedented number of cases. I urge all to join in making the March of Dimes equal to the task."

WSCS Of Barton To Meet Jan. 28

BARTON—The monthly meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service was held January 1 in the church with 15 members present.

Mrs. Leona Metz presided at the devotions and the business meeting.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5—(INS)—Bob Ryan's New Year present is a new contract at RKO. He wanted very much to go to New York to play the lead in Arthur Miller's forthcoming unnamed play, but Howard Hughes took up his option so he's remaining in Hollywood.

Bob's first picture will be "Arizona Outpost" for Eddie Grainger. Bob's had the smell of stage grease paint under his nose for a long time, but he'll be kept so busy at RKO I reckon that isn't possible.

"Arizona Outpost" goes into production as soon as the script is ready.

When Mark Robson left hurriedly for New York Saturday with his wife and three children, he merely said he was on his way to England to direct Alan Ladd in "The White Mantle."

I happen to know he will keep a date with James Michener in New York before he sails to discuss a sequel to "Return to Paradise." Gary Cooper has told Mark that he would love to do another South Sea story.

Coop is currently in Mexico with Rocky and their daughter, Maria.

Joan McCracken, now married to Bob Fosse, had one crack at Hollywood (not very successful), and may now make up her mind to attempt a movie career again. She had a big success on the stage in "Oklahoma," but didn't do as well in the movies as everyone expected.

Joan's bridegroom is being notified to report back to Hollywood this coming week. Bob's MGM bosses want to discuss a role in "The Big Leaguer," nearing the final stages of preparation.

Bob made one picture with Debbie Reynolds, "Give a Girl a Break," and it won him a contract with that studio.

When reporters and newspapermen became sick and tired of seeing themselves pictured on the screen as alcoholics and scatterbrains, they protested.

Now it's the 'phone companies up in arms about telephone operators being depicted as gum-chewing dumbells who talk with a Brooklyn accent and can never get their right number.

To correct this, a telephone supervisor, Elizabeth Stoll, is working on the sidelines of "Blue Gardenia" making sure that Anne Baxter, Ann Sothern and Jeff Donnell do right by telephone operators—those fine girls who give us such fine service and get so little credit.

The former Mrs. Colin P. Kelly has some of the courage of her late husband, who gave his life for his country in World War 2.

Mrs. Kelly, who is now Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow, has a radio program. On Monday she went to the hospital, gave birth to a long-wanted daughter (she has three sons), and was back on her program Tuesday night.

One of Mrs. Pedlow's sons is Corky Kelly, II, who was much in the news at the time of his father's death. The other two sons are Pedlow's.

Duke Wayne and Bob Fellows remained in Mexico to open the Wayne-Fellow Productions. Duke goes on to New York and then to Washington for the inauguration.

Dick Powell is toying with the idea of accepting a singing engagement in Las Vegas. If he accepts he'll appear in an act with songs he made famous.

Gottfried Reinhardt has approached Marilyn Monroe to buy back the 157 books which she acquired from the estate of his late father, Max Reinhardt.

Meanwhile, Dinah Shore flew to Palm Springs to rehearse with Eddie for his TV show on Jan. 18.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Bond Posted By Orbello; Frantz Jailed

One of two former local men picked up by police New Year's Day when they returned here to visit has been released under $5,000 bond, while the other is serving a 30-day sentence in the county jail.

Orland "Chick" Orbello, sought since the April 1952 term of court on 11 horse betting indictments, posted $5,000 bond for a hearing in Circuit Court. No date has been set for the case. He reportedly had been living in Baltimore.

Frank L. Frantz, formerly of Oak Street, who authorities said had been living in Detroit, was picked up on a warrant sent here by Baltimore police.

The warrant charges him with embezzlement of $627 from the Montebello Liquor Corporation of Baltimore. The sheriff's office said Frantz was employed by the firm at one time.

The jail sentence being served by Frantz is one imposed during the April term of Circuit Court Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris when Frantz was convicted of assaulting a taxicab driver. Frantz appealed the sentence and was released under $1,000 bond.

The appeal was later dropped and Frantz was ordered to begin serving his sentence following his arrest New Year's Day by city police. Frantz was also fined $250 by Judge Harris in connection with the assault case.

Hitchcock Position Vote Is Delayed

Possibility of a special meeting of the Mayor and Council to act on a proposal for a full-time superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company loomed yesterday.

Slated for action yesterday morning, the move to give the position to George M. Hitchcock, failed to materialize because of the absence of Mayor Roy W. Eves.

The possibility of Commissioner William J. Edwards being out of town next Monday raised the special meeting question.

Hitchcock's contract as smoke abatement engineer and water company superintendent expires January 15 and the council wants to take action before that time. Hitchcock would be hired in the full-time water job at his present $6,500 annual salary.

Small Boy Reported Hurt In Car Mishap

Six-year-old James Hudson, 232 Gleason Street, suffered left knee abrasions and a cut lip Sunday when he was struck by an auto at the intersection of Oldtown Road and Louisiana Avenue.

Police said the driver, Frenis William Hoffman, 32, of 31 Massachusetts Avenue, took the boy to Memorial Hospital for treatment. No charges were filed.

Health Nurse Protests Inadequate City Parking Space

An irate State Health Department nurse brandished a parking ticket before the Mayor and Council yesterday and said: "I refuse to pay it."

She is Miss Margaret Neumann who protested lack of parking facilities for Health Department nurses who work at offices in the Public Safety Building.

Miss Neumann said she is supposed to start work at 9 a. m. but must get downtown at 8:10 in order to find a place to park. Her car was tagged, she added, despite the fact it carried a State of Maryland official sign.

Noting that nurses are busy and cannot interrupt their work every hour to place coins in a parking meter, Miss Neumann added she could not "borrow from Peter to pay Paul."

Here she was referring to the fact that if she placed parking fines on her expense account, she would later pay for it in taxes as would other taxpayers.

She said she was speaking not only for herself but for 13 other nurses who use the Health Department office.

"They work for the community with all their heart and soul," she added, "but the department is not given the courtesy (of parking) although cars have official tags."

Commissioners William J. Edwards, acting mayor, and Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder expressed sympathy with Miss Neumann, and Mrs. Roeder explained that she had a comparable problem in her department.

Mrs. Roeder suggested, and council approved, that the council, attorney, and Police Department officials get together in an attempt to solve the problem. No date was set for the meeting.

Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long in a reply to Miss Neumann said he recognized the problem but added he is in the same category.

"I paid for a parking tag myself last week while on city business."

Miss Neumann replied that "seems silly to me since you were on city business x x x. I'm not going to pay it. I guess you're irked with me, but I'm irked with the city government."

Long said he and Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn had discussed plans for throwing yellow lines open to parking on Saturday's and Sundays when city offices around the City Hall Plaza area are closed. The yellow lines on weekdays allow motorists to stop temporarily while transacting city business.

But Miss Neumann asked "What am I going to do with this ticket?"

Long told her to appear before police magistrate today at 9 a. m. and tell him the same story as she had told the council.

When Miss Neumann replied she did not have time, Long told her to send her agent after asking her how she had time to appear at council. Miss Neumann said it cost a half-day of vacation.

"I can't afford a lawyer, sir," she said, adding the question why should she appear. Long replied that he did when he was tagged.

Miss Neumann then asked if she appeared before the magistrate and didn't pay the $1 fine, what would happen. Long said he could not answer that.

Earlier, Miss Neumann had said Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, had paid for previous tags out of his own pocket but Chief Flynn rose to correct this, saying that "Dr. Frantz does not pay for those tickets out of his own pocket."

Flynn stated nurses have 22 cars and questioned where they could be parked along with those of other city employes.

"If we gave parking to all employes who bring their cars, it would spread all over this area," Chief Flynn said in referring to the amount of space required for city cars. "There are too many cars for the spaces we have here."

Commissioner William V. Keegan asserted that in view of circumstances he believed it time for private enterprise or the city to take over parking and "end all the confusion."

B & O Officials Make Inspection Here

Three officials of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad headquarters in Baltimore made an inspection and held conferences with railroad leaders here yesterday.

The three, who arrived early yesterday morning, were H. E. Simpson, executive vice president; W. C. Baker, vice president in charge of operations; and A. C. Clark, chief engineer, who is following up improvements at the local yards.

$50 Is Donated Mishap Victim

Mrs. Louise Haines, 39, of Three Churches, W. Va., who gave birth to the first baby on New Year's Day at Memorial Hospital, will receive $50 from the members of Local 26, United Rubber Workers Union (CIO), to help defray hospital expenses.

Mrs. Haines has been a patient in the hospital since last May 3 when she was injured in a highway crash. Her husband and two others were killed in the same accident.

Members of the union, who are employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, voted the donation at a meeting Sunday night at the union hall. Mr. Haines was not a member of the union or an employe of the Kelly plant.

The Rubber Workers also presented suggestions to the contract committee on proposed changes in the pact with the company. Contract talks with the company are expected to open soon.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5—(INS)—Bob Ryan's New Year present is a new contract at RKO. He wanted very much to go to New York to play the lead in Arthur Miller's forthcoming unnamed play, but Howard Hughes took up his option so he's remaining in Hollywood.

Bob's first picture will be "Arizona Outpost" for Eddie Grainger. Bob's had the smell of stage grease paint under his nose for a long time, but he'll be kept so busy at RKO I reckon that isn't possible.

"Arizona Outpost" goes into production as soon as the script is ready.

When Mark Robson left hurriedly for New York Saturday with his wife and three children, he merely said he was on his way to England to direct Alan Ladd in "The White Mantle."

I happen to know he will keep a date with James Michener in New Yor. before he sails to discuss a sequel to "Return to Paradise." Gary Cooper has told Mark that he would love to do another South Sea story.

Coop is currently in Mexico with Rocky and their daughter, Maria.

Joan McCracken, now married to Bob Fosse, had one crack at Hollywood (not very successful), and may now make up her mind to attempt a movie career again. She had a big success on the stage in "Oklahoma," but didn't do as well in the movies as everyone expected.

Joan's bridegroom is being notified to report back to Hollywood this coming week. Bob's MGM bosses want to discuss a role in "The Big Leaguer," nearing the final stages of preparation.

Bob made one picture with Debbie Reynolds, "Give a Girl a Break," and it won him a contract with that studio.

When reporters and newspapermen became sick and tired of seeing themselves pictured on the screen as alcoholics and scatterbrains, they protested.

Now it's the 'phone companies up in arms about telephone operators being depicted as gum-chewing dumbells who talk with a Brooklyn accent and can never get their right number.

To correct this, a telephone supervisor, Elizabeth Stoll, is working on the sidelines of "Blue Gardenia" making sure that Anne Baxter, Ann Sothern and Jeff Donnell do right by telephone operators—those fine girls who give us such fine service and get so little credit.

The former Mrs. Colin P. Kelly has some of the courage of her late husband, who gave his life for his country in World War 2.

Mrs. Kelly, who is now Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow, has a radio program. On Monday she went to the hospital, gave birth to a long-wanted daughter (she has three sons), and was back on her program Tuesday night.

One of Mrs. Pedlow's sons is Corky Kelly, II, who was much in the news at the time of his father's death. The other two sons are Pedlow's.

Duke Wayne and Bob Fellows remained in Mexico to open the Wayne-Fellow Productions. Duke goes on to New York and then to Washington for the inauguration.

Dick Powell is toying with the idea of accepting a singing engagement in Las Vegas. If he accepts he'll appear in an act with songs he made famous.

Meanwhile, Dinah Shore flew to Palm Springs to rehearse with Eddie for his TV show on Jan. 18.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Bond Posted By Orbello; Frantz Jailed

One of two former local men picked up by police New Year's Day when they returned here to visit has been released under $5,000 bond, while the other is serving a 30-day sentence in the county jail.

Orland "Chick" Orbello, sought since the April 1952 term of court on 11 horse betting indictments, posted $5,000 bond for a hearing in Circuit Court. No date has been set for the case. He reportedly had been living in Baltimore.

Frank L. Frantz, formerly of Oak Street, who authorities said had been living in Detroit, was picked up on a warrant sent here by Baltimore police.

The warrant charges him with embezzlement of $627 from the Montebello Liquor Corporation of Baltimore. The sheriff's office said Frantz was employed by the firm at one time.

The jail sentence being served by Frantz is one imposed during the April term of Circuit Court Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris when Frantz was convicted of assaulting a taxicab driver. Frantz appealed the sentence and was released under $1,000 bond.

The appeal was later dropped and Frantz was ordered to begin serving his sentence following his arrest New Year's Day by city police. Frantz was also fined $250 by Judge Harris in connection with the assault case.

Hitchcock Position Vote Is Delayed

Possibility of a special meeting of the Mayor and Council to act on a proposal for a full-time superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company loomed yesterday.

Slated for action yesterday morning, the move to give the position to George M. Hitchcock, failed to materialize because of the absence of Mayor Roy W. Eves.

The possibility of Commissioner William J. Edwards being out of town next Monday raised the special meeting question.

Hitchcock's contract as smoke abatement engineer and water company superintendent expires January 15 and the council wants to take action before that time. Hitchcock would be hired in the full-time water job at his present $6,500 annual salary.

Bruce Beats Piedmont, 58-57; LaSalle Plays Fort Hill Tonight

Bobby Wilson's Goal Nets 6th Straight Win

Packed House Sees Tri-Towns Battle; 3 Ejected On Fouls

WESTERNPORT, Jan. 5—Coach Augie Eichhorn's undefeated Bruce High School floormen drew first blood in the "Battle of the Tri-Towns" tonight by nosing out Piedmont High School's Lions by the score of 58-57 before a capacity crowd of 550 at the Bruce High gym.

By winning this exciting battle Bruce extended its victory streak to six games. The return game is set for January 30 in Piedmont.

Bruce jumped off to a 12-7 lead in the opening period but at intermission the teams were deadlocked at 23-23. In the third stanza the home team forged in front by seven points, 46-39.

Coach William "Huck" Miers' West Virginia quint came back with a bang in the fourth quarter to tie it up at 50-all. After a 52-52 tie, Piedmont forged to the fore on a field and foul goal only to have two foul goals by Jim Cave and one by Gene Biggs stalemate the count at 55-55.

Wilson's Goal Decides

Harry Foreman's free throw sent Bruce ahead by a point. After Piedmont missed a free throw following a technical foul, Bobby Wilson stole the ball and scored what proved to be the winning basket. With five seconds remaining, Bobby Bateson of Piedmont swiped the ball and banged in a fielder to conclude the scoring.

Piedmont outscored Bruce from the field, 20 to 18 baskets, but Eichhorn's aggregation meshed 22 of 44 free throws compared to 17 out of 31 for the Lions.

Twenty-eight personal fouls were plastered on Piedmont while 19 were called on the victors. Three players made their exit via personals. Tommy Miller of Piedmont went out in the third period and Mike Nofsinger and Dave Marple of Bruce were ejected late in the final quarter.

Bobby Wilson led the firing for Bruce with seven baskets and 15 points. Jim Cave with 9 out of 16 at the foul line racked up 13 points and Biggs with 6-12 at the charity stripe contributed 10 tallies.

Niland Scores 22 Points

Bobby Niland was the "big gun" for Piedmont with eight baskets. 6 out of 12 at the foul line and a total of 22 points.

The loss was Piedmont's fourth against three victories.

In tonight's prelim, Piedmont High's Jayvees defeated Bruce, 25-17. Lineups:

The Hi Dee Club scored a 2-1 victory over the Woodmen of the World last night in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League. Tyler was high for Hi Dee with 19 points. R. Gutheridge led WOW with 21.

WMI Cage League To Open 33rd Campaign On Friday

Allegany, Defending Champ, Has Won 18 Titles; Local Teams On Top 25 Times In Last 26 Years

The Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League will launch its thirty-third season Friday night.

Openers in the six-school circuit are Bruce at Beall, Central at Fort Hill and Barton at Allegany.

Allegany, defending champion, has won 18 of the 32 titles, and Fort Hill has been returned the winner five times.

Only once in the last 26 years has a school outside of Cumberland won a championship. That was Central of Lonaconing in 1943, following a playoff with Allegany. Since the league started eight playoffs were necessary to determine championships.

Maryland Wins Over Virginia

Terps Top Cavaliers For 2nd Time, 59-56

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Jan. 5 (AP)—Maryland's Terps staved off a last ditch Virginia rally in the closing moments here tonight to whip the Cavaliers, 59-56.

Maryland, behind only once in the game but never ahead by more than 11 points, led by eight points going into the final period. But the Cavaliers shaved the lead to one point, at 57-56, with little more than a minute remaining.

The Terps steadied just long enough to preserve their second victory of the season over the Cavaliers.

Gene Shue provided Maryland two insurance points when he sank a layup with 35 seconds remaining but it was Bob Everett, a reserve center, who kept the visitors ahead with his free throw shooting in the fourth quarter and hung up 13 points in all.

Shue, star of the Maryland cast, made 20 points to top the night's scoring. Wilkinson had 18 for Virginia.

Edelman Posts 29th Straight

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (INS)—Philadelphia middleweight Marvin Edelman recorded his 29th straight victory tonight when he won a unanimous ten-round decision over Charley "Red" Williams of Newark, N. J., at Eastern Parkway Arena.

Edelman weighed 159½. Williams scaled 155.

Mangrum Cops Los Angeles Open Tourney

Lloyd Wins $2,750 With Score Of 280; Burke Is Runner-up

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5 (AP) — Sharp-shooter Lloyd Mangrum captured the $20,000 Los Angeles Open golf crown for the third time in his illustrious career today when he scored a one under par 70 for a 72-hole total of 280.

Lloyd Mangrum

Mangrum wound up the full route four strokes under par. It matched his winning score in 1951 and was four shots under his triumphant total in 1949.

Victory Worth $2,750

He whipped the field by five strokes and more in his drive to pick up the winner's check of $2,750.

The scene was the Riviera Country Club — 7,020 yards with par 35-36—71.

Second place went to young Jack Burke Jr. of Houston, whose 70 today added to 70-75-70 gave him 285 and $1,900 prize money.

Mangrum, Texas born, a resident here but who plays out of Tam O'Shanter in Niles, Ill., captured the lead in the first round of play last Friday, was within one shot of the lead at the midway mark, and yesterday he forged back to take a solid five stroke margin over his nearest rivals.

They were Burke and Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa.

The other vague threats, Harry Bassler of Culver City, Calif., and Milon Marusic of Herkimer, N. Y., were within six blows of Mangrum teeing off, but they soon faded back into the also-ran company.

Bassler tied at 289 with Zell Eaton, Montebello, Calif., and Johnny Bulla, Verona, Pa. each won $1,366.66.

Wall Wins $1,000

Wall, 28, former Duke University player, fell back with a 75 for 290, but the $1,000 consolation was the most he'd ever won in a single tournament.

NCAA Announces Sites For Meets

Television Committee To Start Work Today

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association today picked the sites for eight of its national championships, but reached no final decision on three of its more important meets: track, baseball and swimming.

The NCAA is beginning a six-day meeting here, a meeting in which the most controversial issue is expected to be: How much college football should be given the television audience?

The Television Committee starts work tomorrow behind closed doors, with two all-day sessions scheduled.

The Executive Committee, headed by the NCAA President, Hugh C. Willett of the University of Southern California, named these tournament sites and dates:

Tennis — Syracuse University, June 22-27.

Golf — Colorado College, June 21-27.

Crosscountry — Michigan State, Nov. 23.

Boxing — Idaho State, April 9, 10, 11.

Ice hockey — Colorado College, March 12-14.

Wrestling — Penn State, March 27-28.

Gymnastics — Syracuse, March 27-28.

The basketball dates had been announced earlier. The NCAA basketball finals will be played in Kansas City March 17-18.

Rec League Results

Jewell's defeated SS. Peter and Paul, 31-25, and Gehauf's downed Keech's, 39-29, in City Recreation Basketball League games played last night at Allegany High School.

At Fort Hill, Allegany Ballistics Lab won over Cunningham's, 41-38.

Boxing Manager Dies — Class A Enrollments — Mad-Atlantic Echoes — A Wrench For "Bunny"

By C. V. BURNS

One of Cumberland's best known boxing managers of yesteryear passed on when Henry Logan (Doc) McGee, 59, died yesterday following a heart attack while being taken to Memorial Hospital.

"Doc" was the first manager of Albert "Bobby" Greene, the left-hooking local welterweight who was active in local shows from 1917 to 1930. Frank McGee, a brother of "Doc's" later managed the local boxer. The McGees were brothers-in-law of Greene.

Bobby fought his first fight under "Doc" McGee in the old Star Theatre on Virginia Avenue in 1917. The McGees were in Greene's corner for all his bouts, including those thrillers with Patsy Gainer and K. O. Yutzy.

Final rites for "Doc" McGee will be conducted in St. Mary's Church Thursday morning. Interment will be in SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery.

Jimmy Torr, Johnstown sports writer, the other day surmised that Elmer Daily would like to head another baseball league in the new year but he concluded "there never will be another like the dear old Mad-Atlantic." George S. Cooper, veteran Johnstown sports scribe agrees.

"As long as they live, district baseball fans will fondly remember the Middle Atlantic League," Cooper writes. "Not the Middle Atlantic of the post-war period. That was only a name and a shell left from the old Mad-Atlantic which plied in about two dozen towns and four or five states in the golden 1920s and the hectic 1930s.

"Those were the days when Joe Cronin was a 17-year-old rookie; when Joe Medwick was a wild-swinging youngster operating under the pseudonym of "King"; when Mike Ryba was a one-man team at Scottdale and when Old Chief Bender was still a pretty good pitcher.

"And what colorful characters! There was slippery Jim McGuire of Cumberland. And griping "Greasy" Neale of Clarksburg. And Sloppy Joe Phillips who managed Cumberland, Jeannette and Fairmont. And Jumping Joe Cambria who started a team in Hagerstown that wound up in Youngstown, Ohio. Wiley Watt Powell of the Charleston Senators. And ebullient Eddie Dyer, Scottdale leader. And bluff Dennis O'Keefe, the umpire. And staunch John "Scissors" McIlvain. And Fearless Fred Doringer of Fairmont. And a whole host of salty, hard-bitten baseball bugs who battled with and against each other in making the old Mad-Atlantic tick.

"New and better baseball league may some day rise from the ashes of the Middle Atlantic. Who knows? But no setup ever will duplicate the joys and the sorrows, the headaches and the heart throbs, the comedy and the pathos, the brilliance and the stupidity of the long train of baseball happenings that comprised history of the old Mad-Atlantic.

"Some of the above-listed baseball characters are dead. Some of them are still active in one phase or another of sports, while others have retired.

"So, if the old M. A. ever is reincarnated it will be by a new generation of ballplayers, umpires and front-office promoters. Even Mr. Daily, steeped as he is in baseball, probably would hesitate to accept leadership of a new league. That would be especially true if it involved pounding the pavements of a dozen different towns in quest of dimes and dollars for ailing clubs, as was Daily's custom 20 years ago."

Which of the Class "A" schools in Western Maryland has the largest enrollment?

This question often has been asked during a sports argument when the size of the various schools in state tournament play are compared.

In preparation for the Class A, B and C basketball tournaments which get under way in March, Arthur G. Ramey has prepared some interesting figures that should settle the above and other arguments.

There are six Class A schools (over 350 enrollment) in District No. 1, comprising the counties of Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Allegany.

Hagerstown has the largest enrollment with 1,443 in the three senior high classes. Frederick is second with 885 followed by Fort Hill with 855, Allegany 680, Beall 507 and Southern of Oakland 377.

Northwestern High of Hyattsville has the largest enrollment of the state's 24 Class A schools outside of Baltimore City—a total of 1,674.

Montgomery Blair High of Silver Spring, which plays Allegany in football, is second with 1,652 followed by Hagerstown and Bethesda-hCevy Chase which has 1,413. Fort Hill is 10th on the state list and Allegany is 14th. Oakland is 24th and last.

Honey Russell, an old pro star back in the days when New York's Original Celtics, Kingston, Camden, the Brooklyn Visitations, Philadelphia SPHAS, Palace Laundry Five of Washington and the Fort Wayne K. of C., were big names in the basketball firmament, is the successful coach of the current Seton Hall quint of New Jersey, now near the top of the national rankings.

And Harry "Buddy" Jeannette, another former pro ace of recent years, has gotten off to a fine start as head coach at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C.

Pennsylvania issued 8,432 permits to bow and arrow hunters in 1952, which is an increase of 2,982 over the previous year.

They bagged only twenty deer compared to the 31 slain in 1951.

Saigh Believes Stan Highest Paid Player

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—Stan "The Man" Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, whose lifetime batting average of .346 is almost 30 points higher than any other active big league player, signed his 1953 contract today for a reported $80,000.

"I think you can assume Stanley is still the highest paid player in baseball," Cardinal owner Fred Saigh told a news conference.

Neither Saigh nor Musial would disclose terms of the one-year contract, but it was believed to call for about the same salary and bonus arrangement Musial received last year.

"I told him the figure and that was it," Musial said. "I am well satisfied — which means I didn't take a cut."

Chancellors Win 3-0 In K. C. Loop Opener

The Chancellors won three games from the Guards and the Recorders took two out of three games from the Grand Knights last night as the second half championship race of the Knights of Columbus Bowling League got under way on the Club Recreation alleys.

High man of the evening was Tom McGeady with a 216-492. Other high scorers were turned in by Harold Wagner of the Guards who posted a 427, Donald Palmer and Paul Stakem of the Recorders with 451 each and Benny LaNeve of the Grand Knights with 422. The standings:

IBC Will Televise Two 6-Round Bouts

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (AP)—Two six-round bouts, rather than a 10-round main event, will be televised nationally by the International Boxing Club on Jan. 28 to begin a new TV policy.

The IBC plans to telecast a pair of six-rounders once a month.

"The idea is to develop new major fistic talent," said Truman Gibson, IBC secretary, today. "It will give the TV public some new faces to watch."

Hoover Is Sought For IBC Presidency

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (INS)—The International Boxing Club confirmed today it is seeking FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover to succeed Jim Norris as president at a salary assertedly set at $100,000 a year for ten years.

Hoover himself had no comment on the report first unwrapped by newscaster Walter Winchell on television last night. Viewers said Winchell made it clear Hoover would not accept, but people at the IBC talked as though they still had a chance of landing him.

Two Matches Listed

The Alhambra Club shuffleboard team will engage in two league matches this week, meeting the Woodmen of the World Wednesday and the Hi Dee Club Friday. Both matches are scheduled for the K. of C. Home at 8:30 o'clock.

Chisox Sign Pair

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (INS) — The Chicago White Sox announced today the signing to 1953 baseball contracts of relief pitcher Luis Aloma and third baseman Hector Rodriguez.

Their signing brings to 18 the number of White Sox now in the contract fold.

Hawks Battle Camper Quint At Ridgeley

Undefeated Romney, Petersburg To Meet In PVC Feature Tilt

LaSalle High School's 34th basketball engagement with Fort Hill's Sentinels tops tonight's card in the tri-state area.

Victorious over Allegany last Friday, 56-51, in the first intra-city test of the season, the Explorers of Art Slocum will be shooting for their fifth consecutive win. LaSalle's record to date is 4-2.

Fort Hill goes to SS. Peter and Paul gym hopeful of extending its winning streak over LaSalle to 11 games. The Sentinels have made a clean sweep of this annual series since 1945. Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Hilltoppers have a 2-4 record for the season. Three of their setbacks were very close games.

Game Starts At 8 O'clock

Tonight's main game is set for 8 o'clock. The Fort Hill and LaSalle Jayvees tangle at 6:45.

Jolted in their past two games by LaSalle and Westmont of Johnstown, Pa., Allegany hopes to get back on the winning track when it plays Ridgeley High on the Ridgeley court tonight at 8.

In another Allegany County game, Central of Lonaconing (6-2) plays at Mt. Savage High School (1-6).

Unbeaten PVC Teams Meet

Two undefeated PVC teams are slated to tangle tonight when Romney High (4-0) hosts the Petersburg Vikings (2-0). Moorefield's Yellow Jackets, tied with Romney for first place at 4-0, invades Mathias High tonight. Other conference games find Circleville at Davis, Elk Garden at Fort Ashby and Wardensville at Franklin.

Here are the other games on the Tuesday night slate:

Bobby Wilson's Goal Nets 6th Straight Win

Packed House Sees Tri-Towns Battle; 3 Ejected On Fouls

WESTERNPORT, Jan. 5—Coach Augie Eichhorn's undefeated Bruce High School floormen drew first blood in the "Battle of the Tri-Towns" tonight by nosing out Piedmont High School's Lions by the score of 58-57 before a capacity crowd of 550 at the Bruce High gym.

By winning this exciting battle Bruce extended its victory streak to six games. The return game is set for January 30 in Piedmont.

Bruce jumped off to a 12-7 lead in the opening period but at intermission the teams were deadlocked at 23-23. In the third stanza the home team forged in front by seven points, 46-39.

Coach William "Huck" Miers' West Virginia quint came back with a bang in the fourth quarter to tie it up at 50-all. After a 52-52 tie, Piedmont forged to the fore on a field and foul goal only to have two foul goals by Jim Cave and one by Gene Biggs stalemate the count at 55-55.

Wilson's Goal Decides

Harry Foreman's free throw sent Bruce ahead by a point. After Piedmont missed a free throw following a technical foul, Bobby Wilson stole the ball and scored what proved to be the winning basket. With five seconds remaining, Bobby Bateson of Piedmont swiped the ball and banged in a fielder to conclude the scoring.

Piedmont outscored Bruce from the field, 20 to 18 baskets, but Eichhorn's aggregation meshed 22 of 44 free throws compared to 17 out of 31 for the Lions.

Twenty-eight personal fouls were plastered on Piedmont while 19 were called on the victors. Three players made their exit via personals. Tommy Miller of Piedmont went out in the third period and Mike Nofsinger and Dave Marple of Bruce were ejected late in the final quarter.

Bobby Wilson led the firing for Bruce with seven baskets and 15 points. Jim Cave with 9 out of 16 at the foul line racked up 13 points and Biggs with 6-12 at the charity stripe contributed 10 tallies.

Niland Scores 22 Points

Bobby Niland was the "big gun" for Piedmont with eight baskets, 6 out of 12 at the foul line and a total of 22 points.

The loss was Piedmont's fourth against three victories.

"Hopalong" Cassidy, Grid Star, Elopes

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 5 (AP) — Howard "Hopalong" Cassidy, freshman football star at Ohio State University eloped with his high school sweetheart Saturday, it was learned today.

Cassidy and Betty Gehring, both 19, told their parents in Columbus they were driving to Cardington, O., to see a friend. Instead they went to Richmond, Ind., with Pvt. Ralph Coleman, a friend of Cassidy's, and were married in the First Lutheran Church.

Hi Dee Club Wins

The Hi Dee Club scored a 2-1 victory over the Woodmen of the World last night in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League. Tyler was high for Hi Dee with 19 points. R. Gutheridge led WOW with 21.

WMI Cage League To Open 33rd Campaign On Friday

Allegany, Defending Champ, Has Won 18 Titles; Local Teams On Top 25 Times In Last 26 Years

The Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League will launch its thirty-third season Friday night.

Openers in the six-school circuit are Bruce at Beall, Central at Fort Hill and Barton at Allegany.

Allegany, defending champion, has won 18 of the 32 titles, and Fort Hill has been returned the winner five times.

Only once in the last 26 years has a school outside of Cumberland won a championship. That was Central of Lonaconing in 1943, following a playoff with Allegany. Since the league started eight playoffs were necessary to determine championships.

Maryland Wins Over Virginia

Terps Top Cavaliers For 2nd Time, 59-56

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Jan. 5 (AP)—Maryland's Terps staved off a last ditch Virginia rally in the closing moments here tonight to whip the Cavaliers, 59-56.

Maryland, behind only once in the game but never ahead by more than 11 points, led by eight points going into the final period. But the Cavaliers shaved the lead to one point, at 57-56, with little more than a minute remaining.

The Terps steadied just long enough to preserve their second victory of the season over the Cavaliers.

Gene Shue provided Maryland two insurance points when he sank a layup with 35 seconds remaining but it was Bob Everett, a reserve center, who kept the visitors ahead with his free throw shooting in the fourth quarter and hung up 13 points in all.

Edelman Posts 29th Straight

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (INS)—Philadelphia middleweight Marvin Edelman recorded his 29th straight victory tonight when he won a unanimous ten-round decision over Charley "Red" Williams of Newark, N. J., at Eastern Parkway Arena.

Edelman weighed 159½. Williams scaled 155.

Mangrum Cops Los Angeles Open Tourney

Lloyd Wins $2,750 With Score Of 280; Burke Is Runner-up

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5 (AP) — Sharp-shooter Lloyd Mangrum captured the $20,000 Los Angeles Open golf crown for the third time in his illustrious career today when he scored a one under par 70 for a 72-hole total of 280.

Lloyd Mangrum

Mangrum wound up the full route four strokes under par. It matched his winning score in 1951 and was four shots under his triumphant total in 1949.

Victory Worth $2,750

He whipped the field by five strokes and more in his drive to pick up the winner's check of $2,750.

The scene was the Riviera Country Club — 7,020 yards with par 35-36—71.

Second place went to young Jack Burke Jr. of Houston, whose 70 today added to 70-75-70 gave him 285 and $1,900 prize money.

Mangrum, Texas born, a resident here but who plays out of Tam O'Shanter in Niles, Ill., captured the lead in the first round of play last Friday, was within one shot of the lead at the midway mark, and yesterday he forged back to take a solid five stroke margin over his nearest rivals.

They were Burke and Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa.

The other vague threats, Harry Bassler of Culver City, Calif., and Milon Marusic of Herkimer, N. Y., were within six blows of Mangrum teeing off, but they soon faded back into the also-ran company.

Bassler tied at 289 with Zell Eaton, Montebello, Calif., and Johnny Bulla, Verona, Pa. each won $1,366.66.

Wall Wins $1,000

Wall, 28, former Duke University player, fell back with a 75 for 290, but the $1,000 consolation was the most he'd ever won in a single tournament.

NCAA Announces Sites For Meets

Television Committee To Start Work Today

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association today picked the sites for eight of its national championships, but reached no final decision on three of its more important meets: track, baseball and swimming.

The NCAA is beginning a six-day meeting here, a meeting in which the most controversial issue is expected to be: How much college football should be given the television audience?

The Television Committee starts work tomorrow behind closed doors, with two all-day sessions scheduled.

The Executive Committee, headed by the NCAA President, Hugh C. Willett of the University of Southern California, named these tournament sites and dates:

Tennis — Syracuse University, June 22-27.

Golf — Colorado College, June 21-27.

Crosscountry — Michigan State, Nov. 23.

Boxing — Idaho State, April 9, 10, 11.

Ice hockey — Colorado College, March 12-14.

Wrestling — Penn State, March 27-28.

Gymnastics — Syracuse, March 27-28.

The basketball dates had been announced earlier. The NCAA basketball finals will be played in Kansas City March 17-18.

Rec League Results

At Fort Hill, Allegany Ballistics Lab won over Cunningham's, 41-38.

Boxing Manager Dies — Class A Enrollments

Mad-Atlantic Echoes — A Wrench For "Bunny"

By C. V. BURNS

One of Cumberland's best known boxing managers of yesteryear passed on when Henry Logan (Doc) McGee, 59, died yesterday following a heart attack while being taken to Memorial Hospital.

"Doc" was the first manager of Albert "Bobby" Greene, the left-hooking local welterweight who was active in local shows from 1917 to 1930. Frank McGee, a brother of "Doc's" later managed the local boxer. The McGees were brothers-in-law of Greene.

Bobby fought his first fight under "Doc" McGee in the old Star Theatre on Virginia Avenue in 1917. The McGees were in Greene's corner for all his bouts, including those thrillers with Patsy Gainer and K. O. Yutzy.

Final rites for "Doc" McGee will be conducted in St. Mary's Church Thursday morning. Interment will be in SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery.

Jimmy Torr, Johnstown sports writer, the other day surmised that Elmer Daily would like to head another baseball league in the new year but he concluded "there never will be another like the dear old Mad-Atlantic." George S. Cooper, veteran Johnstown sports scribe agrees.

"As long as they live, district baseball fans will fondly remember the Middle Atlantic League," Cooper writes. "Not the Middle Atlantic of the post-war period. That was only a name and a shell left from the old Mad-Atlantic which plied in about two dozen towns and four or five states in the golden 1920s and the hectic 1930s.

"Those were the days when Joe Cronin was a 17-year-old rookie; when Joe Medwick was a wild-swinging youngster operating under the pseudonym of "King"; when Mike Ryba was a one-man team at Scottdale and when Old Chief Bender was still a pretty good pitcher.

"And what colorful characters! There was slippery Jim McGuire of Cumberland. And griping "Greasy" Neale of Clarksburg. And Sloppy Joe Phillips who managed Cumberland, Jeannette and Fairmont. And Jumping Joe Cambria who started a team in Hagerstown that wound up in Youngstown, Ohio. Wiley Watt Powell of the Charleston Senators. And ebullient Eddie Dyer, Scottdale leader. And bluff Dennis O'Keefe, the umpire. And staunch John "Scissors" McIlvain. And Fearless Fred Doringer of Fairmont. And a whole host of salty, hard-bitten baseball bugs who battled with and against each other in making the old Mad-Atlantic tick.

"New and better baseball league may some day rise from the ashes of the Middle Atlantic. Who knows? But no setup ever will duplicate the joys and the sorrows, the headaches and the heart throbs, the comedy and the pathos, the brilliance and the stupidity of the long train of baseball happenings that comprised history of the old Mad-Atlantic.

"Some of the above-listed baseball characters are dead. Some of them are still active in one phase or another of sports, while others have retired.

"So, if the old M. A. ever is reincarnated it will be by a new generation of ballplayers, umpires and front-office promoters. Even Mr. Daily, steeped as he is in baseball, probably would hesitate to accept leadership of a new league. That would be especially true if it involved pounding the pavements of a dozen different towns in quest of dimes and dollars for ailing clubs, as was Daily's custom 20 years ago."

Which of the Class "A" schools in Western Maryland has the largest enrollment?

This question often has been asked during a sports argument when the size of the various schools in state tournament play are compared.

In preparation for the Class A, B and C basketball tournaments which get under way in March, Arthur G. Ramey has prepared some interesting figures that should settle the above and other arguments.

There are six Class A schools (over 350 enrollment) in District No. 1, comprising the counties of Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Allegany.

Hagerstown has the largest enrollment with 1,443 in the three senior high classes. Frederick is second with 885 followed by Fort Hill with 855, Allegany 680, Beall 507 and Southern of Oakland 377.

Northwestern High of Hyattsville has the largest enrollment of the state's 24 Class A schools outside of Baltimore City—a total of 1,674.

Montgomery Blair High of Silver Spring, which plays Allegany in football, is second with 1,652 followed by Hagerstown and Bethesda-hCevy Chase which has 1,413. Fort Hill is 10th on the state list and Allegany is 14th. Oakland is 24th and last.

Honey Russell, an old pro star back in the days when New York's Original Celtics, Kingston, Camden, the Brooklyn Visitations, Philadelphia SPHAS, Palace Laundry Five of Washington and the Fort Wayne K. of C., were big names in the basketball firmament, is the successful coach of the current Seton Hall quint of New Jersey, now near the top of the national rankings.

And Harry "Buddy" Jeannette, another former pro ace of recent years, has gotten off to a fine start as head coach at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C.

Pennsylvania issued 8,432 permits to bow and arrow hunters in 1952, which is an increase of 2,982 over the previous year.

They bagged only twenty deer compared to the 31 slain in 1951.

The Pittsburgh Press sports department lists among the things it would like to see in 1953:

Saigh Believes Stan Highest Paid Player

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—Stan "The Man" Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, whose lifetime batting average of .346 is almost 30 points higher than any other active big league player, signed his 1953 contract today for a reported $80,000.

"I think you can assume Stanley is still the highest paid player in baseball," Cardinal owner Fred Saigh told a news conference.

Neither Saigh nor Musial would disclose terms of the one-year contract, but it was believed to call for about the same salary and bonus arrangement Musial received last year.

"I told him the figure and that was it," Musial said. "I am well satisfied — which means I didn't take a cut."

Chancellors Win 3-0 In K. C. Loop Opener

The Chancellors won three games from the Guards and the Recorders took two out of three games from the Grand Knights last night as the second half championship race of the Knights of Columbus Bowling League got under way on the Club Recreation alleys.

High man of the evening was Tom McGeady with a 216-492. Other high scorers were turned in by Harold Wagner of the Guards who posted a 427, Donald Palmer and Paul Stakem of the Recorders with 451 each and Benny LaNeve of the Grand Knights with 422. The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Chancellors	3	0	1.000
Recorders	2	1	.667
Grand Knights	1	2	.333
Guards	0	3	.000

Rec Game Postponed

The City Rec Basketball League game scheduled tonight between Lapp's and the Amvets at Fort Hill has been postponed by mutual agreement to enable the players to witness the LaSalle-Fort Hill game.

Hawks Battle Camper Quint At Ridgeley

Undefeated Romney, Petersburg To Meet In PVC Feature Tilt

LaSalle High School's 34th basketball engagement with Fort Hill's Sentinels tops tonight's card in the tri-state area.

Victorious over Allegany last Friday, 56-51, in the first intra-city test of the season, the Explorers of Art Slocum will be shooting for their fifth consecutive win. LaSalle's record to date is 4-2.

Fort Hill goes to SS. Peter and Paul gym hopeful of extending its winning streak over LaSalle to 11 games. The Sentinels have made a clean sweep of this annual series since 1945. Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Hilltoppers have a 2-4 record for the season. Three of their setbacks were very close games.

Game Starts At 8 O'clock

Tonight's main game is set for 8 o'clock. The Fort Hill and LaSalle Jayvees tangle at 6:45.

Jolted in their past two games by LaSalle and Westmont of Johnstown, Pa., Allegany hopes to get back on the winning track when it plays Ridgeley High on the Ridgeley court tonight at 8.

In another Allegany County game, Central of Lonaconing (6-2) plays at Mt. Savage High School (1-6).

Unbeaten PVC Teams Meet

Two undefeated PVC teams are slated to tangle tonight when Romney High (4-0) hosts the Petersburg Vikings (2-0). Moorefield's Yellow Jackets, tied with Romney for first place at 4-0, invades Mathias High tonight. Other conference games find Circleville at Davis, Elk Garden at Fort Ashby and Wardensville at Franklin.

Here are the other games on the Tuesday night slate:

IBC Will Televise Two 6-Round Bouts

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (AP)—Two six-round bouts, rather than a 10-round main event, will be televised nationally by the International Boxing Club on Jan. 28 to begin a new TV policy.

The IBC plans to telecast a pair of six-rounders once a month.

"The idea is to develop new major fistic talent," said Truman Gibson, IBC secretary, today. "It will give the TV public some new faces to watch."

Hoover Is Sought For IBC Presidency

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (INS)—The International Boxing Club confirmed today it is seeking FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover to succeed Jim Norris as president at a salary assertedly set at $100,000 a year for ten years.

Hoover himself had no comment on the report first unwrapped by newscaster Walter Winchell on television last night. Viewers said Winchell made it clear Hoover would not accept, but people at the IBC talked as though they still had a chance of landing him.

Two Matches Listed

The Alhambra Club shuffleboard team will engage in two league matches this week, meeting the Woodmen of the World Wednesday and the Hi Dee Club Friday. Both matches are scheduled for the K. of C. Home at 8:30 o'clock.

Chisox Sign Pair

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (INS) — The Chicago White Sox announced today the signing to 1953 baseball contracts of relief pitcher Luis Aloma and third baseman Hector Rodriguez.

Their signing brings to 18 the number of White Sox now in the contract fold.

Kansas State Sets Pace In AP Cage Poll

Seton Hall Retains 2nd Place; LaSalle Is 3rd, Illinois 4th

By RIP WATSON

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Kansas State widened its lead in the Associated Press basketball poll today, pulling away from runner-up Seton Hall to take the No. 1 post for the second straight week.

Kansas State, beaten only once in eight games, was voted the top spot by 31 of the 101 sportswriters and broadcasters across the country participating in the poll. Its rousing victory in the Big Seven Tournament solidified the backing for State.

The K-Staters piled up 758 points on the usual basis of 10 points for first, nine for second and so forth. Seton Hall, which trailed Kansas State by a slim five points last week, was voted tops by 10 writers and finished with 647 points. The New Jersey team has won 13 straight, longest streak of the season among major college teams.

LaSalle Is Third

LaSalle's once-beaten team, which led the poll the first two weeks only to drop down to third last week, placed in the No. 3 spot again, with Illinois holding fourth place. The Illini, like LaSalle the losers of only one game, piled up 525 points without a single first place vote.

Oklahoma A & M, winner of the All-College Tourney at Oklahoma City, climbed two notches to fifth, shoving Washington down to sixth. Then it was Indiana, up five places to seventh; unbeaten Fordham eighth after finishing with the alsorans last week; and North Carolina State, up three places to ninth on the strength of its Dixie Classic victory.

Western Kentucky retained the 10th position despite a loss to Idaho in the first round of the All-College Tourney.

Holy Cross Is Ousted

Those ousted from the select group were Holy Cross, which fell fro msixth to 14th; Tulsa, eighth to 17th and Minnesota, ninth to 19th. None could complain at their decline from power, however, as the three lost two games apiece.

The leaders with points based on 10 for first place, nine for second, etc. season records — through Saturday night — and first place votes in parentheses:

FIRST TEN
1—Kansas State 7-1, 31	758
2—Seton Hall 13-0, 20	647
3—LaSalle 11-1, 17	623

16—Seattle 9-2, 1	66
17—Tulsa 9-2	59
18—Idaho 6-4	56
19—Minnesota 5-2	47
20—California 5-4	39

Others receiving votes included: Brigham Young, Kansas, Georgetown, Oklahoma City, UCLA, DePaul, St. Louis, Manhattan, Michigan State, George Washington, Villanova, Utah State, Wake Forest, Eastern Kentucky, Marshall, St. Bonaventure, Murray Ky., Duquesne, Colorado, Wichita, Dayton, St. John's Brooklyn, Southern Methodist, Wyoming and Loyola Chicago.

Women's Rec Group Resumes Activities

The Women's Recreation Association will resume activities Wednesday at 7 o'clock at the Fort Hill High School girls' gymnasium.

Maxim Dropped To Fourth Spot In NBA Ratings

Johnson, Matthews Are Top Contenders

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Last month Archie Moore took away Joey Maxim's light heavyweight title on a decision. Today the National Boxing Association, in its quarterly ratings, followed through on Maxim with a verbal knockout.

Harry Matthews

Normally a champion who gets licked slips down a notch to become the No. 1 challenger. But the NBA decided Maxim wasn't a logical contender at all.

Johnson Rated Highly

It rates Harold Johnson of Pennsylvania and Harry Matthews of Washington as one-two behind Moore.

Maxim wound up merely as an "outstanding boxer."

The action pointed up the NBA's chronic dissatisfaction with Maxim. Repeatedly it had criticized him for his reluctance to put his title on the line. And it particularly used some harsh words about Maxim because of his slowness in signing to meet Moore.

No 160 Pound Champion

And Randy Turpin, who once held the middleweight title briefly was put in the No. 1 spot for the championship left vacant by Sugar Ray Robinson's retirement.

A favorite with television fans, Chuck Davey of Michigan, is coming along fine with the NBA, too, although maybe not quite so rapidly. It rated Johnny Saxton of New York, Johnny Bratton of Illinois and then Davey as the logical contenders for the welterweight title now held by Cuba's Kid Gavilan.

Top Amateur in '52

FORMER Penn State track star, Horace Ashenfelter, now an FBI agent, has been selected as the winner of the 1952 Sullivan Memorial award as the "amateur athlete who, by performance, example and influence, did most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship during the year." Ashenfelter scored an upset victory in the steeplechase in the Olympic Games, beating the favorite, a Russian. (International)

Jockeys Suspended At Tropical Park

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 5 (AP) — The Tropical Park stewards today suspended jockeys Con McCreary and Charles Burr 10 days each for careless riding, effective tomorrow.

Both were set back for the same offense, failing to maintain a straight course during the sixth and eighth races respectively, on Saturday.

McCreary was punished for his ride on Imarelic, while Burr was similarly set down for his ride on Lucky Codine, which was winner of the eighth. Ironically, McCreary accepted his first mount of the winter on Imarelic.

Burr is the leading rider at the current meeting with 25 winners. Burr lead the National list in 1951.

Riveras Divorced

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 5 (INS)—Mrs. Maxine Wood Rivera obtained a divorce in St. Louis Circuit Court today from Jim Rivera, outfielder for the Chicago White Sox. Mrs. Rivera alleged general indignities.

The couple was married in Puerto Rico Oct. 12, 1951.

AS YOU WERE

(This is the 42nd in a series of sketches with pictures of well known sport personalities of the past from the album of the Cumberland News Sports Editor. See if you can identify them by their photo.)

Thirty-eight years have passed since this picture was taken of this dapper young tonsorial artist who has played a prominent part in the promotion of league and independent baseball in Cumberland. A native of Martinsburg, W. Va., he came to Cumberland January 3, 1898 and entered the barber business. In 1913 he organized the South End Baseball team and when this picture was snapped he was managing the Colts in 1915. The following year he had Cumberland in organized baseball when the Colts took over Chambersburg's franchise in the Blue Ridge League. In 1917, however, so many players were drafted for the First World War that this city was forced to give up its franchise. This fellow bossed Cumberland teams in the George's Creek League and in 1930, 1931 and 1932 he was president of the Colts when they were in the Middle Atlantic League. The 1931 club, operating as a New York Yankees' "farm" won the pennant.

In December, 1932, he was seriously injured in an automobile accident. While he was in the hospital this city was not represented at the winter meeting of the Middle Atlantic League and as a result faded out of organized ball.

Even though he isn't shown puffing on a big cigar he's still Colonel Nelson W. Russler, now in the sound service, radio, television and electrical appliances business on Virginia Avenue. He served as announcer at the Fairgo races for 23 years and was announcer at many local amateur boxing shows. The Colonel was a county commissioner for three terms, county treasurer one term and headed the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County for 12 years.

Kansas State Sets Pace In AP Cage Poll

By RIP WATSON

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Kansas State widened its lead in the Associated Press basketball poll today, pulling away from runner-up Seton Hall to take the No. 1 post for the second straight week.

Kansas State, beaten only once in eight games, was voted the top spot by 31 of the 101 sportswriters and broadcasters across the country participating in the poll. Its rousing victory in the Big Seven Tournament solidified the backing for State.

The K-Staters piled up 758 points on the usual basis of 10 points for first, nine for second and so forth. Seton Hall, which trailed Kansas State by a slim five points last week, was voted tops by 10 writers and finished with 647 points. The New Jersey team has won 13 straight, longest streak of the season among major college teams.

LaSalle Is Third

LaSalle's once-beaten team, which led the poll the first two weeks only to drop down to third last week, placed in the No. 3 spot again, with Illinois holding fourth place. The Illini, like LaSalle the losers of only one game, piled up 525 points without a single first place vote.

Oklahoma A & M, winner of the All-College Tourney at Oklahoma City, climbed two notches to fifth, shoving Washington down to sixth. Then it was Indiana, up five places to seventh; unbeaten Fordham eighth after finishing with the alsorans last week; and North Carolina State, up three places to ninth on the strength of its Dixie Classic victory.

Holy Cross Is Ousted

Those ousted from the select group were Holy Cross, which fell fro msixth to 14th; Tulsa, eighth to 17th and Minnesota, ninth to 19th. None could complain at their decline from power, however, as the three lost two games apiece.

The leaders with points based on 10 for first place, nine for second, etc. season records — through Saturday night — and first place votes in parentheses:

FIRST TEN
1—Kansas State 7-1, 31	758
2—Seton Hall 13-0, 20	647

Maxim Dropped To Fourth Spot In NBA Ratings

Johnson, Matthews Are Top Contenders

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Last month Archie Moore took away Joey Maxim's light heavyweight title on a decision. Today the National Boxing Association, in its quarterly ratings, followed through on Maxim with a verbal knockout.

Harry Matthews

Normally a champion who gets licked slips down a notch to become the No. 1 challenger. But the NBA decided Maxim wasn't a logical contender at all.

Johnson Rated Highly

It rates Harold Johnson of Pennsylvania and Harry Matthews of Washington as one-two behind Moore.

Maxim wound up merely as an "outstanding boxer."

The action pointed up the NBA's chronic dissatisfaction with Maxim. Repeatedly it had criticized him for his reluctance to put his title on the line. And it particularly used some harsh words about Maxim because of his slowness in signing to meet Moore.

No 160 Pound Champion

And Randy Turpin, who once held the middleweight title briefly was put in the No. 1 spot for the championship left vacant by Sugar Ray Robinson's retirement.

A favorite with television fans, Chuck Davey of Michigan, is coming along fine with the NBA, too, although maybe not quite so rapidly. It rated Johnny Saxton of New York, Johnny Bratton of Illinois and then Davey as the logical contenders for the welterweight title now held by Cuba's Kid Gavilan.

Top Amateur in '52

FORMER Penn State track star, Horace Ashenfelter, now an FBI agent, has been selected as the winner of the 1952 Sullivan Memorial award as the "amateur athlete who, by performance, example and influence, did most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship during the year." Ashenfelter scored an upset victory in the steeplechase in the Olympic Games, beating the favorite, a Russian. (International)

Jockeys Suspended At Tropical Park

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 5 (AP) — The Tropical Park stewards today suspended jockeys Con McCreary and Charles Burr 10 days each for careless riding, effective tomorrow.

Both were set back for the same offense, failing to maintain a straight course during the sixth and eighth races respectively, on Saturday.

McCreary was punished for his ride on Imarelic, while Burr was similarly set down for his ride on Lucky Codine, which was winner of the eighth. Ironically, McCreary accepted his first mount of the winter on Imarelic.

Burr is the leading rider at the current meeting with 25 winners. Burr lead the National list in 1951.

Riveras Divorced

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 5 (INS)—Mrs. Maxine Wood Rivera obtained a divorce in St. Louis Circuit Court today from Jim Rivera, outfielder for the Chicago White Sox. Mrs. Rivera alleged general indignities.

The couple was married in Puerto Rico Oct. 12, 1951.

The thick, ungainly tail of the Gila monster acts as a food reservoir storing up nourishment for the reptile to be used during times when forage is scarce. When food is plentiful, the tail becomes thick and swollen. When food is scarce, the tail is thin and attenuated.

Monte Irvin Signs

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (INS)—Monte Irvin, slugging New York Giants' outfielder, signed his 1953 contract today.

Irvin, out for most of last season after he broke an ankle in spring training, came to terms for an estimated $25,000, the same salary he received last season.

The leftfielder, a pennant hero in the Giants' miracle finish of 1951, batted .310 last season in 46 games.

As You Were

(This is the 42nd in a series of sketches with pictures of well known sport personalities of the past from the album of the Cumberland News Sports Editor. See if you can identify them by their photo.)

Thirty-eight years have passed since this picture was taken of this dapper young tonsorial artist who has played a prominent part in the promotion of league and independent baseball in Cumberland. A native of Martinsburg, W. Va., he came to Cumberland January 3, 1898 and entered the barber business. In 1913 he organized the South End Baseball team and when this picture was snapped he was managing the Colts in 1915. The following year he had Cumberland in organized baseball when the Colts took over Chambersburg's franchise in the Blue Ridge League. In 1917, however, so many players were drafted for the First World War that this city was forced to give up its franchise. This fellow bossed Cumberland teams in the George's Creek League and in 1930, 1931 and 1932 he was president of the Colts when they were in the Middle Atlantic League. The 1931 club, operating as a New York Yankees' "farm" won the pennant.

In December, 1932, he was seriously injured in an automobile accident. While he was in the hospital this city was not represented at the winter meeting of the Middle Atlantic League and as a result faded out of organized ball.

This man has played a prominent part in politics over a long period and also held several important county offices. What's his name?

Even though he isn't shown puffing on a big cigar he's still Colonel Nelson W. Russler, now in the sound service, radio, television and electrical appliances business on Virginia Avenue. He served as announcer at the Fairgo races for 23 years and was announcer at many local amateur boxing shows. The Colonel was a county commissioner for three terms, county treasurer one term and headed the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County for 12 years.

Former Trainer Dies

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Frederick "Pee Wee" Beale, 41, former trainer of Sugar Ray Robinson and Henry Armstrong, died early today at Roosevelt Hospital after suffering a heart attack.

Today's charm test features five common words. See whether you trip on their pronunciation!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

If you grew up in one of the sections of the country where British pronunciation still prevail, you probably call a receptacle for flowers a "vahz", while most Americans refer to it as a "vays". There are many words in our language that have two and even three pronunciations, all blessed by Webster, and each in daily use in certain localities.

But there is only one acceptable pronunciation for most of our words. Those who end the word "height" with a "th" instead of a well-enunciated, clipped "t" are just plain in error—and guilty of a disregard for the cultivated speech that universally marks a woman of charm.

Your Speech Appeal

You are most exceptional if you never stub your tongue on some word. Most of us do occasionally but those whose speech appeal equals the appeal of their smart appearance always make sure that the same error never occurs twice. When a word doesn't "feel" exactly right on the tongue or sound exactly right to the ear, they look it up. When they hear an unfamiliar pronunciation, they check their dictionaries. They constantly keep alerted to the pronunciations of broadcasters and others for whom they hold a high regard in such matters.

Some speech defaults are caused by "osmosis"—you simply absorb them from the slurred or incorrect speech you constantly hear on all sides. Others are the results of pure carelessness. But with a critical ear to check your flaws, you will never fall into the untidy speech habits that sound as unattractive as chipped nail polish and crooked seams look.

Five-word Check

You may be one of the women who constantly strive to increase her word charm and knowledge and who need no admonition. But before you dismiss the subject, check yourself on just five words illustrating but one phase of mispronunciation: Do you say children or childern; perform or preform: perspire or prespire; doctrine or doctern; irrelevant or irrevelant?

The correct pronunciation of each of these words is just as they are correctly spelled. Is that how you spoke them? If not, put up a guard against transposing the letters of words as you talk—and watch for future columns pinpointing far less easily detected errors!

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tomorrow: Your figure's lucky number.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

If you grew up in one of the sections of the country where British pronunciation still prevail, you probably call a receptacle for flowers a "vahz", while most Americans refer to it as a "vays". There are many words in our language that have two and even three pronunciations, all blessed by Webster, and each in daily use in certain localities.

But there is only one acceptable pronunciation for most of our words. Those who end the word "height" with a "th" instead of a well-enunciated, clipped "t" are just plain in error—and guilty of a disregard for the cultivated speech that universally marks a woman of charm.

Your Speech Appeal

You are most exceptional if you never stub your tongue on some word. Most of us do occasionally but those whose speech appeal equals the appeal of their smart appearance always make sure that the same error never occurs twice. When a word doesn't "feel" exactly right on the tongue or sound exactly right to the ear, they look it up. When they hear an unfamiliar pronunciation, they check their dictionaries. They constantly keep alerted to the pronunciations of broadcasters and others for whom they hold a high regard in such matters.

Some speech defaults are caused by "osmosis"—you simply absorb them from the slurred or incorrect speech you constantly hear on all sides. Others are the results of pure carelessness. But with a critical ear to check your flaws, you will never fall into the untidy speech habits that sound as unattractive as chipped nail polish and crooked seams look.

Five-word Check

You may be one of the women who constantly strive to increase her word charm and knowledge and who need no admonition. But before you dismiss the subject, check yourself on just five words illustrating but one phase of mispronunciation: Do you say children or childern; perform or preform: perspire or prespire; doctrine or doctern; irrelevant or irrevelant?

The correct pronunciation of each of these words is just as they are correctly spelled. Is that how you spoke them? If not, put up a guard against transposing the letters of words as you talk—and watch for future columns pinpointing far less easily detected errors!

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tomorrow: Your figure's lucky number.

Flower Frosting

9351 SIZES 12—20

by Marian Martin

Prettiest way to greet Spring—frosting of flower embroidery adds to the charm of this smoothly fitted-and-flared style. Mandarin collar above a plunging neckline, square, easy-to-sew armhole, cuffed sleeves — get this going now. Embroidery transfer included.

Pattern 9351: Misses' Sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 takes 4⅞ yards 39-inch fabric.

Send Thirty-five cents in coins for this pattern — add 5 cents for each pattern if you wish 1st-class mailing. Send to Marian Martin, care of The Cumberland News, 39, Pattern Dept., 232 West 18th St., New York 11, N. Y. Print plainly NAME, ADDRESS with ZONE, SIZE and STYLE NUMBER.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere and heartfelt thanks to our relatives and friends for their helpfulness and kindness during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Bruce Yommer. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes, and special thanks to the Rev. Cassel and Winterberg Funeral Home for their kindness.

Wife and Children

We wish to express our thanks to our neighbors and friends who were so kind to us at the time of the deaths of our beloved daughters, sisters, son, grandson and wife, Ruth Hawk, Mabel Reel and William Hawk, Jr.

Anna Reel and family, Wm. J. Hawk, Sr.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Lena Bucy who passed away one year ago, January 6, 1952.

A wonderful mother, woman and aid,
One who was better, God never made;
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true,
One in a million—that, mother, was you.
Just in your judgment, always right;
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by your friends and all you knew,
Wonderful Mother—that, Mother, was you.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere and heartfelt thanks to our relatives and friends for their helpfulness and kindness during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Bruce Yommer. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes, and special thanks to the Rev. Cassel and Winterberg Funeral Home for their kindness.

Wife and Children

We wish to express our thanks to our neighbors and friends who were so kind to us at the time of the deaths of our beloved daughters, sisters, son, grandson and wife, Ruth Hawk, Mabel Reel and William Hawk, Jr.

Anna Reel and family,
Wm. J. Hawk, Sr.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Lena Bucy who passed away one year ago, January 6, 1952.

A wonderful mother, woman and aid,
One who was better, God never made;
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true,
One in a million—that, mother, was you.
Just in your judgment, always right;
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by your friends and all you knew,
Wonderful Mother—that, Mother, was you.

The lovely new 2-story 6-room cement finished dwelling along National Highway, opposite Cash Valley Road. This property must be seen to be fully appreciated. Owner built same for his own home and is most complete, modern and represents the very best of construction. This property naturally represents a heavy investment but owner is willing to sell (due to locating in another city) at less than cost. Builder spent considerable time and effort in purchasing the best material at the lowest figures and taking advantage of every discount. Liberal financing can be arranged and early possession of the property can be given the purchaser.

DON'T MAKE HIM GUESS

WITH a pretty good hand, which almost justifies an opening bid, you have a special duty when your second turn comes, particularly if your partner either opened the bidding or took positive action over an opponent's bid on his first turn. How is he to know you have as good a hand as you actually possess? Unless you go out of your way to make the fact perfectly clear to him, he will have to guess. And the chances are he will make a gross underestimate of your hand if you take some kind of minimum action.

	♠ Q 10 ♥ K Q 9 6 ♦ Q 7 3 2 ♣ K 6 4
♠ K J 3 ♥ 10 4 2 ♦ J 9 ♣ A 9 8 5 2	N W E S	♠ 8 7 6 4 2 ♥ J 8 5 ♦ A 10 5 ♣ J 10
	♠ A 9 5 ♥ A 7 3 ♦ K 8 6 4 ♣ Q 7 3

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	1 NT
Pass	2 NT

South did exactly right in passing that, and as a consequence a game went out the window. West led the club 5 to the Q and took the spade 5 with his K. The club A was scored and the 2 led to the K to establish West's suit. South next led the diamond 2 and played the K when East held up the A. The spade 5 to the Q was followed by the heart K and 6 to the A, then the spade A and the heart 7 to the Q. When this suit broke evenly in the opponents' hands, the heart 9 constituted the game trick.

That game was not a sure thing, if the opponents' cards had been allotted a bit differently, but was a good enough chance so that it should have been bid. Failure to reach it was entirely North's fault.

Having passed on his first turn, he should not have made a minimum bid of 1-Heart over South's fourth-hand 1-Diamond, as the latter would have been justified in passing it with an approximate minimum which nevertheless could be enough for the side to make a game in something. Many a good player would have bid 2-Hearts to let South know the North holding nearly justified an original bid, since a one-over-one by a player who previously passed is by no means a one-time force. Having bid so weakly then, North certainly should not have given a single raise to South's rebid of 1-No Trump. His right bid then should have been either 3-No Trumps or else 3-Diamonds, either of which would have brought a No Trump game contract.

If West's takeout double of 1-Spade had been answered by East's 2-Clubs and South nevertheless winds up in 4-Spades doubled, how should he play after the club K is led, East putting on the 9?

Divorce Is Granted

A divorce was granted in Circuit Court yesterday to Jack Edward Brown, 644 Baker Street, in his suit against Mary Louise Brown. The plaintiff is currently working in Washington.

Dying Trees Are Removed

Three dead and dying trees in front of the Board of Education Building, 108 Washington Street, were removed so that the sidewalk can be placed in a level position again, School Superintendent Ralph R. Webster has reported.

Urner F. Wigfield, tree surgeon, and a group of fellow workers removed two of the trees Friday and finished the job Saturday. The two large trees were Norway maples and the small one was a Catalpa.

Roots of the trees had forced the sidewalk up at points so that walking was hazardous, especially for old persons. Because the trees were nearly dead there was a strong possibility that they might have been blown over during a storm, thereby injuring pedestrians.

When spring arrives new trees will be planted to replace the removed trees. Wigfield estimated that the oldest of the trees was about 75 years old.

Webster also disclosed yesterday that a stoker has been installed in the Board of Education Building so that the heat can be kept regulated. Under previous hand-firing arrangements the building often was cold in the morning and excessively hot in the afternoons.

City Is Planning Resolution On W. M. Railway Service

The city will be represented at a hearing next week before the Public Service Commission on the Western Maryland Railway application to discontinue passenger service in Maryland.

However, the Mayor and Council decided yesterday morning to meet before next Monday to prepare a resolution which its representative, Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan, will take with him.

There was no indication what form the resolution would take.

Keegan's selection and the meeting proposal came as the result of a motion by John J. Long, police and fire commissioner, after a letter from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen of the Western Maryland was read at yesterday's session.

V. H. Parsons, general chairman, asked that the council file a protest against the service slash and be represented at the PSC meeting slated for 10:30 a. m. Parsons said a number of employes would lose their jobs, and that the service cut would hamper patrons in nearby towns in coming here to shop.

Keegan had said that the city should have a representative at the session.

Residents of Washington and Frederick counties and two adjacent Pennsylvania counties have filed protests with the PSC over the proposed service cut.

The company claims it is losing $450,000 annually on all passenger runs.

The council also received a letter from Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde acknowledging receipt of a copy of the city resolution in support of the proposed C. and O. canal parkway project.

Hyde said he would give consideration to the resolution at the same time recognizing there has been considerable protest, particularly in Washington and Frederick counties.

Ridgeley Volunteer Fire Company expressed its appreciation in another letter for the assistance local firemen gave during the recent Morgan Vocational School fire. The letter was signed by E. Leo Rice, chief.

Referred to Keegan was a request for a donation from the United Jewish Appeal.

William H. Buley, parking meter inspector, said collections for the week of December 21 totaled $644.67 as compared to $530.30 the week of December 28, a decrease of $114.37.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said his department installed 1,000 feet of six inch water mains last month; made six new taps and 29 investigations.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery listed receipts of $2,009.70.

Tax collections, shown by Collector George E. Davis, follow: General, $23,945.90; general improvement bonds, $206.94; 1931 sewer bonds, $198.70; water rent, $47,698.17; total, $72,049.71.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, reported 280 paved streets, 92 alleys, 39 catch basins, nine manholes cleaned; 16 streets patched with blacktop and 18 with concrete, sewer lines installed, drain pipes and guard rails installed and food baskets hauled for Associated Charities.

Charles R. Nuzum, city and building engineer, said nine building permits were granted for an estimated expenditure of $20,180. Two occupancy permits were asked, one being referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals.

DON'T MAKE HIM GUESS

WITH a pretty good hand, which almost justifies an opening bid, you have a special duty when your second turn comes, particularly if your partner either opened the bidding or took positive action over an opponent's bid on his first turn. How is he to know you have as good a hand as you actually possess? Unless you go out of your way to make the fact perfectly clear to him, he will have to guess. And the chances are he will make a gross underestimate of your hand if you take some kind of minimum action.

South did exactly right in passing that, and as a consequence a game went out the window. West led the club 5 to the Q and took the spade 5 with his K. The club A was scored and the 2 led to the K to establish West's suit. South next led the diamond 2 and played the K when East held up the A. The spade 5 to the Q was followed by the heart K and 6 to the A, then the spade A and the heart 7 to the Q. When this suit broke evenly in the opponents' hands, the heart 9 constituted the game trick.

That game was not a sure thing, if the opponents' cards had been allotted a bit differently, but was a good enough chance so that it should have been bid. Failure to reach it was entirely North's fault.

Having passed on his first turn, he should not have made a minimum bid of 1-Heart over South's fourth-hand 1-Diamond, as the latter would have been justified in passing it with an approximate minimum which nevertheless could be enough for the side to make a game in something. Many a good player would have bid 2-Hearts to let South know the North holding nearly justified an original bid, since a one-over-one by a player who previously passed is by no means a one-time force. Having bid so weakly then, North certainly should not have given a single raise to South's rebid of 1-No Trump. His right bid then should have been either 3-No Trumps or else 3-Diamonds, either of which would have brought a No Trump game contract.

If West's takeout double of 1-Spade had been answered by East's 2-Clubs and South nevertheless winds up in 4-Spades doubled, how should he play after the club K is led, East putting on the 9?

Dying Trees Are Removed

Three dead and dying trees in front of the Board of Education Building, 108 Washington Street, were removed so that the sidewalk can be placed in a level position again, School Superintendent Ralph R. Webster has reported.

Urner F. Wigfield, tree surgeon, and a group of fellow workers removed two of the trees Friday and finished the job Saturday. The two large trees were Norway maples and the small one was a Catalpa.

Roots of the trees had forced the sidewalk up at points so that walking was hazardous, especially for old persons. Because the trees were nearly dead there was a strong possibility that they might have been blown over during a storm, thereby injuring pedestrians.

When spring arrives new trees will be planted to replace the removed trees. Wigfield estimated that the oldest of the trees was about 75 years old.

Webster also disclosed yesterday that a stoker has been installed in the Board of Education Building so that the heat can be kept regulated. Under previous hand-firing arrangements the building often was cold in the morning and excessively hot in the afternoons.

City Is Planning Resolution On W. M. Railway Service

The city will be represented at a hearing next week before the Public Service Commission on the Western Maryland Railway application to discontinue passenger service in Maryland.

However, the Mayor and Council decided yesterday morning to meet before next Monday to prepare a resolution which its representative, Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan, will take with him.

There was no indication what form the resolution would take.

Keegan's selection and the meeting proposal came as the result of a motion by John J. Long, police and fire commissioner, after a letter from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen of the Western Maryland was read at yesterday's session.

V. H. Parsons, general chairman, asked that the council file a protest against the service slash and be represented at the PSC meeting slated for 10:30 a. m. Parsons said a number of employes would lose their jobs, and that the service cut would hamper patrons in nearby towns in coming here to shop.

Keegan had said that the city should have a representative at the session.

The council also received a letter from Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde acknowledging receipt of a copy of the city resolution in support of the proposed C. and O. canal parkway project.

Hyde said he would give consideration to the resolution at the same time recognizing there has been considerable protest, particularly in Washington and Frederick counties.

Ridgeley Volunteer Fire Company expressed its appreciation in another letter for the assistance local firemen gave during the recent Morgan Vocational School fire. The letter was signed by E. Leo Rice, chief.

William H. Buley, parking meter inspector, said collections for the week of December 21 totaled $644.67 as compared to $530.30 the week of December 28, a decrease of $114.37.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said his department installed 1,000 feet of six inch water mains last month; made six new taps and 29 investigations.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery listed receipts of $2,009.70.

Tax collections, shown by Collector George E. Davis, follow: General, $23,945.90; general improvement bonds, $206.94; 1931 sewer bonds, $198.70; water rent, $47,698.17; total, $72,049.71.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, reported 280 paved streets, 92 alleys, 39 catch basins, nine manholes cleaned; 16 streets patched with blacktop and 18 with concrete, sewer lines installed, drain pipes and guard rails installed and food baskets hauled for Associated Charities.

Charles R. Nuzum, city and building engineer, said nine building permits were granted for an estimated expenditure of $20,180. Two occupancy permits were asked, one being referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Police Say Plan For 5-Day Week Well Publicized

Delegation Notified Of Proposed Program

A spokesman for the Police Department's Legislative Committee said he was at a loss to understand why members of the City Council yesterday referred to the department's desire to secure a 40-hour week by legislative action as "rumors" in view of the publicity which has been given to the proposal.

He said the proposal was discussed months ago with the Mayor and Council and more recently with the Allegany County Delegation.

Both meetings were fully reported by the press and radio.

Since them, members of the Legislative Committee have discussed the 40-hour week proposal at length with Mayor Roy W. Eves and letters outlining the department's three-point legislative program have been forwarded to Senator Robert B. Kimble and Delegate Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly.

Conference Planned

The committee said bills covering the legislative program are now being readied for submission and that Mayor Eves informed them that when the legislation is ready, he will call a meeting of the Mayor and Council to discuss the program.

Police said they want the Mayor and Council to approve the plan, if possible, before it is submitted to the Delegation, adding that the Delegation specifically requested that such action be taken.

They said the legislators agreed informally to go along with any such legislation which had the sanction of the city.

Want More Paydays

The first is that the 10-per cent pay raise granted by the Mayor and Council last fall be incorporated into the minimum base pay.

Freezing the wages at the present levels was one of the points of a legislative plan proposed to the Delegation by the Mayor and Council on October 11.

The second item asks that the pay schedule be changed from the 1st and 15th of each month to every other Tuesday or Friday.

The plan calls for boosting paydays from 24 to 26 a year, but no increase in the cost to the city, other than the additional book work required to issue additional checks.

The third is that the present 48-hour work week be reduced to 40 hours, with two consecutive days off each week.

Will Cost $20,000

Police estimate the plan will entail hiring six or seven additional policemen and will cost about $20,000 more a year.

Missing Woman's Locker Provides No Further Clue

Officers Renew Appeal For Help

Police said nothing in the locker gave any indication of what may have happened to Mrs. Meister. It contained nothing but personal effects.

The locker had been considered a "long-shot" possibility that something would be found to give police a new start on the case, which they say has had them stumped for several days.

Mrs. Meister dropped out of sight Saturday afternoon, December 20, while apparently on her way to work at the Amcelle plant. She failed to report for work or to collect her paycheck.

Police soon received a few tips on the case, but none led them any nearer to solving the mystery of the missing woman. Then Mrs. Meister's all-but-empty pocketbook was found in Bowman's Addition and the search was intensified.

Since then, not one substantial clue has developed, and police are still uncertain what the discovery of the pocketbook might mean. Mrs. Meister's family feared she had been murdered, but police were hesitant to say where they thought the existing clues could lead.

Trooper First Class William F. Baker, State Police criminal investigator, and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya last night renewed their appeal for information on the case.

With their meagre clues exhausted, Baker and Lilya said they hoped anyone who may know anything bearing on the case would come forward.

Expanded Rec Program For Women Sought

Meeting Is Planned Thursday At City Hall

The City Recreation Department will sponsor a meeting Thursday at 4:15 p. m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall to discuss plans for expanding the recreational program for girls and women.

Robert E. Pence, rec director, said an attempt will be made to learn the recreational needs of the groups so the programs can be made to correspond to the full program now offered for boys and men.

Invitations Extended

Invitations to attend the meeting have been extended to the physical education instructors of local elementary and high schools, Girl Scout leaders and other women interested in the recreational program.

Pence said studies of the programs offered by other cities show that Cumberland's program for boys and men is far ahead of that offered by cities of comparable size.

But women's activities, he said, do not match the comprehensive program offered for men and boys, although it is as full as most cities offer.

At present, the Recretation Association sponsors the Golden Glow Club, a year around program for women over 50; the Women's Recreation Association, which meets at Fort Hill High School each Wednesday night during the winter for play in badminton, volley ball and basketball.

Need Grade School Plan

Pence noted the biggest need seems to be recreational events for girls of grade school age, since they have nothing to correspond with the Little League program offered for boys.

Teen age girls, he added, have a fuller program since their activities are supplemented by the Central YMCA Rec Club.

An attempt may be made, he continued to provide a program corresponding to the YMCA Sunday School Basketball League for boys.

Pence believes the plan can be designed to meet all the needs through supplementing existing recreational activities for girls and women.

Terminal Meeting Planned Tomorrow

The Cumberland Terminal Meeting will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. in the Council Chamber, the Smoke Abatement Office announced yesterday.

The meeting was scheduled today, but deferred due to previous commitments of several railroad officials.

100 Blood Donors Needed To Meet Area Quota Today

Red Cross officials yesterday said the Allegany County chapter's quota for a two-day visit of the Mobile Blood Unit is 240 pints, or 120 a day. To assure reaching this goal, about 150 donors are needed each day.

Yesterday brought 91 pints, and only 50 people have appointments for today. That means that, if all 50 keep their appointments another 100 will be needed.

The unit is located at the Eagles Home on North Mechanic Street. Donors may either walk in or telephone the Red Cross office for a definite appointment.

One little-known point concerning blood donations, the Red Cross said, is that anyone who gives blood in Allegany County is thereby entitled to receive a transfusion anywhere in the U. S. free of charge.

Hospitals normally make a nominal charge for administration of blood, but a blood donor who later needs a transfusion need not pay for the blood or see that it is replaced.

The system works this way:

Blood collected here is taken immediately to Johnstown in the mobile unit. Each week, Allegany County hospitals requisition the amount they believe they will need for the week. The Johnstown office supplies it.

If the hospitals don't need all the blood sent them, they return it to the center at Johnstown, which relays it to a drug company for processing into plasma and blood derivatives.

If the hospital supply drops too low, or if a rare type of blood is

Women Jurors Say They Opposed Referendum

The two women who are setting a precedent this week by serving on the Allegany County Circuit Court grand jury for the first time report that they opposed the November referendum which gave women the right to serve on grand and petit juries in this county.

Serving on the grand jury are Clara W. Walters of Corriganville and Margaret Hepburn of Lonaconing.

Seal Sale Returns Hit $10,725.23

Allegany County Tuberculosis Association has passed the two-thirds mark with returns from its Christmas Seal Sale drive, according to Glenn K. Davis, county chairman of the drive.

The organization to date has received $10,725.23 from county seal recipients. The county goal is $15,000.

Davis reported $1,457.94 was received from Frostburg, $670.45 from Westernport, and $8,596.84 from Cumberland and other county communities.

Grand Jury Will Continue Probe Of Crime Today

Women Are Serving For First Time

The grand jurors were excused about 3:30 p. m. yesterday and will resume their deliberations at 9:15 a. m. today.

20 More Witnesses

Court attaches are of the opinion that the grand jury may end its investigations into county crime either tomorrow or Thursday.

Outlines History

Due to the fact women were on the grand jury for the first time and that in the future other women would be on juries, Judge Henderson said it would be advisable to go into more detail than customary in outlining the history and function of grand juries.

Grand juries date back to a time prior to the Norman conquest of England in 1066, he said. When this country was settled by persons from Great Britain they brought with them the English common law with its grand and petit jury system, the jurist pointed out.

Judge Henderson summed up his charge with the statement that "As grand jurors you have an opportunity to help or hinder the moral tone of the community."

Judge Henderson's charge was routine and general in nature, calling for no special investigation of conditions in the county.

Two Women Jurors

The two women on the grand jury are Clara W. Walters, Corriganville, and Margaret Hepburn, Lonaconing.

Following Judge Henderson's reading of the charge the foreman of the grand jurors, William W. Sluss, Jr., Frostburg grocer, was sworn in by Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden.

Andrew Y. Wilson, bailiff, was sworn in and he conducted the grand jurors to the auxiliary court room where they began their deliberations at 10:30 a. m.

Other members of the grand jury are Francis R. Torrington, city; William F. Sullivan, Frostburg; Francis W. Sweene, city; Harold E. Nixon, city; William B. McGee, Westernport; Otha Simms, city; Edgar L. Harvey, Frostburg; Frederick C. Neus, city; William W. Cadwallader, city; John L. Durst, Frostburg and Frank C. Trozzo, city.

Weather

A light snow fell last night as temperatures remained in the low and mid-30's throughout most of yesterday. The official high registered at Constitution Park weather bureau was a cold 32 degrees while the low dropped to 21. At 8 o'clock last night the thermometer read 29. The humidity at 6 p. m. was 80 per cent indicating more snow or rain throughout the night and today. The weather forecast for today was cloudy, colder and snow flurries in the mountains.

Six Children Are Rescued From Blazing Home In Westernport

House Is Gutted By Flames, But Occupants Unhurt

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Miller was all but destroyed in the sudden blaze, and all its contents were described as a total loss. No one was injured.

Firemen said the five Miller children were in the house with their aunt, Christina Stowell, 14, who was watching them while their mother was away, when the fire started at 8:45 p. m.

Firemen from Potomac Volunteer Company of Westernport and Tri-Towns Volunteer Company of nearby Piedmont, W. Va., said the building was beyond saving when they arrived.

They said the blaze apparently started when draperies in the bedroom were ignited by a flame from an open gas stove nearby. The building is owned by James A. Welsh, Westernport.

The family stayed with Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Miller, Wood Street Extended, last night.

Blue Cross Hospitalization Rates Are To Be Boosted In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP) — Blue Cross hospitalization insurance rates in Maryland are going up, President Robert O. Bonnell of the Maryland Hospital Service announced today.

He said the subscription rates would be increased March 1 because of boosts in hospital costs and a rise in the number of subscribers receiving care.

The new rates:

Individuals, $1.60 a month, up 35 cents; families, $4, up 80 cents. Husband-and-wife memberships, now at $2.50, will be eliminated. Such members will have to take out family policies.

Charges to those paying directly to the Maryland Hospital Service will also be increased. On a quarterly basis, individual membership will cost $5.55 and family policies, $13.50.

No changes will be made in Blue Shield subscription rates, which cover certain doctor fees.

Bonnell said "As a result of increased hospital costs and more care to a greater number of subscribers, Blue Cross, in the first eleven months of 1952, spent 97 cents on hospital care for every dollar received."

He said the plan's costs of operation was 7½ cents per dollar of income. This he said, was the lowest in its history and below the national average. Nevertheless, Bonnell said substantial sums had to be withdrawn from reserves.

Snow Hinders Travel Of Area Drivers

Snow began falling again east and west of Cumberland and in other sections of the Tri-State district last night while the Queen City escaped with only a thin veil over the ground which was melting.

The State Road Commission garage at Cumberland assigned four cindering crews to ash Town Hill and Martin's Mountain east of here last night. SRC officials reported roads were hazardous and expected to have highways cindered within a few hours.

Ashing At Frostburg

West of Cumberland, two crews were ashing Route 40 east and west of Frostburg earlier yesterday evening. They were still out late last night.

Maryland State Police at LaVale said chains were needed for autos traveling west of Frostburg into Garrett County where from four to seven inches of snow covered the ground.

In West Virginia snow was falling at Thomas and Elkins. State Police at Romney said from two to three inches of snow had fell last night at Elkins where one inch of old snow still covered the earth. There is 10 inches of snow on Route 33 east of that community.

Snow At Thomas

In Thomas snow was falling steadily last night on top of eight inches of old snow. Preston County in West Virginia reported five inches of snow on the ground with seven inches at Terra Alta. Terra Alta had only cloudy weather last night with mercury standing at 24 degrees.

In the Bedford, Pa., section state police reported some highways slippery and hazardous, but weather was cloudy last night. Police said several minor accidents involving fender scrapes were caused by icy roads in that section yesterday.

It was also snowing in Deal, Pa., and at Orleans Road last night. At Deal six inches of old snow blankets that area where mercury stood at 26 degrees at 7 p. m. Orleans Road was getting its first

Machine Break Forces Partial Kelly Shutdown

Normal Operations Expected Tomorrow

Normal plant operations are expected to resume tomorrow morning with the 7 o'clock shift at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant following a breakdown in the 6-8 tube machine in department 43 which necessitated a temporary suspension of passenger and light truck tire operations yesterday and today.

The breakdown in the tube machine department occurred about noon yesterday and most employes of eight departments in the plant had work days cancelled yesterday and today.

Company spokesmen said last night repairs on the tube machine are expected to be completed in time for the plant to resume its normal operations with the morning shift tomorrow.

The eight departments which were forced to shutdown partially or completely for the two-day period are Department 41 where scoops and slitters are not working; Department 42; Department 43 where tube machine crew isn't working; Department 51A; Department 51D where only heavy duty truck tire preparation and curing will be handled; Department 51E where heavy duty truck tire finishing is being done; and Departments 63 and 44-1.

The suspension of operations at the plant affected those employes who worked in passenger and light truck tire operations only. Others in the departments who worked on heavy types of tires continued their operations.

Spokesmen noted that these operations were in heavy truck tire, rear tractor tire, tube and accessory and camel back work which were continued on a normal basis.

Firm, Union Conflict On Strike Effect

A Pennsylvania Glass Sand Corporation official and a CIO union representative told conflicting stories last night concerning the effectiveness of a strike order called by the union yesterday.

Frank Walker, secretary of the firm, said that about 90 per cent of the workers reported to work passing pickets at the various gate entrances. He added all shifts were working normally and that sand shipments to customers were being made on schedule. Also no trouble has been reported.

At the same time, Enoch R. Rust, international representative of the CIO Glass, Ceramic and Silica Sand Workers of America, said last night the strike order was about 70 per cent effective by late last night.

Rust pointed out that only about 50 per cent of the workers had reported for the 4 p. m. to midnight shift and that operations were cut 70 per cent.

Rust said the company was using every method to keep the plant running including working employes overtime.

The highway near the plant is being patroled by seven state troopers under Sgt. E. L. Roush, and at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad which services the firm, a captain and two lieutenants and six patrolman of the B&O police are guarding B&O equipment.

Cpl. C. S. Burke, state police at Berkeley Springs, said there was no trouble. Cpl. Burke added a rumor that a riot had started in the plant and several men were injured, was false.

He explained that an ambulance passing the plant about 4 p. m. during the shift change caused the story to spread through the town. Burke said the ambulance was returning from a highway accident on Route 522 between Hancock and Breezewood, Pa., with several injured persons.

The company-union dispute is over a four-cent wage increase and a number of other issues.

The plant, astride the state highway between Berkeley Springs and Hancock, employs about 220 men on three shifts. It quarries sand on one side of the road and takes it through a tunnel under the road to the plant on the other side.

Negotiations between the company and the union on the wage increase are suspended.

Equity Suit Filed

Parkway Bill Is Top Project Of Delegation

Early Action Slated On Historic Route

The introduction of a bill calling for full Maryland approval of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Parkway will be the first and principal project of the Allegany County Delegation to the Maryland Assembly.

Delegate Charles M. See, chairman, said the delegation expects to draft and introduce the Parkway Bill within the next week or so.

He said the text of the bill will be patterned after a similar measure introduced in the 1950 session.

All Will Back Plan

The bill will be sponsored by the entire delegation and introduced either by the delegation in the House or by Senator Robert B. Kimble in the Senate.

Cites Advantages

Delegate See said the advantages of the parkway would be state-wide and not merely of benefit to the communities along the route of the historic waterway.

The Federal government has already approved the plan for the 168 mile highway estimated to cost about $17,000,000.

Maryland's share would be the acquisition of about 11,900 acres of land at a cost of from $1.5 million to $2 million.

Police To Quiz Man In Beating Case

Melvin Huff, 28, of 222 Frederick Street, accused of beating his mother over the head with a poker during an argument, will be questioned this morning at the State's Attorney's Office, authorities said last night.

Huff was arrested Saturday night at the home of his mother, Mrs. Blanche Huff, 53, of 190 Wineow Street. He told police his mother struck him with a poker which he took from her and returned four blows.

Mrs. Huff was admitted to Memorial Hospital where x-rays were to be taken yesterday. Her condition is reported as "good." Huff was treated at police headquarters for a minor head laceration.

Authorities said the woman will be detained for questioning after she is released from the hospital. Huff is being held in City Jail.

Ridgeley Arranges Tree Collection

Christmas trees, being discarded by residents of Ridgeley, will be collected in that community beginning at 12 noon on Friday, according to an announcement last night by Robert Edenhart, town recorder.

A Letter To The Editor's Mailbag

Editor's Note—As 1953, the holidays over, moves into high gear, members of the press took occasion to drop the following letter of reminiscences and observations in the mailbag. We pass it along to you.

DEAR BOSS,

Well, we've got the New Year off to a start but we can't quite get 1952 out of our minds. You know how it is; some little things that happen over and over again stick in your craw until they overshadow what might have been major events.

We were just reminiscing a bit about some of the goings-on here in the office during the past year when the thought struck us that a small percentage of our readers have one quality in common.

Probably 99 per cent of our readers are just that. They don't contribute anything to the news report, they don't want anything — except to read the news.

But that other one per cent. Brother! They either want something in the paper or they want something kept out. And they're the first ones to holler when everything doesn't please them.

Just the other day a fellow stopped in the office and said he had been in a little trouble. He tied on a doozy of a drunk, beat up a couple of people, and the cops put him in the cooler. Well please don't put that in the paper, he said. It seems that his mother was pretty sick and the shock of reading about his trouble in the paper might be the crushing blow to end her days. If she died, he warned us, it would be our responsibility.

Well, we've heard those stories before. They might be changed a little, it might be an aunt instead of his mother but the general idea is the same.

And, you know, it's the people who try the hardest to keep something unfavorable about themselves out of the paper who are among the first to try to have some trivial item printed. And they yell the loudest about getting an "item" in the paper when misfortune befalls a neighbor or acquaintance.

We've come to another conclusion too. There are more people trying to tell us how to operate a newspaper than you can shake a stick at.

Did you ever go to a store and tell the owner how to run his business and mean it? People tell us that all the time. "You didn't have to put that in the paper," they say. Or, when one of the fellows calls to get a story they'll tell him. "That's not news. You don't want to put that in the paper." They'll call up and say a headline on a story wasn't big enough or that it was too big. Or they'll want to know why this or that wasn't in the paper or "Joe's cat had kittens. They're the cutest things. Can't you take a picture of them?"

Yessir, they seem to have all the answers but when you get right down to it, nine out of ten of 'em wouldn't know a story when they see it. "You're a reporter, you're supposed to know that," they'll say.

There's been something else too, boss, that's good for a laugh, not just this past year but every year. Maybe it's a case of being a little bit cynical, but nevertheless we get sort of a chuckle from some members of the professions. You know, they have what they call a code of ethics that prevents them from advertising. That's all well and good, but, boy, how some of them squawk when their name is left out of a news story.

Incidentally, boss, we've got a code of ethics, too, but not many people believe it or want us to live up to it. It's a part of newspaper tradition not to reveal the source of a story, but almost every day somebody'll call and want to know "Where did you get that story?" "Who gave you that story?" or something along those lines. We don't tell 'em and if they give us a chance we tell them why we won't, but a lot of them hang up in a huff with some snide comment like "We'll fix you, brother." Oh well, I guess it's all part of the game.

A lot of people seem to think we get a lot of pleasure out of reporting other people's misfortunes, but actually we take a dim view of it. It's much better when we're able to report something of a pleasant nature, but it's misfortune generally that is unusual and it's the unusual that makes news. After so many years of it, we get accustomed to it as a part of the job and we'll have to keep on doing it whether we like it or not.

Maybe you've been wondering, boss, why we've written all this so now we'll tell you. Since you're supposed to know all the answers, we've got one question for you:

We'd like to know how to tell the people that we don't make the news, we only write it.

Police Say Plan For 5-Day Week Well Publicized

Delegation Notified Of Proposed Program

A spokesman for the Police Department's Legislative Committee said he was at a loss to understand why members of the City Council yesterday referred to the department's desire to secure a 40-hour week by legislative action as "rumors" in view of the publicity which has been given to the proposal.

He said the proposal was discussed months ago with the Mayor and Council and more recently with the Allegany County Delegation.

Both meetings were fully reported by the press and radio.

Since them, members of the Legislative Committee have discussed the 40-hour week proposal at length with Mayor Roy W. Eves and letters outlining the department's three-point legislative program have been forwarded to Senator Robert B. Kimble and Delegate Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly.

Conference Planned

The committee said bills covering the legislative program are now being readied for submission and that Mayor Eves informed them that when the legislation is ready, he will call a meeting of the Mayor and Council to discuss the program.

Police said they want the Mayor and Council to approve the plan, if possible, before it is submitted to the Delegation, adding that the Delegation specifically requested that such action be taken.

They said the legislators agreed informally to go along with any such legislation which had the sanction of the city.

The Police Department legislative program, as reported to heads of the Allegany County Delegation includes three points:

Want More Paydays

The first is that the 10-per cent pay raise granted by the Mayor and Council last fall be incorporated into the minimum base pay.

Freezing the wages at the present levels was one of the points of a legislative plan proposed to the Delegation by the Mayor and Council on October 11.

The second item asks that the pay schedule be changed from the 1st and 15th of each month to every other Tuesday or Friday.

The plan calls for boosting paydays from 24 to 26 a year, but no increase in the cost to the city, other than the additional book work required to issue additional checks.

The third is that the present 48-hour work week be reduced to 40 hours, with two consecutive days off each week.

Will Cost $20,000

Police estimate the plan will entail hiring six or seven additional policemen and will cost about $20,000 more a year.

Missing Woman's Locker Provides No Further Clue

Officers Renew Appeal For Help

A search of Mrs. Odessa Frances Meister's locker at the Celanese plant yesterday failed to turn up any clue to the missing woman's whereabouts.

Police said nothing in the locker gave any indication of what may have happened to Mrs. Meister. It contained nothing but personal effects.

The locker had been considered a "long-shot" possibility that something would be found to give police a new start on the case, which they say has had them stumped for several days.

Mrs. Meister dropped out of sight Saturday afternoon, December 20, while apparently on her way to work at the Amcelle plant. She failed to report for work or to collect her paycheck.

Police soon received a few tips on the case, but none led them any nearer to solving the mystery of the missing woman. Then Mrs. Meister's all-but-empty pocketbook was found in Bowman's Addition and the search was intensified.

Since then, not one substantial clue has developed, and police are still uncertain what the discovery of the pocketbook might mean. Mrs. Meister's family feared she had been murdered, but police were hesitant to say where they thought the existing clues could lead.

Trooper First Class William F. Baker, State Police criminal investigator, and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya last night renewed their appeal for information on the case.

With their meagre clues exhausted, Baker and Lilya said they hoped anyone who may know anything bearing on the case would come forward.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Marrs Jr., Pleasantville, N. J., announce the birth of a daughter yesterday. Mrs. Marrs is the former Miss Perthenia Northcraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Northcraft, 908 Harding Avenue.

Terminal Meeting Planned Tomorrow

The Cumberland Terminal Meeting will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. in the Council Chamber, the Smoke Abatement Office announced yesterday.

The meeting was scheduled today, but deferred due to previous commitments of several railroad officials.

Expanded Rec Program For Women Sought

Meeting Is Planned Thursday At City Hall

The City Recreation Department will sponsor a meeting Thursday at 4:15 p. m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall to discuss plans for expanding the recreational program for girls and women.

Robert E. Pence, rec director, said an attempt will be made to learn the recreational needs of the groups so the programs can be made to correspond to the full program now offered for boys and men.

Invitations Extended

Invitations to attend the meeting have been extended to the physical education instructors of local elementary and high schools, Girl Scout leaders and other women interested in the recreational program.

Pence said studies of the programs offered by other cities show that Cumberland's program for boys and men is far ahead of that offered by cities of comparable size.

But women's activities, he said, do not match the comprehensive program offered for men and boys, although it is as full as most cities offer.

At present, the Recretation Association sponsors the Golden Glow Club, a year around program for women over 50; the Women's Recreation Association, which meets at Fort Hill High School each Wednesday night during the winter for play in badminton, volley ball and basketball.

Need Grade School Plan

Pence noted the biggest need seems to be recreational events for girls of grade school age, since they have nothing to correspond with the Little League program offered for boys.

Teen age girls, he added, have a fuller program since their activities are supplemented by the Central YMCA Rec Club.

An attempt may be made, he continued to provide a program corresponding to the YMCA Sunday School Basketball League for boys.

Pence believes the plan can be designed to meet all the needs through supplementing existing recreational activities for girls and women.

100 Blood Donors Needed To Meet Area Quota Today

At least 100 "walk-in" blood donors are needed today if Allegany County is to meet its quota in the monthly campaign.

Red Cross officials yesterday said the Allegany County chapter's quota for a two-day visit of the Mobile Blood Unit is 240 pints, or 120 a day. To assure reaching this goal, about 150 donors are needed each day.

Yesterday brought 91 pints, and only 50 people have appointments for today. That means that, if all 50 keep their appointments another 100 will be needed.

The Red Cross said the chapter must meet its quota in order to keep the mobile unit coming here from Johnstown, Pa., each month.

The unit is located at the Eagles Home on North Mechanic Street. Donors may either walk in or telephone the Red Cross office for a definite appointment.

One little-known point concerning blood donations, the Red Cross said, is that anyone who gives blood in Allegany County is thereby entitled to receive a transfusion anywhere in the U. S. free of charge.

Hospitals normally make a nominal charge for administration of blood, but a blood donor who later needs a transfusion need not pay for the blood or see that it is replaced.

The system works this way:

Blood collected here is taken immediately to Johnstown in the mobile unit. Each week, Allegany County hospitals requisition the amount they believe they will need for the week. The Johnstown office supplies it.

If the hospitals don't need all the blood sent them, they return it to the center at Johnstown, which relays it to a drug company for processing into plasma and blood derivatives.

If the hospital supply drops too low, or if a rare type of blood is

Women Jurors Say They Opposed Referendum

The two women who are setting a precedent this week by serving on the Allegany County Circuit Court grand jury for the first time report that they opposed the November referendum which gave women the right to serve on grand and petit juries in this county.

Serving on the grand jury are Clara W. Walters of Corriganville and Margaret Hepburn of Lonaconing.

During a lull in precedings yesterday they informed deputies of Sheriff Edward R. Muir that they opposed the referendum which was approved overwhelmingly by county voters November 4.

Seal Sale Returns Hit $10,725.23

Allegany County Tuberculosis Association has passed the two-thirds mark with returns from its Christmas Seal Sale drive, according to Glenn K. Davis, county chairman of the drive.

The organization to date has received $10,725.23 from county seal recipients. The county goal is $15,000.

Davis reported $1,457.94 was received from Frostburg, $670.45 from Westernport, and $8,596.84 from Cumberland and other county communities.

Grand Jury Will Continue Probe Of Crime Today

Women Are Serving For First Time

Allegany County Circuit Court's first grand jury with women members yesterday heard testimony from some 29 witnesses after receiving the charge from Associate Judge George Henderson.

The grand jurors were excused about 3:30 p. m. yesterday and will resume their deliberations at 9:15 a. m. today.

20 More Witnesses

Nearly 20 more witnesses are expected to appear before the grand jury today.

Court attaches are of the opinion that the grand jury may end its investigations into county crime either tomorrow or Thursday.

Outlines History

Due to the fact women were on the grand jury for the first time and that in the future other women would be on juries, Judge Henderson said it would be advisable to go into more detail than customary in outlining the history and function of grand juries.

Grand juries date back to a time prior to the Norman conquest of England in 1066, he said. When this country was settled by persons from Great Britain they brought with them the English common law with its grand and petit jury system, the jurist pointed out.

Judge Henderson summed up his charge with the statement that "As grand jurors you have an opportunity to help or hinder the moral tone of the community."

Judge Henderson's charge was routine and general in nature, calling for no special investigation of conditions in the county.

Two Women Jurors

The two women on the grand jury are Clara W. Walters, Corriganville, and Margaret Hepburn, Lonaconing.

Following Judge Henderson's reading of the charge the foreman of the grand jurors, William W. Sluss, Jr., Frostburg grocer, was sworn in by Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden.

The grand jury as a group then affirmed the oath taken for them by Sluss.

Andrew Y. Wilson, bailiff, was sworn in and he conducted the grand jurors to the auxiliary court room where they began their deliberations at 10:30 a. m.

Other members of the grand jury are Francis R. Torrington, city; William F. Sullivan, Frostburg; Francis W. Sweene, city; Harold E. Nixon, city; William B. McGee, Westernport; Otha Simms, city; Edgar L. Harvey, Frostburg; Frederick C. Neus, city; William W. Cadwallader, city; John L. Durst, Frostburg and Frank C. Trozzo, city.

Holmes H. Cessna, city; Walter Duncan, Shaft; Carson J. Thomas, Vale Summit; William O. Jones,

Weather

A light snow fell last night as temperatures remained in the low and mid-30's throughout most of yesterday. The official high registered at Constitution Park weather bureau was a cold 32 degrees while the low dropped to 21. At 8 o'clock last night the thermometer read 29. The humidity at 6 p. m. was 80 per cent indicating more snow or rain throughout the night and today. The weather forecast for today was cloudy, colder and snow flurries in the mountains.

Six Children Are Rescued From Blazing Home In Westernport

House Is Gutted By Flames, But Occupants Unhurt

A garage worker led six children to safety last night as flames gutted their three-room frame bungalow on Main Street Extended in Westernport.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Miller was all but destroyed in the sudden blaze, and all its contents were described as a total loss. No one was injured.

Firemen said the five Miller children were in the house with their aunt, Christina Stowell, 14, who was watching them while their mother was away, when the fire started at 8:45 p. m.

Carl Wilson, an employe of Jake's Service Station across the street, saw smoke and flames pouring from the house, and dashed in and led the frightened youngsters to safety.

Then Wilson went back into the building to try to save some of the household furnishings, but the severe heat of the blaze drove him back.

Firemen from Potomac Volunteer Company of Westernport and Tri-Towns Volunteer Company of nearby Piedmont, W. Va., said the building was beyond saving when they arrived.

They said the blaze apparently started when draperies in the bedroom were ignited by a flame from an open gas stove nearby. The building is owned by James A. Welsh, Westernport.

Mrs. Miller had left the children in the care of her young sister, the Stowell girl, while she was visiting friends. The children's father is with the Navy at Midway Island.

The family stayed with Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Miller, Wood Street Extended, last night.

Blue Cross Hospitalization Rates Are To Be Boosted In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP) — Blue Cross hospitalization insurance rates in Maryland are going up, President Robert O. Bonnell of the Maryland Hospital Service announced today.

He said the subscription rates would be increased March 1 because of boosts in hospital costs and a rise in the number of subscribers receiving care.

The new rates:

Individuals, $1.60 a month, up 35 cents; families, $4, up 80 cents. Husband-and-wife memberships, now at $2.50, will be eliminated. Such members will have to take out family policies.

Charges to those paying directly to the Maryland Hospital Service will also be increased. On a quarterly basis, individual membership will cost $5.55 and family policies, $13.50.

No changes will be made in Blue Shield subscription rates, which cover certain doctor fees.

Bonnell said "As a result of increased hospital costs and more care to a greater number of subscribers, Blue Cross, in the first eleven months of 1952, spent 97 cents on hospital care for every dollar received."

He said the plan's costs of operation was 7½ cents per dollar of income. This he said, was the lowest in its history and below the national average. Nevertheless, Bonnell said substantial sums had to be withdrawn from reserves.

Snow Hinders Travel Of Area Drivers

Snow began falling again east and west of Cumberland and in other sections of the Tri-State district last night while the Queen City escaped with only a thin veil over the ground which was melting.

The State Road Commission garage at Cumberland assigned four cindering crews to ash Town Hill and Martin's Mountain east of here last night. SRC officials reported roads were hazardous and expected to have highways cindered within a few hours.

Ashing At Frostburg

West of Cumberland, two crews were ashing Route 40 east and west of Frostburg earlier yesterday evening. They were still out late last night.

Maryland State Police at LaVale said chains were needed for autos traveling west of Frostburg into Garrett County where from four to seven inches of snow covered the ground.

In West Virginia snow was falling at Thomas and Elkins. State Police at Romney said from two to three inches of snow had fell last night at Elkins where one inch of old snow still covered the earth. There is 10 inches of snow on Route 33 east of that community.

Snow At Thomas

In Thomas snow was falling steadily last night on top of eight inches of old snow. Preston County in West Virginia reported five inches of snow on the ground with seven inches at Terra Alta. Terra Alta had only cloudy weather last night with mercury standing at 24 degrees.

In the Bedford, Pa., section state police reported some highways slippery and hazardous, but weather was cloudy last night. Police said several minor accidents involving fender scrapes were caused by icy roads in that section yesterday.

It was also snowing in Deal, Pa., and at Orleans Road last night. At Deal six inches of old snow blankets that area where mercury stood at 26 degrees at 7 p. m. Orleans Road was getting its first

Machine Break Forces Partial Kelly Shutdown

Normal Operations Expected Tomorrow

Normal plant operations are expected to resume tomorrow morning with the 7 o'clock shift at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant following a breakdown in the 6-8 tube machine in department 43 which necessitated a temporary suspension of passenger and light truck tire operations yesterday and today.

The breakdown in the tube machine department occurred about noon yesterday and most employes of eight departments in the plant had work days cancelled yesterday and today.

Company spokesmen said last night repairs on the tube machine are expected to be completed in time for the plant to resume its normal operations with the morning shift tomorrow.

The eight departments which were forced to shutdown partially or completely for the two-day period are Department 41 where scoops and slitters are not working; Department 42; Department 43 where tube machine crew isn't working; Department 51A; Department 51D where only heavy duty truck tire preparation and curing will be handled; Department 51E where heavy duty truck tire finishing is being done; and Departments 63 and 44-1.

The suspension of operations at the plant affected those employes who worked in passenger and light truck tire operations only. Others in the departments who worked on heavy types of tires continued their operations.

Spokesmen noted that these operations were in heavy truck tire, rear tractor tire, tube and accessory and camel back work which were continued on a normal basis.

Firm, Union Conflict On Strike Effect

A Pennsylvania Glass Sand Corporation official and a CIO union representative told conflicting stories last night concerning the effectiveness of a strike order called by the union yesterday.

Frank Walker, secretary of the firm, said that about 90 per cent of the workers reported to work passing pickets at the various gate entrances. He added all shifts were working normally and that sand shipments to customers were being made on schedule. Also no trouble has been reported.

At the same time, Enoch R. Rust, international representative of the CIO Glass, Ceramic and Silica Sand Workers of America, said last night the strike order was about 70 per cent effective by late last night.

Rust pointed out that only about 50 per cent of the workers had reported for the 4 p. m. to midnight shift and that operations were cut 70 per cent.

Rust said the company was using every method to keep the plant running including working employes overtime.

The highway near the plant is being patroled by seven state troopers under Sgt. E. L. Roush, and at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad which services the firm, a captain and two lieutenants and six patrolman of the B&O police are guarding B&O equipment.

Cpl. C. S. Burke, state police at Berkeley Springs, said there was no trouble. Cpl. Burke added a rumor that a riot had started in the plant and several men were injured, was false.

He explained that an ambulance passing the plant about 4 p. m. during the shift change caused the story to spread through the town. Burke said the ambulance was returning from a highway accident on Route 522 between Hancock and Breezewood, Pa., with several injured persons.

The company-union dispute is over a four-cent wage increase and a number of other issues.

The plant, astride the state highway between Berkeley Springs and Hancock, employs about 220 men on three shifts. It quarries sand on one side of the road and takes it through a tunnel under the road to the plant on the other side.

Negotiations between the company and the union on the wage increase are suspended.

Equity Suit Filed

Parkway Bill Is Top Project Of Delegation

Early Action Slated On Historic Route

The introduction of a bill calling for full Maryland approval of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Parkway will be the first and principal project of the Allegany County Delegation to the Maryland Assembly.

Delegate Charles M. See, chairman, said the delegation expects to draft and introduce the Parkway Bill within the next week or so.

He said the text of the bill will be patterned after a similar measure introduced in the 1950 session.

All Will Back Plan

The bill will be sponsored by the entire delegation and introduced either by the delegation in the House or by Senator Robert B. Kimble in the Senate.

All members of the delegation, he added, have gone on record as favoring the parkway measure.

Delegate See termed the project of primary importance, both for its historical significance and for the recreational possibilities.

Cites Advantages

Delegate See said the advantages of the parkway would be state-wide and not merely of benefit to the communities along the route of the historic waterway.

The Federal government has already approved the plan for the 168 mile highway estimated to cost about $17,000,000.

Maryland's share would be the acquisition of about 11,900 acres of land at a cost of from $1.5 million to $2 million.

Police To Quiz Man In Beating Case

Melvin Huff, 28, of 222 Frederick Street, accused of beating his mother over the head with a poker during an argument, will be questioned this morning at the State's Attorney's Office, authorities said last night.

Huff was arrested Saturday night at the home of his mother, Mrs. Blanche Huff, 53, of 190 Wineow Street. He told police his mother struck him with a poker which he took from her and returned four blows.

Mrs. Huff was admitted to Memorial Hospital where x-rays were to be taken yesterday. Her condition is reported as "good." Huff was treated at police headquarters for a minor head laceration.

Authorities said the woman will be detained for questioning after she is released from the hospital. Huff is being held in City Jail.

Ridgeley Arranges Tree Collection

Christmas trees, being discarded by residents of Ridgeley, will be collected in that community beginning at 12 noon on Friday, according to an announcement last night by Robert Edenhart, town recorder.

A Letter To The Editor's Mailbag

Editor's Note—As 1953, the holidays over, moves into high gear, members of the press took occasion to drop the following letter of reminiscences and observations in the mailbag. We pass it along to you.

DEAR BOSS,

Well, we've got the New Year off to a start but we can't quite get 1952 out of our minds. You know how it is; some little things that happen over and over again stick in your craw until they overshadow what might have been major events.

We were just reminiscing a bit about some of the goings-on here in the office during the past year when the thought struck us that a small percentage of our readers have one quality in common.

Probably 99 per cent of our readers are just that. They don't contribute anything to the news report, they don't want anything — except to read the news.

But that other one per cent. Brother! They either want something in the paper or they want something kept out. And they're the first ones to holler when everything doesn't please them.

Just the other day a fellow stopped in the office and said he had been in a little trouble. He tied on a doozy of a drunk, beat up a couple of people, and the cops put him in the cooler. Well please don't put that in the paper, he said. It seems that his mother was pretty sick and the shock of reading about his trouble in the paper might be the crushing blow to end her days. If she died, he warned us, it would be our responsibility.

Well, we've heard those stories before. They might be changed a little, it might be an aunt instead of his mother but the general idea is the same.

It's a little strange, but these guys never think about the poor old folks at home when they start off on these benders.

And, you know, it's the people who try the hardest to keep something unfavorable about themselves out of the paper who are among the first to try to have some trivial item printed. And they yell the loudest about getting an "item" in the paper when misfortune befalls a neighbor or acquaintance.

People sure are funny that way.

We've come to another conclusion too. There are more people trying to tell us how to operate a newspaper than you can shake a stick at.

Did you ever go to a store and tell the owner how to run his business and mean it? People tell us that all the time. "You didn't have to put that in the paper," they say. Or, when one of the fellows calls to get a story they'll tell him. "That's not news. You don't want to put that in the paper." They'll call up and say a headline on a story wasn't big enough or that it was too big. Or they'll want to know why this or that wasn't in the paper or "Joe's cat had kittens. They're the cutest things. Can't you take a picture of them?"

Yessir, they seem to have all the answers but when you get right down to it, nine out of ten of 'em wouldn't know a story when they see it. "You're a reporter, you're supposed to know that," they'll say.

There's been something else too, boss, that's good for a laugh, not just this past year but every year. Maybe it's a case of being a little bit cynical, but nevertheless we get sort of a chuckle from some members of the professions. You know, they have what they call a code of ethics that prevents them from advertising. That's all well and good, but, boy, how some of them squawk when their name is left out of a news story.

Incidentally, boss, we've got a code of ethics, too, but not many people believe it or want us to live up to it. It's a part of newspaper tradition not to reveal the source of a story, but almost every day somebody'll call and want to know "Where did you get that story?" "Who gave you that story?" or something along those lines. We don't tell 'em and if they give us a chance we tell them why we won't, but a lot of them hang up in a huff with some snide comment like "We'll fix you, brother." Oh well, I guess it's all part of the game.

A lot of people seem to think we get a lot of pleasure out of reporting other people's misfortunes, but actually we take a dim view of it. It's much better when we're able to report something of a pleasant nature, but it's misfortune generally that is unusual and it's the unusual that makes news. After so many years of it, we get accustomed to it as a part of the job and we'll have to keep on doing it whether we like it or not.

Maybe you've been wondering, boss, why we've written all this so now we'll tell you. Since you're supposed to know all the answers, we've got one question for you:

We'd like to know how to tell the people that we don't make the news, we only write it.

Well, anyhow, boss, here's best wishes for a better new year.
